Saint Lucian John Robert Lee,1988 Archiving Caribbean Identity John Aarons,Jeannette A. Bastian,Stanley Hazley Griffin,2022-06-12 Archiving Caribbean Identity highlights the Caribbeanization of archives in the region considering what those archives could include in the future and exploring the potential for new records in new formats Interpreting records in the broadest sense the 15 chapters in this volume explore a wide variety of records that represent new archival interpretations The book is split into two parts with the first part focusing on record forms that are not generally considered archival in traditional Western practice The second part explores more traditional archival collections and demonstrates how these collections are analysed and presented from the perspective of Caribbean peoples As a whole the volume suggests how colonial records can be repurposed to surface Caribbean narratives Reflecting on the unique challenges faced by developing countries as they approach their archives the volume considers how to identify and archive records in the forms and formats that reflect the postcolonial and decolonized Caribbean how to build an archive of the people that documents contemporary society and reflects Caribbean memory and how to repurpose the colonial archives so that they assist the Caribbean in reclaiming its history Archiving Caribbean Identity demonstrates how non textual cultural traces function as archival records and how folk centred perspectives disrupt conventional understandings of records The book should thus be of interest to academics and students engaged in the study of archives memory culture history sociology and the colonial and postcolonial experience The Fire that Breaks Daniel Westover,Thomas Alan Holmes,2020-02-27 The Fire that Breaks brings together an international team of scholars to explore for the first time Hopkins s extended influence on the poets and novelists who have defined modern and contemporary Anglo American literature since the advent of the twentieth century Catalogue of the Charles L. Libraries,1990 Material from all over the world and in many foreign languages is included Preface A History of Literature in the Caribbean A. James Arnold,2001-07-23 For the first time the Dutch speaking regions of the Caribbean and Suriname are brought into fruitful dialogue with another major American literature that of the anglophone Caribbean The results are as stimulating as they are unexpected The editors have coordinated the work of a distinguished international team of specialists Read separately or as a set of three volumes the History of Literature in the Caribbean is designed to serve as the primary reference book in this area The reader can follow the comparative evolution of a literary genre or plot the development of a set of historical problems under the appropriate heading for the English or Dutch speaking region An extensive index to names and dates of authors and significant historical figures completes the volume The subeditors bring to their respective specialty areas a wealth of Caribbeanist experience Vera M Kutzinski is Professor of English American and Afro American Literature at Yale University Her book Sugar s Secrets Race and The Erotics of Cuban Nationalism 1993 treated a crucial subject in the romance of the Caribbean nation Ineke Phaf Rheinberger has been very active in Latin

American and Caribbean literary criticism for two decades first at the Free University in Berlin and later at the University of Maryland The editor of A History of Literature in the Caribbean A James Arnold is Professor of French at the University of Virginia where he founded the New World Studies graduate program Over the past twenty years he has been a pioneer in the historical study of the N gritude movement and its successors in the francophone Caribbean Saint Lucian Literature and Theatre John Robert Lee, Kendel Hippolyte, 2006 A History of Literature in the Caribbean: English- and Dutch-speaking countries Albert James Arnold, Julio Rodríguez-Luis, J. Michael Dash, 2001-01-01 For the first time the Dutch speaking regions of the Caribbean and Suriname are brought into fruitful dialogue with another major American literature that of the anglophone Caribbean The results are as stimulating as they are unexpected The editors have coordinated the work of a distinguished international team of specialists Read separately or as a set of three volumes the History of Literature in the Caribbean is designed to serve as the primary reference book in this area The reader can follow the comparative evolution of a literary genre or plot the development of a set of historical problems under the appropriate heading for the English or Dutch speaking region An extensive index to names and dates of authors and significant historical figures completes the volume The subeditors bring to their respective specialty areas a wealth of Caribbeanist experience Vera M Kutzinski is Professor of English American and Afro American Literature at Yale University Her book Sugar s Secrets Race and The Erotics of Cuban Nationalism 1993 treated a crucial subject in the romance of the Caribbean nation Ineke Phaf Rheinberger has been very active in Latin American and Caribbean literary criticism for two decades first at the Free University in Berlin and later at the University of Maryland The editor of A History of Literature in the Caribbean A James Arnold is Professor of French at the University of Virginia where he founded the New World Studies graduate program Over the past twenty years he has been a pioneer in the historical study of the N gritude movement and its successors in the francophone Caribbean And the Birds Began to Sing Jamie S. Scott, 1996 Taking as its starting point the ambiguous heritage left by the British Empire to its former colonies dominions and possessions And the Birds Began to Sing marks a new departure in the interdisciplinary study of religion and literature Gathered under the rubric Christianity and Colonialism essays on Brian Moore Timothy Findley Margaret Atwood and Marian Engel Thomas King Les A Murray David Malouf Mudrooroo and Philip McLaren R A K Mason Maurice Gee Keri Hulme Epeli Hau ofa J M Coetzee Christopher Okigbo Chinua Achebe Amos Tutuola and Ngugi wa Thiong o explore literary portrayals of the effects of British Christianity upon settler and native cultures in Northern Ireland Canada Australia New Zealand and the South Pacific and the Africas These essays share a sense of the dominant presence of Christianity as an inherited system of religious thought and practice to be adapted to changing post colonial conditions or to be resisted as the lingering ideology of colonial times In the second section of the collection Empire and World Religions essays on Paule Marshall and George Lamming Jean Rhys Olive Senior and Caribbean poetry V S Naipaul Anita Desai Kamala Markandaya and Bharati Mukherjee interrogate literature exploring relations between the scions of British imperialism and religious traditions other than Christianity Expressly concerned with literary embodiments of belief systems in post colonial cultures particularly West African religions in the Caribbean and Hinduism on the Indian subcontinent these essays also share a sense of Christianity as the pervasive presence of an ideological rhetoric among the economic social and political dimensions of imperialism In a polemical Afterword the editor argues that modes of reading religion and literature in post colonial cultures are characterised by a theodical preoccupation with a praxis of equity
