The Hero's Quest and the Cycles of Nature Rachel S. McCoppin, 2016-10-25 This examination of the heroic journey in world mythology casts the protagonist as a personification of nature a botanical hero one might say who begins the quest in a metaphorical seed like state then sprouts into a period of verdant strength But the hero must face a mythic underworld where he or she contends with mortality and sacrifice embracing death as a part of life For centuries humans have sought superiority over nature yet the botanical hero finds nothing is lost by recognizing that one is merely a part of nature Instead a cyclical promise of continuous life is realized in which no element fully disappears and the hero's message is not to dwell on death

The Immortals Guillaume Rozenberg, 2015-04-30 In 1952 a twenty six year old man living in a village in Central Burma was possessed by weikza humans with extraordinary powers including immortality Key figures in Burmese Buddhism weikza do not die but live on in an invisible realm From there they re enter the world through possession to care for people's temporal and spiritual needs while protecting and propagating Buddhism A cult quickly formed around the young peasant the chosen medium for four weikza ranging in age from 150 to 1000 years In addition these weikza appeared regularly in the flesh The Immortals plunges us into the midst of this cult which continues to attract followers from all over the country who seek to pay homage to the weikza receive their teaching and benefit from their power The cult of the four weikza raises a number of classic anthropological issues particularly for the anthropology of religion the nature of the supernatural and of belief the relations among religion magic and science the experience of possession It also provides a window on contemporary Burmese society To contemplate both the author adopts an unconventional approach which itself reflects representation in anthropology or more precisely how anthropology uses description and the interpretations description occasions to make sense of what it studies The writing makes clear both the indigenous take on reality and the work of anthropological understanding as it is being elaborated along with the ties that connect the latter to the former Mixing narration of the incredible with reflection on the forms religious experience takes The Immortals offers us a way to accompany the author into the field and to grasp to take up and make our own the anthropologist's interpretations and the realities to which they pertain

Allegorical Quests from Deguileville to Spenser Marco Nievergelt, 2012 An examination of sixteenth century quest narratives focussing on their conscious use of a medieval tradition to hold a mirror up to contemporary culture Offers the first full study of the allegorical knightly quest tradition from the Middle Ages to the Renaissance Richly satisfying as impressive in the detail of its scholarship as in the elegance of its critical formulations It seamlessly moves between different literary traditions and across conventional period boundaries In Dr Nievergelt's treatment of this theme the successive retellings of the tale of the knight's quest come to stand as an emblem of shifting values and norms both religious and worldly and of our repeated failures to realise those ideals Dr Alex Davis Department of English University of St Andrews The literary motif of the allegorical knightly quest appears repeatedly in the literature of the late medieval early modern period notably in Spenser but has hitherto been little examined Here in his examination of a number of sixteenth century English allegorical chivalric quest narratives focussing on Spenser's Faerie Queene but including important lesser known works such as Stephen Bateman's Travayled Pylgrime and William Goodyear's Voyage of the Wandering Knight the author argues that the tradition begins with the French writer Guillaume de Deguileville His seminal Plerinage de la vie humaine was composed c 1331-1355 it was widely adapted translated rewritten and printed over the next centuries Dr Nievergelt goes on to demonstrate how this essentially medieval literary form could be adapted to articulate reflections on changing patterns of identity society and religion during the early modern period and how it becomes a vehicle of self exploration and self fashioning during a period of profound cultural crisis Dr Marco Nievergelt is Lecturer Maître Assitant and SNF Swiss National Science Foundation Research Fellow in the English Department at the Université de Lausanne

Growing Up a Woman Milena Kaličanin, Soňa Šnircová, 2015-10-13 This book explores contemporary transformations of the female Bildungsroman showing that the intersection of the genre and gender brought to critical attention in the context of second wave feminism remains of equal importance in the era of postfeminism The female Bildung narrative has acquired an important position in twentieth and twenty first century literature through its continuing depiction of female self discovery and emancipation as a process of negotiating the traditional divisions of female and male roles in relation to the private and public spaces Recognizing the seminal contribution of feminist criticism to the definition of the genre and the role of feminist cultural processes in its thematic developments this volume investigates more recent influences on the female Bildung narrative and the influence of the classic female Bildungsroman on contemporary cultural texts As a collection of fifteen essays written by international scholars the book offers a representative sample of the narratives of female development presenting a variety of genres including the novel the short story autobiography TV series and Internet video blogs and theoretical frameworks adopting hermeneutic postcolonial feminist and postfeminist perspectives In its diversity this volume reveals that despite the ongoing process of women s emancipation the heroine s struggle with the private public divide has remained throughout the twentieth century and in the first decades of the new millennium a central issue in stories about the female quest for self definition The book will be of interest to scholars and students in the fields of literary women and gender studies particularly those interested in the narratives of female development that represent American and British cultural contexts

The Inner Life of Mrs. Dalloway Edward Mendelson, 2025-09-02 Mrs Dalloway is a novel about almost everything The story of a single day in London after the First World War it travels backward and forward in time and consciousness venturing beyond the ordinary world into epic mythic and mystical modes The novel is a work of extraordinary richness as much for its interwoven webs of meaning as for its moral and psychological vision Edward Mendelson explores the novel s deepest questions focusing on the core themes of medicine empire and love He traces how Virginia Woolf thought and wrote considering the complexities and resonances of her works Mendelson casts Mrs Dalloway as an extended protest against authorities that wield power over others and a defense of the equality of inner lives He also examines the place of the book in literary history going back to Homer Dante and Shakespeare as well as its influence on later writers from Erich Auerbach through Zadie Smith Both incisive and passionate this book is at once a wide ranging critical study of Virginia Woolf s writing and a love letter to a great novel

Sacred Paths of the West Theodore M Ludwig, 2015-08-07 This text combines study of the dynamic historical development of each religious tradition with a comparative thematic structure Students are encouraged to discover and explore the nature of religious experience by comparing basic themes and issues common to all religions finding connections with their own personal experiences By sensitively introducing descriptive material within a comparative thematic structure this text helps students to understand how each religion provides for its adherents patterns and meanings that make up a full way of life
