Rails in the Hinterland Euan McQueen, 2005-01-01      On the Hoof: The Untold Story of Drovers in New Zealand Ruth Entwistle Low, 2014-07-23 Since the European settlement of New Zealand drovers have moved stock on the hoof from ships and stations to new homes scattered throughout the country In this book the first of its kind Ruth Entwistle Low interviews almost 60 old time drovers revealing and reliving the practice of droving and the people who have underpinned it Through original research colourful storytelling and the voices of the drovers themselves Ruth describes what the job entailed where and how they travelled the problems they faced the ups and downs of the lifestyle Ranging all over rural New Zealand from our colonial past to the droving industry s twilight years Ruth documents both the day to day and the dramatic in a gripping narrative that will appeal to a wide body of readers On the Hoof is a truly special book a heartland history of New Zealand that seeks not simply to explain the drover and the droving way of life but to honour them also      A History of New Zealand in 100 Objects Jock Phillips, 2022-10-18 Authored by award winning historian Jock Phillips The History of New Zealand in 100 Objects is gripping inclusive often revelatory and deeply human A colourful and characterful retelling of our shared past relevant to today particular to all of us The sewing kete of an unknown 18th century Maori woman the Endeavour cannons that fired on waka in 1769 the bagpipes of an Irish publican Paddy Galvin the school uniform of Harold Pond a Napier Tech pupil in the Hawke s Bay quake the Biko shields that tried to protect protestors during the Springbok tour in 1981 Winston Reynolds remarkable home made Hokitika television set the oldest working TV in the country the soccer ball that was a tribute to Tariq Omar a victim of the Christchurch Mosque shootings and so many more these are items of quiet significance and great personal meaning taonga carrying stories that together represent a dramatic full of life history for everyday New Zealanders      American Book Publishing Record , 2005      Stop the Train! I Want to Get On Graham Hutchins, 2014-08-01 Graham Hutchins fell in love with trains at an early age As a youngster growing up in the railway town of Te Kuiti he would gaze on the steaming monsters as they thundered through the King Country Before long train travel became more than a pastime more than a fascination he was hooked As he recounts in this book he was just ten years old when he undertook a journey alone on the night train to Auckland From then on he travelled as much as he could and later as a young man searched out the smaller forgotten lines to experience what they had to offer Stop the Train I want to get on describes his experiences travelling throughout New Zealand on regular passenger trains railcars goods trains and work trains The routes he traverses include the Central Otago line the Gisborne Railcar the Southerner to Invercargill a mixed train through rural Taranaki a workers train from Greymouth on the Rewanui Incline the Endeavour to Hawke s Bay the Silver Fern Railcar and more Many services have now been axed but he vividly recalls their delights from the scenery outside to the often primitive conditions inside and the people he encounters along the way He also tells many engaging tales about the history of the lines and what makes each so distinctive Sometimes alone on other occasions with his wife Jenny or his mate Russell he conveys the unique experience and sheer pleasure of rail travel in every corner of New Zealand from the 1950s to the present day Some people take to the bottle others go shopping I jump on a train if I can find one and wait for the swish and sway to take me away Away from the down times For me the diversion comes as much from the rhythm as the passing landscapes from the train window Graham Hutchins remembers the incredibly varied journeys he has taken by train throughout New Zealand They have given him a lifetime of pleasure Night trains and The Northerner The Midland Line Christchurch to the West Coast The Gisborne Railcar The Central Otago Line Alexandra to Dunedin The Picton Christchurch Railcar The Silver Star Auckland to Wellington Greymouth to Rewanui and back By mixed train on the Stratford to Okahukura Line Hamilton to Mount Maunganui The Silver Fern Railcar on the Main Trunk Line The Endeavour Wellington to Napier The Southerner Christchurch to Invercargill The Northern Explorer Cumulated Index of the Christian Science Monitor ,1975 Index to the Christian Science Monitor ,1972 Trains, Tunnels, Bridges Matthew Wright,2013-08

The Railways of New Zealand ,1927 Celebrating New Zealand Rail Infrastructure Mei Wang,2019 Within the last two decades New Zealand has seen substantial population growth far exceeding investment levels in the transportation infrastructure serving the nation This lack of investment is reflected in the population s perception and usage of that infrastructure it is enjoyed but not necessarily celebrated and neither are the journeys it facilitates This thesis presents a speculative project which focuses on revitalising New Zealand s railways and explores the following question How can we celebrate New Zealand rail infrastructure architecturally The current rail infrastructure in New Zealand is under utilised presenting an architectural opportunity Rather than proposing new train stations viable only in the economic context of cities this thesis offers an alternative The architectural celebration of the country s rail infrastructure proposed here would be located on the train itself providing benefits for New Zealand as whole both urban and rural areas The proposal explores the possibility of designing cultural infrastructure via event apparatus Cultural infrastructure brought from the city to the provinces would allow for stronger connections to be made via rail Enlarging rural regions cultural sphere even only temporarily could benefit them greatly The mobile typology proposed is not specific to rural regions but can be configured to various sites Architecturalising rail infrastructure may enable the rail network to adapt by expanding contracting and reconfiguring thereby enhancing how we travel through changing geographical and social contexts It may also facilitate and improve a sense of amalgamation of New Zealand s history culture and landscape within the experience of a journey Aggrandising rail transportation could improve how society uses experiences and perceives the infrastructural rail system from ticket purchase to final destination Romance of the Rail, New Zealand New Zealand Railways. There from Here Sam van der Weerden, Andre Brett, 2022-04-15 Urban passenger rail patronage in Auckland and Wellington is now booming after many years of decline Outside these two centres however the situation is quite different intercity and regional passenger rail services are scarce and no other city possesses suburban rail Can t Get There from Here traces the expansion and the contraction of New Zealand s passenger rail network over the last century What is the historical context of today s imbalance between rail and road How far and wide did the passenger rail network once run Why is there an abject lack of services beyond the North Island s two main cities even as demand for passenger transport continues to grow This book seeks to answer these questions In this fascinating study Andre Brett argues that the trend away from passenger rail might appear inevitable and irreversible but it was not Things could have been and still could be very different We need to understand the challenges that brought passenger rail to the brink of extinction in order to create policy for future transport that is efficient and sustainable Promoting Sustainability in New Zealand's Rail System Paul McGimpsey, 2009 Report of Board of Inquiry Into Fatal Rail Crash at Wellington on 24 March 1980 New Zealand Railways.
