The Latin Kingdom of Jerusalem, 1099 to 1291 A.D. Claude Reignier Conder, 1897 Latins, Greeks and Muslims: Encounters in the Eastern Mediterranean, 10th-15th Centuries David Jacoby, 2023-05-31 Trade shipping military conquest migration and settlement in the eastern Mediterranean of the 10th 15th centuries generated multiple encounters between states social and national groups and individuals belonging to Latin Christianity Byzantium and the Islamic world The nature of these encounters varied widely depending on whether they were the result of cooperation rivalry or clashes between states the outcome of Latin conquest which altered the social and legal status of indigenous subjects or the result of economic activity They had wide ranging social and economic repercussions and shaped both individual and collective perceptions and attitudes These often differed depending upon nationality standing within the dominant or subject social strata or purely economic considerations In any event at the individual level common economic interests transcended collective national and cultural boundaries except in times of crisis The studies in this latest collection by David Jacoby explore the multiple facets of these eastern Mediterranean encounters and their impact upon individual economic activities with special attention to the other outsiders in foreign environments foreign privileged versus indigenous traders the link between governmental intervention naturalization and fiscal status as well as the interaction between markets and peasants historic literature This vast design of Gibbon the magnificent whole into which he has cast the decay and ruin of the ancient civilization the formation and birth of the new order of things will of itself independent of the laborious execution of his immense plan render The Decline and Fall of the Roman Empire an unapproachable subject to the future historian in the eloquent language of his recent French editor M Guizot The gradual decline of the most extraordinary dominion which has ever invaded and oppressed the world the fall of that immense empire erected on the ruins of so many kingdoms republics and states both barbarous and civilized and forming in its turn by its dismemberment a multitude of states republics and kingdoms the annihilation of the religion of Greece and Rome the birth and the progress of the two new religions which have shared the most beautiful regions of the earth the decrepitude of the ancient world the spectacle of its expiring glory and degenerate manners the infancy of the modern world the picture of its first progress of the new direction given to the mind and character of man such a subject must necessarily fix the attention and excite the interest of men who cannot behold with indifference those memorable epochs during which in the fine language of Corneille

Encyclopedia of Medieval Warfare and Military Technology Clifford J. Rogers, 2010 From the Viking invasions to the Crusades to the Hundred Years War wars were crucial agents of change in medieval Europe They fostered many economic and political changes They also affected the science technology religion and culture of the parties involved Examines all aspects of warfare and military technology in medieval times and provides an exhaustive and accurate view of how and why wars were waged throughout Europe the Byzantine Empire and the Crusader States from circa 500 CE to circa 1500 The Great Events of Global History, Vol. 6 Various, 2016-11-08 History if we define it as the mere transcription of the written records of former generations can go no farther back than the time such records were first made no farther than the art of writing But now that we have come to recognize the great earth itself as a story book as a keeper of records buried one beneath the other confused and half obliterated yet not wholly beyond our comprehension now the historian may fairly be allowed to speak of a far earlier day For unmeasured and immeasurable centuries man lived on earth a creature so little removed from the beasts that die so little superior to them that he has left no clearer record than they of his presence here From the dry bones of an extinct mammoth or a plesiosaur Cuvier reconstructed the entire animal and described its habits and its home So too looking on an ancient strange scarce human skull dug from the deeper strata beneath our feet anatomists tell us that the owner was a man indeed but one little better than an ape A few ons later this creature leaves among his bones chipped flints that narrow to a point and the arch ologist taking up the tale explains that man has become tool using he has become intelligent beyond all the other animals of earth Physically he is but a mite amid the beast monsters that surround him but by value of his brain he conquers them He has begun his career of mastery Crusader Landscapes in the Medieval Levant , 2016-08-20 Written to celebrate the prestigious career of Professor Denys Pringle this collection of articles produced by many of the leading archaeologists and historians in the field of crusades studies offers a compilation of pioneering scholarship on recent studies on the Latin East The geographical breadth of topics discussed in each chapter reflects both Pringle s international collaborations and research interests and the wide development of scholarly interest in the subject With a concentration on the areas corresponding to the crusader states during the twelfth and thirteenth centuries the articles also offer research into the neighbouring areas of Cyprus Anatolia Greece and the West and the legacy of the crusader period there with results from recent archaeological fieldwork in the Middle East Literature , 1899

Crusaders and Franks Benjamin Z. Kedar, 2022-03-30 While research on the crusades tends increasingly to bifurcate into study of the crusade idea and the crusading expeditions and study of the Frankish states the crusaders established in the Levant Benjamin Kedar confirms through the articles reproduced in this latest selection of his articles his adherence to the school that endeavours to deal with both branches of research Of the ten studies that deal with the crusading expeditions one examines the maps that might have been available to the First Crusaders and their Muslim opponents another discusses in detail the Jerusalem massacre of July 1099 and its place in Western historiography down to our days a third sheds light on the largely neglected doings of the Fourth Crusaders who decided to sail to Acre rather than to Constantinople while a fourth exposes unknown features of the well known sculpture of the returning crusader most probably Count Hugh I of Vaud mont who is embracing his wife Of the ten studies that deal with the Frankish Levant one proposes a hypothesis on the composition stages of William of Tyre s chronicle another provides new evidence on the Latin hermits who chose to live in the Frankish states a third examines the catalogue of the library of the cathedral of Nazareth while a fourth calls attention to convergences of Eastern Christians Muslims and Franks in sacred spaces and offers a typology of such events and a fifth proposes a methodology for the identification of trans cultural borrowing in the Frankish Levant Richard.
