Saltwater Women At Work:

Beckoned by the Sea Sylvia Taylor, 2017-06-07 A rich and diverse tapestry weaving together the many voices narratives skills and talents of women up and down the coastal Pacific Northwest who devote their lives and careers to the sea Beckoned by the Sea celebrates coastal women from northern BC to northern California who work on or with the sea The twenty four women featured in this inspiring and fascinating book represent a variety of industries from conservation commercial fishing and marine biology to safety and rescue tourism and the arts Weaving together elements of social history culture geography and environmentalism author Sylvia Taylor draws on in depth interviews meticulous research and her own experience as a deckhand on a commercial fishing boat Beckoned by the Sea investigates the myriad ways in which women have contributed to the marine industries that sustain the people and shape the culture of North America s west coast and reveals how the sea itself has touched the lives of these women by giving them not just a livelihood but an infinite source of inspiration and personal fulfillment

Saltwater Women at Work Vickie Jensen, 1995 True life accounts from over 110 women mariners Saltwater City Paul Yee, 2009-12-01 Saltwater City pays tribute to those who went through the hard times to those who swallowed their pride to those who were powerless and humiliated but who still carried on They all had faith that things would be better for future generations They have been proven correct Canada s first Chinese arrived in British Columbia in 1858 from California Almost all mee merchants peasants and laborers and almost all from eight rural counties in the Pearl River delta in what is now Guangdong province they came in search of gold and better fortune escaping the rebellions flood and drought of their homeland By 1863 over 4 000 Chinese lived in B C filling jobs shunned by whites miners road builders teamsters laundry men restaurateurs domestic servants and cannery workers Between 1881 and 1885 thousands more arrived most imported to build the transcontinental railway They were to create in Vancouver Canada s largest and most dynamic Chinese Community known to its original inhabitants as Saltwater City

From Cabin 'Boys' to Captains Jo Stanley, 2016-04-04 Traditionally a woman s place was never on stormy seas But actually thousands of dancers purserettes doctors stewardesses captains and conductresses have taken to the waves on everything from floating palaces to battered windjammers Their daring story is barely known even by today s seawomen From before the 1750s women fancying an oceangoing life had either to disguise themselves as cabin boys or acquire a co operative husband with a ship attached Early pioneers faced superstition and discrimination in the briny monasteries Today women captain cruise ships as big as towns and work at the highest level in the global maritime industry This comprehensive exploration looks at the Merchant Navy comparing it to the Royal Navy in which Wrens only began sailing in 1991 Using a wide variety of interviews and sources Jo Stanley vividly reveals the incredible journey across time taken by these brave and lively women salts Red Flags and Lace Coiffes Charles R. Menzies, 2011-01-01 Small scale family fishing enterprises manage to persist despite a range of difficult economic and ecological changes and disruptions Red Flags and Lace Coiffes is an ethnography that explores how and why family based fishing enterprises continue in the face of what seem to be overwhelming odds Using historical ethnography as a lens through which to understand how the fishers and their families of the Bigouden region in France have situated themselves over time Charles R Menzies argues that local identity plays an important role as global capitalist pressures force these fishing communities to reorganize or disappear entirely Throughout the book touches on key concepts such as identity culture globalization kinship work the environment and the economy Publisher s description

The Research Imagination Paul S. Gray, John B. Williamson, David A. Karp, John R. Dalphin, 2007-08-13 The idea that science is a blueprint for research and imagination gives research its life and purpose inspired this comprehensive explanation of research methodology The authors decades of experience have revealed that research is a craft requiring judgment and creativity not simply memorization and application of the rules of science Whether one is conducting an intimate one on one interview or a large scale examination of an entire society human imagination and scientific principles of inquiry go hand in hand To that end this book emphasizes scientific method but also acknowledges its critics It covers a wide variety of data collection techniques but presents them as reinforcing rather than competing with one another thus striking a balance between qualitative and quantitative methods It is designed for students and instructors who want a comprehensive treatment of a variety of research techniques with special emphasis on qualitative approaches New Books on Women

Eileen Nason Cambon, 2008 Asthma in the Workplace, Fourth Edition Jean-Luc Malo, Moira Chan-Yeung, David I. Bernstein, 2013-05-10 Occupational factors are responsible for a large percentage of cases of asthma in adults of working age Any irritant generated at high concentrations can cause occupational asthma and early diagnosis is critical because cure is still possible at this stage This latest edition of Asthma in the Workplace reflects the rapid pace of discovery and research in workplace asthma that has taken place in recent years This Fourth Edition retains the international flavor of prior editions with contributions from editors and contributors from around the world Several chapters commence with clinical histories and workplace scenarios relevant to the focus of the chapter making it particularly germane for primary care providers to develop skills in early recognition of the disease Topics discussed include Definitions historical background epidemiology genetics pathophysiology and animal models Guidelines for assessing the worker and the workplace and proposed guidelines for management including compensation aspects Medicolegal aspects prevention and surveillance Detailed information about specific agents including a variety of high and low molecular weight agents Other types of work related asthma conditions such as irritant induced asthma eosinophilic bronchitis and occupational rhinitis This new edition has been significantly restructured and places a greater emphasis on the clinical aspects of management and treatment This heightened focus on practical considerations makes it a truly comprehensive hands on resource for practitioners and researchers in this fast moving field

Indigenous Research Knowledges and Their Place in the Academy Bindi Bennett, Kelly

Menzel, 2025-07-24 This book privileges Indigenous ways of knowing being and doing in research and serves as a voice in taking on some of the more marginal topics within methodologies It is significant in that it is written by indigenous scholars themselves The contributors shed light for example on Queer BlaQ bodies and place Indigenous women as central in reimagining fair academic practice others return to their foundational texts to reflect on the growth of Indigenous Standpoint Theory This book sees Indigenous Peoples as holding greater significance within research objectives and institutional practices and reimagines a research world embracing storytelling as foundational to academia It is intended for students and early researchers particularly Indigenous researchers whilst also serving as an invaluable textbook for non Indigenous people as it aids in explaining and outlining Indigenous research and is a valuable tool in the classroom and with research students It demonstrates that Indigenous research approaches can sit beside and be equal to Western research especially when engaging with the ethics process and for PhD students This book is invaluable for non Indigenous allies and researchers globally to further explain and outline Aboriginal Australian Indigenous research

Women Fishes These Days Brenda

Grzetic, 2004 The work education and health concerns of Canada's increasing population of fisherwomen rural women who work on inshore fishing boats to supplant family income lost to fish plant closures are profiled in this study of how women's work in previously male dominated trades impact their identity and autonomy Narratives from fisherwomen and statistics about the fishing workforce inform this gender analysis of how vocational restructuring challenges traditional patriarchal codes The complex joys struggles and dangers that fisherwomen encounter shed light on this sociological transition

Global Symposium on Women in Fisheries, 2002 Immigration and Women Susan C. Pearce, Elizabeth J.

Clifford, Reena Tandon, 2011-05-23 This book is a national portrait of immigrant women who live in the United States today featuring the voices of these women as they describe their contributions to work culture and activism Highlighting the gendered quality of the immigration process it interrogates how human agency and societal structures interact within the intersecting social locations of gender and migration The popular debate around contemporary U S immigration tends to conjure images of men waiting on the side of the road for construction jobs working in kitchens or delis driving taxis and sending money to their wives and families in their home countries while women are often left out of these pictures Through an examination of U S Census data and interviews with women across nationalities we hear the poignant humorous hopeful and defiant words of these women as they describe the often confusing terrain where they are starting new lives creating architecture firms building urban high rises caring for children cleaning offices producing creative works and organizing for social change The authors recommend changes for public policy to address the constraints these women face insisting that new policy must be attentive to the diverse profile of today s immigrating woman she is both potentially vulnerable to exploitative conditions and forging new avenues of societal leadership
