Luke Swank, Modernist Photographer Howard Bossen, 2005 Luke Swank was one of the artists championed by the highly influential Julien Levy Gallery in New York Although Swank's images share stylistic similarities with many of the modernists they also reveal his unique visual poetry His compositional exploration use of intense highlight and shadow geometric forms and lines and technical virtuosity affirm his contributions to the modernist movement and the emerging art of photography

BOOK JACKET The Architects' Journal, 1998 Knowing Stephanie Stephanie Byram, Jennifer Matesa, 2003 Stephanie Byram was an active athletic young woman entering the prime of her life She held dreams of earning her doctorate pursuing a career falling in love and starting a family A doctor's visit shortly after her thirtieth birthday changed everything She had been concerned about a painful swollen right breast and tests confirmed the presence of a tumor Stephanie was diagnosed with highly aggressive highly malignant breast cancer Stage IIIb infiltrative ductal carcinoma and within two months she underwent a double mastectomy Doctors gave her a 50 percent chance of surviving five years Despite this prognosis Stephanie looked to the future and refused to be deterred by the obstacles thrown suddenly into her path Though she was rarely cancer free and suffered recurrences that were progressively more invasive and damaging to her body over the course of the next eight years she would live a life of her choosing Stephanie fell in love married and bought a home She earned her Ph D and even found the time and energy to revise her dissertation topic to how women make medical decisions after they have been diagnosed with life threatening illnesses She traveled to London Tibet and Hawaii went on safari in Zambia and Botswana rang in the millennium atop the Great Barrier Reef hiked the grueling thirty five mile Inca trail to Machu Picchu on her honeymoon just weeks after a devastating recurrence and visited the Grand Canyon before her death in June 2001 Stephanie came to appreciate the details and experiences found in a typical day Learning to live in the moment she found joy while playing with her cats tending her garden observing the birds jostling at the feeder walking in the park by moonlight laughing with friends And running Always an avid runner Stephanie placed even greater importance on the sport following her diagnosis She vowed to be the first person to run in each Susan G Komen Race for the Cure and would eventually run in thirty out of sixty one events To help publicize this uncommon feat she approached Charlee Brodsky about taking some photographs for inclusion in a press packet What eventually evolved was much more As their working relationship grew so did their bond Stephanie was Brodsky's subject but they became collaborators and closer friends They developed art exhibitions a video and often gave lectures presentations and inspirational talks to groups across the country And now together they have created this book Knowing Stephanie combines Brodsky's photographs and Stephanie's dialogue which along with Jennifer Matesa's biographical essay Reconstructing a Life paints a complete and compelling portrait of an extraordinary woman For Stephanie this project was an opportunity to visualize herself her life and her body differently

According to Brodsky She was able to transform her profound disappointment with the cards she was dealt into a life that was about living In so doing Stephanie has provided a treasure for us all Born of Fire--the Valley of Work Barbara L. Jones, Westmoreland Museum of American Art, 2006 Drawn from an era that saw Pittsburgh's ascension to the height of industrial prowess in the United States and the world the art in Born of Fire depicts all the drama and awe inspired by that epic age of industry In the first half of the twentieth century as smokestacks filled the sky and blast furnaces roared day and night local and national artists sought to capture the raw energy and visual spectacle of the industrial landscape The tools and fruits of industry became the glorified subjects of art railroads skyscrapers bridges steel mills factories forges and laborers are among those portrayed The collection is also significant for its broad range of artistic styles and includes a variety of media pencil drawings etchings lithographs pastels oil paintings watercolors and photographs Among the artists represented are Thomas Hart Benton Reginald Marsh Aaron Harry Gorson Emil Bott Otto Kuhler Hayley Lever Ernest Lawson and Johanna Knowles Woodwell Hailman Born of Fire catalogs a monumental period in the history of both art and industry and provides a widely varied collection of artists and images that ennobled the spirit of human achievement

Pennsylvania Folklife ,1995 Art Now Gallery Guide ,1998 International Photography: Exhibitions Andrew H. Eskind, Greg Drake, Kirsti Ringger, Lynne Rumney, 1998 This is a collection of the George Eastman House index to international photographers collections and exhibitions Struggles Over Geography Michael Watts, 2000

International Photography Andrew H. Eskind, Greg Drake, 1998 This 3 vol work constitutes a vastly enlarged and expanded new edition of the Index to American Photographic Collections 3rd enlarged edition differing from the previous editions in two important respects First is the inclusion of holdings from outside the United States a natural evolution in our shrinking world The second is the inclusion of exhibition histories cross referenced by photographer and sponsoring institution providing a useful new context for evaluating less well known photographers Design Issues ,2000 A Century Passing Richard Krooth, 2004 In A Century Passing Richard Krooth examines one of the great entrepreneurs of the late 19th century documenting his epic egregious struggle to accumulate wealth and power regardless of the toll in human misery and fiber Andrew Carnegie had well positioned himself financially and came to exercise dominance in the 19th century steel industry By careful planning to introduce the latest technical inventions taking away the skills of his elite workers and impoverishing the rest he pressured his labor force into the seminal strike at his Homestead works in 1892 The leaders of the Homestead's craft union responded militantly going beyond the pale of union tradition Victorious Carnegie not only subserviated his labor force and made them fearful of losing their jobs he initiated a new stage of proletarianization in his company ruled towns laying the foundation for keeping labor on tap over the next 100 years
