Shaping The College Experience Outside The Classroom:

Shaping the College Experience Outside the Classroom James J. Scannell, Kathleen Simpson, 1996 Past generations of American students have met the expenses of going to college by pursuing summer jobs and working around twenty hours a week during the academic year however such employment is not now so readily available and with the cost of college tuition increasing alternative means of funding need to be sought In an attempt to solve the problem a number of universities following the original examples of Cornell devised programs focusing on the creation of useful and career related employment opportunities in order to help students pay for a significant portion of their college expenses This book records the outcome of these programs evaluating firstly what they accomplished through relating the experiences of a number of participants and going on to offer suggestions on setting them up Of interest to all working in higher education and especially careers planners and developers it aims to provide a set of ideas and projects for use with students Learning Through Supervised Practice in Student Affairs Diane L. Cooper, Sue A. Saunders, Roger B. Winston, Jr., Joan B. Hirt, Don G. Creamer, Steven M. Janosik, 2013-08-21 Developed for use by graduate students preparing for careers in higher education administration who are enrolled in practicum and internship courses in higher education administration or student affairs programs Public Policymaking in a Democratic Society Larry N. Gerston, 2014-12-18 While people profess a disdain for politics in a democracy politics is the primary vehicle for citizens to influence the decisions and decision makers that shape public policy at every level This widely acclaimed work provides an overview of public policymaking in all its aspects along with basic information tools and examples that will equip citizens to participate more effectively in the policymaking process It is intended for use in internships and service learning programs but will serve equally as a resource for any organized effort to involve citizens in community service and the exercise of civic responsibility This updated edition includes an all new case study on the issue of immigration and all other case studies have been revised Using Typological Approaches to Understand College Student Experiences and Outcomes Shouping Hu, Shaoqing Li, 2011-12-20 Facing a new round of criticisms on the quality of undergraduate education in American colleges and universities higher education administrators are eager to find or create effective programs and practices that can enrich student experiences and enhance outcomes In order to do that those who work at colleges and universities need to have a better understanding of their students Institutional researchers with access to a wealth of student data have the analytical expertise to supply information that can guide institutional policy and practice Typological frameworks particularly can be used to generate such information and this volume presents rich examples of typological approaches to the study of college students Typological research can reveal patterns in students characteristics attitudes and behaviors and how those patterns are related to desirable outcomes such as learning and persistence or to the nature meaning and utility of student faculty interactions outside the classroom Such information can help campus leaders and other concerned groups gain a deeper understanding of their students design better targeted and intentional interventions to optimize student experiences and maximize student learning and personal development outcomes This is a special supplemental issue of New Directions for Institutional Research Always timely and comprehensive this series provides planners and administrators in all types of academic institutions with guidelines in such areas as resource coordination information analysis program evaluation and institutional management Race, Class, and Affirmative Action Sigal Alon, 2015-11-17 No issue in American higher education is more contentious than that of race based affirmative action In light of the ongoing debate around the topic and recent Supreme Court rulings affirmative action policy may be facing further changes As an alternative to race based affirmative action some analysts suggest affirmative action policies based on class In Race Class and Affirmative Action sociologist Sigal Alon studies the race based affirmative action policies in the United States and the class based affirmative action policies in Israel Alon evaluates how these different policies foster campus diversity and socioeconomic mobility by comparing the Israeli policy with a simulated model of race based affirmative action and the U S policy with a simulated model of class based affirmative action Alon finds that affirmative action at elite institutions in both countries is a key vehicle of mobility for disenfranchised students whether they are racial and ethnic minorities or socioeconomically disadvantaged Affirmative action improves their academic success and graduation rates and leads to better labor market outcomes The beneficiaries of affirmative action in both countries thrive at elite colleges and in selective fields of study As Alon demonstrates they would not be better off attending less selective colleges instead Alon finds that Israel s class based affirmative action programs have provided much needed entry slots at the elite universities to students from the geographic periphery from high poverty high schools and from poor families However this approach has not generated as much ethnic diversity as a race based policy would By contrast affirmative action policies in the United States have fostered racial and ethnic diversity at a level that cannot be matched with class based policies Yet class based policies would do a better job at boosting the socioeconomic diversity at these bastions of privilege The findings from both countries suggest that neither race based nor class based models by themselves can generate broad diversity According to Alon the best route for promoting both racial and socioeconomic diversity is to embed the consideration of race within class based affirmative action Such a hybrid model would maximize the mobility benefits for both socioeconomically disadvantaged and minority students Race Class and Affirmative Action moves past political talking points to offer an innovative evidence based perspective on the merits and feasibility of different designs of affirmative action

Creating Contexts for Learning and Self-authorship Marcia B. Baxter Magolda,1999 This book is intended to help college faculty create conditions in which students learn to construct knowledge in their disciplines and achieve self authorship A significant and often overlooked dimension mediating learning and self authorship centers on learners ways of knowing or their assumptions about the nature limits and certainty of knowledge A learner who assumes that all knowledge is certain expects to hear answers from an authority figure in contrast a learner who views knowledge as relative expects to explore multiple viewpoints By taking a constructive developmental approach the author demonstrates how students ability to construct knowledge is intertwined with the development of their assumptions about knowledge itself and their role in creating it She shows how the structure of constructive developmental teaching hinges on three principles validating students ability to know situating learning in students experience and defining learning as teachers and students mutually constructing meaning The book also takes abstract pedagogical principles and translates them into practical approaches

Learning to Lead Jennifer R. Nájera,2024-09-06 In Learning to Lead Jennifer R N jera explores the intersections of education and activism among undocumented students at the University of California Riverside Taking an expansive view of education N jera shows how students experiences in college both in and out of the classroom can affect their activism and advocacy work Students learn from their families communities peers and student and political organizations In these different spaces they learn how to navigate community and college life as undocumented people Students are able to engage campus organizations where they can cultivate their leadership skills and importantly learn that they are not alone These students embody and mobilize their education through both large and small political actions such as protests workshops for financial aid applications and Know Your Rights events As students create community with each other they come to understand that their individual experiences of illegality are part of a larger structure of legal violence This type of education empowers students to make their way to and through college change their communities and ultimately assert their humanity
