Military Physicians Dods Medical School And Scholarship Program:

Military Physicians United States. General Accounting Office,1995      Military Physicians: DoD's Medical School and Scholarship Program ,1995 In the 2 decades since its legislative establishment proposals have been made to close the Uniformed Services University of the Health Sciences the Department of Defense s DOD medical school in Bethesda Maryland Those who propose closing the University assert that DOD S need for physicians can be met at a lower cost using physicians educated at civilian medical schools Those who propose retaining the University assert that it is needed to provide a stable cadre of physicians trained to meet the unique demands of military medicine Following proposals in 1994 to close the University the Congress mandated that GAO review issues related to the University and the other means through which DOD obtains physicians Among other things GAO was directed to examine 1 the cost of obtaining military physicians from all sources 2 the quality of the medical education provided at the University 3 how physicians are trained to meet the needs of military medicine and 4 retention rate patterns among the accession programs      Military Physicians DIANE Publishing Company,1995-09-01 Provides information on the DoD s Uniformed Services University of the Health Sciences the Health Profession Scholarship Program Addresses the costs of obtaining physicians through each of these sources how physicians obtained through each are prepared to meet the special needs of military medicine 20 charts tables      Hostile Interrogations & the Military Physician Kalman Dubov,2021-12-12 In an age when a dedicated terrorist or small terrorist team can cause injury or death to many the necessity of forcible extraction of information from a person is a timely relevant and vitally important topic for discussion and debate When actionable intelligence indicates direct knowledge by a detainee of the impending attack society must answer the question of whether the application of torture is defensible on the grounds of saving many lives Uniformly following international conventions against torture bioethicists condemn its use However most countries apply torture to extract information In emergent situations when every moment matters and the lives of many are in balance considerations of torture must be made in a coherent and logical manner whose ethics mandate consideration prior to the event Positing that torture is justified in such a setting the torture team usually consisting of a physician or other health care person will apply important medical knowledge regarding the detainee s health and strength to advance the session In the military community such as when the United States is the occupying power the military physician may be asked to assist the torture team The author posits four specific criteria for the military physician arguing that the application of torture in emergent conditions is not only defensible but reflects the furtherance of the physician s duty of care to the society of which s he is part      Military Physicians BPI Information Services,DIANE Publishing Company,1995-01-01 Provides information on the DoD s Uniformed Services university of the Health Sciences and the Health Profession Scholarship Program Addresses the costs of obtaining physicians through each of these sources and how physicians obtained through each are prepared to meet the special needs of military medicine      Military bases analysis of DOD's 2005 selection process and recommendations for base closures and realignments : report to the congressional committees. ,2005 On May 13 2005 the Secretary of Defense submitted proposed base realignment and closure BRAC actions to an independent commission for its review The Commission must submit its recommendations to the President by September 8 2005 for his acceptance or rejection in their entirety Congress has final action to accept or reject these recommendations in their entirety later this year The law required that GAO issue a report on the Department of Defense s DoD recommendations and selection process by July 1 2005 GAO s objectives for this report were as follows 1 determine the extent to which DoD s proposals achieved its stated BRAC goals 2 analyze whether the process for developing recommendations was logical and 3 identify issues with the recommendations that may warrant further attention Time constraints limited GAO s ability to examine implementation details of most of the individual recommended actions DoD had varying success in achieving its 2005 BRAC goals of reducing excess infrastructure and producing savings furthering transformation and fostering jointness While DoD proposed a record number of closures and realignments exceeding all prior BRAC rounds combined many proposals focused on reserve bases and relatively few on closing active bases Projected savings are almost equally large but most savings are derived from 10 percent of the recommendations While GAO believes savings would be achieved overall up front investment costs of an estimated 24 billion are required and there are clear limitations associated with DoD s projection of nearly 50 billion in savings over a 20 year period Much of the projected net annual recurring savings 47 percent is associated with eliminating jobs currently held by military personnel However rather than reducing end strength levels DoD indicates the positions are expected to be reassigned to other areas which may enhance capabilities but also limit dollar savings available for other use7
