Sail Tales Captain Robert Engel,2009-08-05 Sail Tales is about the adventures a humble sailboat owner had over the years So where does one start writing about these adventures You start at the beginning That beginning was in 1967 when I was helping a friend of mine Frank re build an old wooden boat that he had bought Frank took the whole boat apart and then rebuilt it from the frames up It was a sleek little craft and I found myself involved in his project Frank found a similar craft and with his promise of help I bought it I spent the whole winter and most of the spring doing the things that had to be done to the boat to get it ready for the summer of 69 I knew nothing about about sailing But how hard could it be to learn I soon found out My sailing adventures started that summer I learned quickly that unlike a power boat a sailboat is not a craft that you get aboard turn a key and then drive it like a car You have to sail the boat You have to do what the wind lets you do You cant go directly where you want to go because the wind wont allow it You have to finesse you have be diplomatic you have to learn to tweak a sail rather than over trim Well I learned to get that sailboat from point to point I also learned that time on a sailboat is not the same as time on land and I learned this on my very first trip on my first sailboat That three hour trip ended up taking thirteen hours Read about it The time of a sailboat trip can not be predicted If you need to get to a certain place at a certain time take a bus not a sailboat An afternoon trip has more than once become a late nighter Leave your watches ashore Thats what I tell everyone before they step foot aboard I dont know what time well be back but Im certain that we will be back My very first sailboat trip was not a late nighter but rather an early morning return Speaking of time How long does it take you to hang a calender on your wall You get a stick pin and put it through a hole in the calender and stick the pin in the cork board Thirty seconds It took me the better part of three hours to hang a calender on the boat First I had to get the tape from the old calender off the wall For this project I had to find the razor blade scrapper Then I had to run to the hardware store to get new blades for it The scrapper got the top layer of the tape off the wall but the sticky part of the tape just rolled up into little balls I had to go back to the hardware store for some solvent to get the sticky balls off the wall Then and only then was I able to re tape the new calender to the wall I have since put the scrapper in its place so I can find it next time I hope I remember that place Imagine what a project it is to install a new pedestal steering system or an new diesel engine Imagine the time it takes to make an old boat a safe craft a boat ready to sail and the keyword is safe It took me the better part of four years to make my Morgan 38 the boat I wanted it to be And notice Im not saying anything about the cost Thats another story And these are some of the stories I tell This is the third boat I have redone But it is the last boat that I will redo Im getting too old for this rebuilding stuff Parts of Sail Tales tells about projects such as what I have just described But the majority of the stories are about sailing trips where something happens If you are a sailor or if you own a sailboat sit back and try to remember trips that were dull and boring They dont pop into your mind But what does pop are the adventures the thrill of the wind that is blowing just a bit harder than you would like You remember the trips where the rail is in the water for most of the day and how you were able to keep the boat under control You remember the trips where there was no wind and the day became a motor day You remember entering an anchorage and finding someone there from your marina or someo

Practical Letters to Young Sea Fishers John Bickerdyke,1898

New Sailing Directions for the East Coast of North America. ... The Whole Re-arranged, Revised, and Considerably Augmented, by J. S. Hobbs John William Norie,1856 Ethnographic Study of Marine Conservation Izumi Tsurita,2022-05-03 This book explores the nature of marine conservation based on the case study of Hinase a fishing village in Okayama Japan It focuses on the fishers self motivated eelgrass restoration activity which has been continued for more than 30 years This activity in Hinase recently attracted international attention as a case under the name Satoumi and Marine Protected Areas in several governmental reports but detailed information such as the historical background and social structure of Hinase has not yet been analyzed This book therefore fulfills this gap by providing its ethnographic information In addition this book offers some points for critical thinking by concluding that marine conservation activities cannot always be evaluated or arranged under the standardized approach with limited time and space This viewpoint reaffirms the importance of local initiative and highlights the value of qualitative research to seek the way forward for promising marine conservation This book is suitable for an academic audience in the field of social sciences such as applied anthropology as well as ecologists government officials environmentalists and citizens who are interested or engaged in environmental issues or natural resource management The Closing of the Frontier John G. Butcher,2022-07-18 This book is the first on the history of the marine fisheries of Southeast Asia It takes as its central theme the movement of fisheries into new fishing grounds particularly the diverse ecosystems that make up the seas of Southeast Asia. This process accelerated between the 1950s and 1970s in what the author calls the great fish race. Catches soared as the population of the region grew and demand from Japan and North America for shrimps and tuna increased and fishers adopted more efficient ways of locating, catching and preserving fish. But the great fish race soon brought about the severe depletion of one fish population after another while pollution and the destruction of mangroves and coral reefs degraded fish habitats. Today the relentless movement into new fishing grounds has come to an end for there are no new fishing grounds to exploit. The frontier of fisheries has closed. The challenge now is to exploit the seas in ways that preserve the diversity of marine life while providing the people of the region with a source of food long into the future.

Engelsch Leesboek, 1877 Researching People and the Sea Madeleine Gustavsson, Carole S. White, Jeremy Phillipson, Kristen Ounanian, 2021-02-15

In this unique edited collection social scientists reflect upon and openly share insights gathered from researching people and the sea. Understanding how people use, relate to and interact with coastal and marine environments has never been more important with social scientists having an increasingly vital contribution to make. Yet practical experiences in deploying social science approaches in this field are typically hidden away in field notes and unpublished doctoral manuscripts with the opportunity for shared learning that comes from doing research often missed. There is a need for reflection on how social science knowledge is produced. This collection presents experiences from the field, its necessary reflexivity and innovation in methods and the challenges and opportunities of translating across disciplines and policy. It brings to light the tacit expertise needed to study people and the sea and offers lessons which readers could employ in their own research. With a focus on the future direction of marine social sciences the volume is highly relevant to masters and doctoral students and more experienced researchers engaged in studying people and the sea as well as policy makers, practitioners and scientists wishing to understand the social dimension of marine and coastal environments. Chapters 2 and 3 are available open access under a Creative Commons Attribution 4.0 International License via link.springer.com.

Sailing Directions for the Coasts, Harbours, and Islands of North America, from Cape Canso to Philadelphia John William Norie, 1856 Beyond the Tragedy in Global Fisheries D. G. Webster, 2017-09-08

An analysis of how responsive governance has shaped the evolution of global fisheries in cyclical patterns of depletion and rebuilding, dubbed the management treadmill. The oceans are heavily overfished and the greatest challenges to effective fisheries management are not technical but political and economic. In this book D. G. Webster describes how the political economy of fisheries has evolved and highlights patterns that are linked to sustainable transitions in specific fisheries. Grounded in the concept of responsive governance, Webster's interdisciplinary analysis goes beyond the conventional view of the tragedy of the commons. Using her Action Cycle Structural Context framework, she maps long running patterns that cycle between depletion and rebuilding in a process that she terms the management treadmill. Webster documents the management treadmill in settings that range from small coastal fishing communities to international fisheries.

that span entire oceans She identifies the profit disconnect in which economic incentives are out of sync with sustainable use and the power disconnect in which those who experience the costs of overexploitation are politically marginalized She examines how these disconnects shaped the economics of expansion and documents how political systems failed to prevent related cycles of serial resource depletion Webster also traces the increasing use of restrictive management in response to worsening fisheries crises and the emergence of new noncommercial interests that demand greater management but also generate substantial conflict She finds that the management treadmill is speeding up with population growth and economic development and so concludes that sustainable fisheries can only exist within a sustainable global economic system
