We Pursue Our Magic Marina Magloire, 2023-08-29 Drawing on the collected archives of distinguished twentieth century Black woman writers such as Lucille Clifton Audre Lorde Toni Cade Bambara Lorraine Hansberry and others Marina Magloire traces a new history of Black feminist thought in relation to Afro diasporic religion Beginning in the 1930s with the pathbreaking ethnographic work of Katherine Dunham and Zora Neale Hurston in Haiti and ending with the present day popularity of Afro diasporic spiritual practices among Black women she offers an alternative genealogy of Black feminism characterized by its desire to reconnect with ancestrally centered religions like

Vodou Magloire reveals the tension discomfort and doubt at the heart of each woman's efforts to connect with ancestral spiritual practices These revered writers are often regarded as unchanging monuments to Black womanhood but Magloire argues that their feminism is rooted less in self empowerment than in a fluid pursuit of community despite the inevitable conflicts wrought by racial capitalism The subjects of this book all model a nuanced Black feminist praxis grounded in the difficult work of community building between Black women across barriers of class culture and time Breathing Aesthetics Jean-Thomas Tremblay, 2022-08-29 In Breathing Aesthetics Jean Thomas Tremblay argues that difficult breathing indexes the uneven distribution of risk in a contemporary era marked by the increasing contamination weaponization and monetization of air Tremblay shows how biopolitical and necropolitical forces tied to the continuation of extractive capitalism imperialism and structural racism are embodied and experienced through respiration They identify responses to the crisis in breathing in aesthetic practices ranging from the film work of Cuban American artist Ana Mendieta to the disability diaries of Bob Flanagan to the Black queer speculative fiction of Renee Gladman In readings of these and other minoritarian works of experimental film endurance performance ecopoetics and cinema à rit Tremblay contends that articulations of survival now depend on the management and dispersal of respiratory hazards In so doing they reveal how an aesthetic attention to breathing generates historically culturally and environmentally situated tactics and strategies for living under precarity A Study Guide for Toni Cade Bambara's "The Salt Eaters" Gale, Cengage Learning, 2016-07-12 A Study Guide for Toni Cade Bambara's The Salt Eaters excerpted from Gale's acclaimed Novels for Students This concise study guide includes plot summary character analysis author biography study questions historical context suggestions for further reading and much more For any literature project trust Novels for Students for all of your research needs Home Girls, 40th Anniversary Edition Barbara Smith, 2023-10-13 Home Girls the pioneering anthology of Black feminist thought features writing by Black feminist and lesbian activists on topics both provocative and profound Since its initial publication in 1983 it has become an essential text on Black women's lives and contains work by many of feminism's foremost thinkers This edition features an updated list of contributor biographies and an all new preface that provides Barbara Smith the opportunity to look back on forty years of the struggle as well as the influence the work in this book has had on generations of feminists The preface from the previous Rutgers edition remains as well as all of the original pieces set in a fresh new package Contributors Tania Abdulahad Donna Allegra Barbara A Banks Becky Birtha Cenen Cheryl Clarke Michelle Cliff Michelle T Clinton Willi Willie M Coleman Toi Derricotte Alexis De Veaux Jewelle L Gomez Akasha Gloria Hull Patricia Spears Jones June Jordan Audre Lorde Raymina Y Mays Deidre McCalla Chirlane McCray Pat Parker Linda C Powell Bernice Johnson Reagon Spring Redd Gwendolyn Rogers Kate Rushin Ann Allen Shockley Barbara Smith Beverly Smith Shirley O Steele Luisah Teish Jameelah Waheed Alice Walker and Renita J Weems Turning Points and Transformations Christine DeVine, 2011-07-12 From the Irish Cailleach and other shape shifters of folk legends to modern movie transformers from Ovid's Metamorphoses to the moment when Gregor Samsa woke up one morning to find himself transformed into an insect in Kafka's novella from conversion narratives to slave narratives turning points and transformations have always been central to literary works and to cultural developments In fact with Freytag's pyramid in mind one could claim that all literary works focus on the trope of a transformation born of a turning point because such moments comprise the very essence and vitality of human life and culture But why are turning points necessarily transformational and in what way And what brings about those turning points in language literature culture and human lives These are essentially the questions the essays in this volume seek to answer The contributors examine turning points and transformations personal literary and cultural brought about through the randomness of the universe as well as through human interference and discuss ways in which humans in general and writers in particular through their art experience and cope with the ineluctable results The Future is Now Vanessa K.

Doctor Burnett's Essays James Compton Burnett, 1882 Novel Competition Evan Brier, 2024-04-16 Novel Competition describes the literary and institutional effort to make the American novel matter after 1965 During this era Hollywood movies popular music and other forms of mass produced culture vied with novels for a specific kind of prestige often figured as importance or relevance that had mostly been attached to novels in previous decades This trans media competition Brier argues is a crucial but largely unacknowledged event in the literary and economic history of the American novel In the face of it the novel lost some of the symbolic specialness it formerly held That loss in turn generated not just a much discussed rhetoric of crisis but also a host of unexamined intertwined effects on both literary form and the business of novel production Drawing on a range of novels and on the archives of publishers editors agents and authors Novel Competition shows how fiction s declining position in a transformed popular prestige economy reshaped the post 1965 American novel as art form cultural institution and commodity

"Black People Are My Business" Thabiti Lewis, 2020-09-08 Exploration of Bambara's practices of liberation that encourage resistance to oppression and solidarity Black People Are My Business Toni Cade Bambara's Practices of Liberation studies the works of Bambara 1939 1995 an author documentary filmmaker social activist and professor Thabiti Lewis's analysis serves as a cultural biography examining the liberation impulses in Bambara's writing which is concerned with practices that advance the material value of the African American experience and exploring the introspection between artist production and social justice. This is the first monograph that focuses on Bambara's unique approach and important literary contribution to 1970s and 1980s African American literature. It explores her unique nationalist feminist Marxist and spiritualist ethos which cleared space for many innovations found in black women's fiction. Divided into five chapters, Lewis's study relies on Bambara's voice from interviews and essays to craft a spiritual wholeness aesthetic, a set of principles that comes out of her practices of liberation and entail family faith, feeling and freedom that reveals her ability to interweave ethnic identity, politics and community engagement and responsibility with the impetus of balancing black male and female identity influences and interactions within and outside the community. One key feature of Bambara's work is the concentration on women as cultural workers whereby her notion of spiritual wholeness upends what has become a scholarly distinction between feminism and black nationalism. Bambara's fiction situates her as a pivotal voice within the Black Arts Movement and contemporary African American literature. Bambara is an understudied and important artistic voice whose aversion to playing it safe both personified and challenged the boundaries of black nationalism and feminism. Black People Are My Business is a wonderful addition to any reader's list especially those interested in African American literary and cultural studies.

Writing the Black Revolutionary Diva Kimberly Nichele Brown, 2010-09-09 Kimberly Nichele Brown examines how African American women since the 1970s have found ways to move beyond the double consciousness of the colonized text to develop a healthy subjectivity that attempts to disassociate black subjectivity from its connection to white culture. Brown traces the emergence of this new consciousness from its roots in the Black Aesthetic Movement through important milestones such as the anthology The Black Woman and Essence magazine to the writings of Angela Davis, Toni Cade Bambara and Jayne Cortez.

Breaking the Silence David Ikard, 2007-02 Can black males offer useful insights on black women and patriarchy? Many black feminists are doubtful. Their skepticism derives in part from a history of explosive encounters with black men who blamed feminism for stigmatizing black men and undermining racial solidarity and in part from a perception that black male feminists are opportunists capitalizing on the current popularity of black women's writing and criticism. In Breaking the Silence, David Ikard goes boldly to the crux of this debate through a series of provocative readings of key African American texts that demonstrate the possibility and value of a viable black male feminist perspective. Seeking to advance the primary objectives of black feminism, Ikard provides literary models from Chester Himes's If He Hollers Let Him Go, James Baldwin's Go Tell It on the Mountain, Toni Morrison's Paradise, Toni Cade Bambara's The Salt Eaters and Walter Mosley's Always Outnumbered Always Outgunned and Walkin' the Dog that consciously wrestle with the concept of victim status for black men and women. He looks at how complicity across gender lines far from rooting out patriarchy in the black community has allowed it to thrive. This complicity, Ikard explains, is a process by which victimized groups invest in victim status to the point that they unintentionally concede power to their victimizer and engage in patterns of behavior that are perceived as revolutionary but actually reinforce the status quo While black feminism has fostered important and necessary discussions regarding the problems of patriarchy within the black community little attention has been paid to the intersecting dynamics of complicity By laying bare the nexus between victim status and complicity in oppression Breaking the Silence charts a new direction for conceptualizing black women s complex humanity and provides the foundations for more expansive feminist approaches to resolving intraracial gender conflicts
