Center for Strategic Studies and Research, 2010-08-26 The six member states of the Gulf Cooperation Council GCC have achieved substantial development progress in recent decades as is evidenced by their high rankings within the United Nations Development Programme's Human Development Index HDI Despite these achievements however the process of development in the GCC states still faces numerous challenges the most significant of which relate to national human resources Indeed it is fair to say that the success of ongoing development efforts in the GCC states will largely be decided by how they manage employ and develop their human capital This book comprises a valuable collection of the papers presented at the ECSSR 14th Annual Conference Human Resources and Development in the Arabian Gulf held in Abu Dhabi on February 24 2009 The papers contained herein represent a contemporary examination of the different development strategies available to the GCC states the challenges facing human resource development in the GCC countries the problems facing GCC labor markets opportunities and potential for investment in human capital the many obstacles to sustainable development in the Gulf and other relevant topics

Learning By Doing Aaron Segal, 2021-10-28 Science and technology capabilities are crucial to the economic growth of developing countries and to their ability to compete in the world economy What factors enable some countries to successfully adapt technology to create indigenous capabilities and what factors cause others to fail In this first global survey of science and technology capabilities in developing countries the authors examine the experiences of Africa the Caribbean Latin America the Middle East China India and East Asia Specialists in science and technology policies in these regions emphasize learning by doing using available science and technology in its various applications the shop floor universities and research institutes to eventually develop indigenous capabilities The authors consider why such capabilities have emerged in some societies but not in others and discuss their importance for domestic and international relations Also considered are the implications of the learning by doing process for international relations international trade regional studies science and technology policy and management studies This unique survey will interest a large audience from technology policymakers and regional specialists to business managers and officials It will serve as a reference guide to the current state of science and technology policies in every region of the world and as a framework for analyzing and understanding how science and technology capabilities are being developed

Knowledge Production in the Arab World Sari Hanafi, Rigas Arvanitis, 2015-12-22 Over recent decades we have witnessed the globalization of research However this has yet to translate into a worldwide scientific network across which competencies and resources can flow freely Arab countries have strived to join this globalized world and become a knowledge economy yet little time has been invested in the region's fragmented scientific institutions institutions that should provide opportunities for individuals to step out on the global stage Knowledge Production in the Arab World investigates research practices in the Arab world using multiple case studies from the region with particular focus on Lebanon and Jordan It depicts the Janus like face of Arab research poised between the negative and the positive and faced with two potentially opposing strands local relevance alongside its internationalization The book critically assesses the role and dynamics of research and poses questions that are crucial to further our understanding of the very particular case of knowledge production in the Arab region The book explores research's relevance and whom it serves as well as the methodological flaws behind academic rankings and the meaning and application of key concepts such as knowledge society economy Providing a detailed and comprehensive examination of knowledge production in the Arab world this book is of interest to students scholars and policy makers working on the issues of research practices and status of science in contemporary developing countries

Educational Scholarship across the Mediterranean, 2021-10-25 The Mediterranean has once again come into its own in global geopolitics attracting international interest that goes well beyond the typical stereotypes propagated by the tourist industry

Popular movements clamouring for democracy conflict zones that have a spill over effect well beyond the region efforts to engage with globalisation on its own terms one and all play out in various sectors of society education included Educational Scholarship across the Mediterranean A Celebratory Retrospective brings together in one volume a selection of the best articles that have appeared in the Mediterranean Journal of Educational Studies whose first issue was published in 1996 Each chapter highlights challenges faced by education systems across the region seen from the perspective of leading scholars who draw on original empirical data a broad spectrum of theoretical frameworks and personal experience to reflect on education related topics Among these we find critical considerations of the role of the economy demography gender social stratification religion politics culture and language in shaping educational systems and practices Much has been achieved in the countries bordering on the Mediterranean over the past 25 years and yet a consideration of the continuities as much as of the ruptures is instructive showing how education remains both a transformative and reproductive force in communities

The World of Science Education ,2009-01-01 Each volume in the 7 volume series The World of Science Education reviews research in a key region of the world These regions include North America South and Latin America Asia Australia and New Zealand Europe and Israel Arab States and Sub Saharan Africa The focus of this Handbook is on science education in Arab states and the scholarship that most closely supports this program The reviews of the research situate what has been accomplished within a given field in an Arab rather than an international context The purpose therefore is to articulate and exhibit regional networks and trends that produced specific forms of science education The thrust lies in identifying the roots of research programs and sketching trajectories focusing the changing face of problems and solutions within regional contexts The approach allows readers to review what has been done and accomplished what is missing and what might be done next

Economic and Political Change in the Middle East Elias Tuma,2014-10-30 In the early 1960s the Middle East suffered from political instability inefficiency of government widespread poverty and inequality low productivity and a mounting population pressure on the region's resources With the exception of some of the oil exporting countries the entire region still suffers from these same burdens There have been many studies in the economic development and industrialization of the region in recent years This study is different motivated by scepticism and a sense of intellectual frustration and apprehension because of the apparent inadequacy of socioeconomic and political development in the Middle East First published in 1987

Economic Cooperation in the Middle East Gideon Fishelson,2019-04-12 This book is an outcome of conference on Economic Cooperation in the Middle East held at Tel Aviv University in 1986 It examines economic integration in the Middle East its implications and possible costs The book analyzes the consequences of peace and economic cooperation in the Middle East

Science, Technology, and Society Sal P. Restivo,2005 Emphasizing an interdisciplinary and international coverage of the functions and effects of science and technology in society and culture Science Technology and Society B contains over 130 A to Z signed articles written by major scholars and experts from academic and scientific

Space Science and the Arab World Jörg Matthias Determann, 2018-01-29 When Sultan bin Salman left Earth on the shuttle Discovery in 1985 he became the first Arab first Muslim and first member of a royal family in space Twenty five years later the discovery of a planet 500 light years away by the Qatar Exoplanet Survey subsequently named Qatar 1b was evidence of the cutting edge space science projects taking place across the Middle East This book identifies the individuals institutions and national ideologies that enabled Arab astronomers and researchers to gain support for space exploration when Middle East governments lacked interest Jörg Matthias Determann shows that the conquest of space became associated with national prestige security economic growth and the idea of an Arab renaissance more generally Equally important to this success were international collaborations to benefit from American and Soviet expertise and technology Arab scientists and officials had to commit to global governance of space and the common interests of humanity Challenging the view that the golden age of Arabic science and cosmopolitanism was situated in the medieval period Determann tells the story of the new discoveries and scientific collaborations taking place from the 19th century to the present day An innovative contribution to Middle East studies and history of science the book also appeals to increased business media and political interest in the Arab space industry

Arab Political Thought Georges Corm, 2020-01-15 This book demonstrates the vitality of Arab political thought and its major controversies It shows that the key players involved far from being constrained by a theological political straitjacket have often demonstrated strong critical thinking when tackling religion and philosophy anthropology and politics Setting these thinkers and their works within two centuries of upheaval in the Arab world Georges Corm demonstrates how Arab critical thought has been marginalized by powerful external forces the military the academy and the media In its place has risen a hegemonic Islamist thought used cannily by certain Arab regimes and their Western protectors Closely tracing the successive transformations of modernist Arab nationalism Arab Political Thought offers a blueprint for understanding the libertarian Arab Spring as well as the counter revolutions and external interventions that have followed This invaluable guide comprehensively distils the complexity of Arab intellectualism which is both critical and profane and a far cry from the outdated politico religious image it has acquired

Arab Oil Policies in the 1970s (RLE Economy of Middle East) Yusuf A. Sayigh, 2015-05-15 Until 1973 few people either in the advanced industrial countries or in the developing countries of the Third World thought seriously on the issues and complexities involved in the production and marketing of the oil on which they relied It was only with the sudden steep increases in oil prices that the oil industry became a matter of general discussion and the Organisation of Petroleum Exporting Countries OPEC became a front page topic for analysis and comment However real understanding of the organisation and its policies did not accompany this rush of interest and much confusion has followed In particular the Arab exporters have received the weight of the criticism although they have only a share in the market and not a monopoly This book attempts to instil a greater mutual understanding between oil exporters and importers although it is not a wholesale endorsement of Arab policies by outlining the major policy areas in this field It looks at new policy options and their implications in exploration marketing and pricing and at downstream operations such as the petrochemical and gas industries In conclusion this study identifies the wide ranging opportunities that the new oil policies have opened up for the Arab countries in the national regional and international context and assesses and clarifies the responsibilities which accompany this success First published in 1983

An Economic History of the Middle East and North Africa Charles Issawi, 2013-10-16 The economic history of the Middle East and North Africa is quite extraordinary This is an axiomatic statement but the very nature of the economic changes that have stemmed directly from the effects of oil resources in these areas has tended to obscure longterm patterns of economic change and the fundamental transformation of Middle Eastern and North African economies and societies over the past two hundred years In this study Professor Issawi examines and explains the development of these economies since 1800 focusing particularly on the challenge posed by the use and subsequent decline of Western economic and political domination and the Middle Eastern response to it The book begins with an analysis of the effects of foreign intervention in the area the expansion of trade the development of transport networks the influx of foreign capital and resulting integration into international commercial and financial networks It goes on to examine the local response to these external forces migration within to and from the region population growth urbanization and changes in living standards shifts in agricultural production and land tenure and the development of an industrial sector Professor Issawi discusses the crucial effects of the growth of oil and oil related industries in a separate chapter and finally assesses the likely gains and losses in this long period for both the countries in the area and the Western powers He has drawn on long experience and an immense amount of material in surveying the period and provides a clear and penetrating survey of an extraordinarily complex area

Israel's Colonial Project in Palestine Elia Zureik, 2015-11-19 Colonialism has three foundational concerns violence territory and population control all of which rest on racist discourse and practice Placing the Zionist project in Israel Palestine within the context of settler colonialism reveals strategies and goals behind the region's rules of governance that have included violence repressive state laws and racialized forms of surveillance In Israel's Colonial Project in Palestine Brutal Pursuit Elia Zureik revisits and reworks fundamental ideas that informed his first work on colonialism and Palestine three decades ago Focusing on the means of control that are at the centre of Israel's actions toward Palestine this book applies Michel Foucault's work on biopolitics to colonialism and to the situation in Israel Palestine in particular It reveals how racism plays a central role in colonialism and biopolitics and how surveillance in all its forms becomes the indispensable tool of governance It goes on to analyse territoriality in light of biopolitics with the dispossession of indigenous people and population transfer advancing the state's agenda and justified as in the interests of national security The book incorporates sociological historical and postcolonial studies into an informed and original examination of the Zionist project in Palestine from the establishment of Israel through to the actions and decisions of the present day Israeli government Providing new perspectives on settler colonialism informed by Foucault's theory and with particular focus on the role played by state surveillance in controlling the Palestinian population this book is a valuable resource for students and scholars interested in the Arab Israeli Conflict and Colonialism A History of the Arab Peoples Albert Habib Hourani, Albert Hourani, 2002 Chronicles the history of Arab civilization looking at the beauty of the great mosques the importance attached to education the achievements of Arab science the role of women internal conflicts and the Palestinian question Science, Development, and Sovereignty in the Arab World A. Zahlan, 2012-07-03 Zahlan's detailed study examines recent and current performance of Arab countries and their organizations in scientific research in relation to their socio economic development It shows that the Arab countries are severely handicapped by a political economy dominated by technological dependence corruption and limited research collaboration
