

7 brilliant lesson planning tips from teachers.

Add learning intentions

Learning intentions set the scene for students and tell them what to expect for the lesson, and it's crucial to give them real-world context and ensure that the language you use is precise and suitable for their age. You can use acronyms, like WALT (we are learning to), WILF (what I'm looking for) and TIB (this is because) to engage them.

Work in cycles for each lesson

- ✓ Model: show the students how to complete an activity before starting, using examples and non-examples.
- ✓ Practise together: students work together and with your help to complete the activity.
- ✓ Practise independently: once students are comfortable, they can try completing the activity by themselves.

Include checks for understanding (CFU)

These are activities like "whip around" and "response cards" that tell you whether students have learned what was expected. They are a crucial part of every lesson!

Ask three key questions

1. What knowledge, skills and understanding do your students need to learn for this lesson?
 2. What would be the best way to teach it?
 3. How can I assess the knowledge and skills that were taught?
- With these three questions, you can create your broad outline for the lesson and start getting into the details.

Add cumulative reviews

Students constantly move between topics throughout the day, so it's important to jog their memories by briefly discussing what was covered in the prior lesson – you need them to remember the fundamentals before moving forward! Make it fun, quick and sharp – a quiz, writing on a mini-whiteboard, a competition etc.

Add constraints for differentiation

Constraints are like in-built clues that help students complete tasks, such as filling in certain letters when trying to spell a word. You can give them lots of constraints at the start, and fewer and fewer as they practise and work through the activity.

Cater to all learning styles

Ensure that your lessons cater to visual, auditory and kinaesthetic learners. You can refer to the board, have students collect items, act out dramas and more. Kids get bored, so try to spend less time talking and more time engaged in learning!

The Story Biz Handbook Dianne de Las Casas, 2008-09-30 Beginning with wonderful tips and advice about the art and presentation of storytelling this is a complete resource about how to build a storytelling career Storytellers come to their careers centered on the stories they love and soon realize that in order to make a living at what they love they must build a business This in depth book tells them just how and what to do in every detail from choosing a sound system to building a website to using podcasts and setting up an office Resource lists and tried and true ideas abound as the author shares her marketing and business success story throughout Each chapter is a story in itself beginning and ending with different traditional folktale openings and closings There is even a chapter on how to plan for retirement Applying Differentiation Strategies: Teacher's Handbook for Grades 3-5 , Preschool Planning Guide , 1998 Provide guidance to those responsible for planning and implementing programs for young children including those funded under the universal prekindergarten legislation of 1997 Resources in Education , 2001-10 Primary Plans , 1913 The Trouble with Textbooks Gary A. Tobin, Dennis R. Ybarra, 2008-07-31 School textbooks in Iran Saudi Arabia Egypt and elsewhere in the Arab and Muslim worlds are filled with anti Western and anti Israel propaganda Most readers will be shocked to discover that history and geography textbooks widely used in America s elementary and secondary classrooms contain some of the very same inaccuracies about Jews Judaism and Israel Did you know that there is no record of any important Jewish contribution to the sciences World Civilizations Thomson Wadsworth Or that Christianity was started by a young Palestinian named Jesus The World Scott Foresman Pearson Supplemental materials and other classroom influences are even worse The Trouble with Textbooks exposes the poor scholarship and untruths in textbooks about Jews and Israel The problems uncovered in this ground breaking analysis are instructive and illustrate the need for reform in the way textbooks are developed written marketed and distributed Substitute another area how we teach American history Western civilization or comparative religion and we have another equally intriguing case study The Trouble with Textbooks shows what can go terribly wrong in discussing religion geography culture or history and in this case all of them The Trouble with Textbooks tells a cautionary tale for all readers whatever their background of how textbooks that Americans depend on to infuse young people with the values for good citizenship and to help acculturate students into the multicultural salad that is American life instead disparage some groups and teach historical distortions With millions of young people using these textbooks each year the denigration of some should be a concern for all

Co-Teaching and Other Collaborative Practices in The EFL/ESL Classroom Andrea Honigsfeld, Maria G. Dove, 2012-05-01 Much has been written about the cognitive and academic language needs of those learning English as a new language be it a second language in the United States or other English speaking countries or as a foreign language in all other parts of the world Many guidebooks and professional development materials have been produced on teacher collaboration and co teaching for special education inclusive classrooms Similarly much has been published about effective strategies teachers can use to offer more culturally and linguistically responsive instruction to their language learners However only a few resources are available to help general education teachers and ESL English as a second language specialists or two English as a foreign language EFL teachers such as native and nonnative English speaking teachers to collaborate effectively With this volume our goal is to offer an accessible resource long awaited by educators whose individual instructional practice and or institutional paradigm shifted to a more collaborative approach to language education Through this collection of chapters we closely examine ESL EFL co teaching and other collaborative practices by a exploring the rationale for teacher collaboration to support ESL EFL instruction b presenting current classroom based practitioner oriented research studies and documentary accounts related to co teaching co planning co assessing curriculum alignment teacher professional development and additional collaborative practices and c offering authentic teacher reflections and recommendations on collaboration and co teaching These three major themes are woven together throughout the entire volume designed as a reference to both novice and experienced teachers in their endeavors to provide effective integrated collaborative instruction for EFL or ESL learners We also intend to help preservice and inservice ESL EFL teachers teacher educators professional developers ESL EFL program directors and administrators to find answers to critical questions

Reading Response Forms Gr. 1-3 , Literacy, Libraries and Learning Ray Doiron, Marlene Asselin, 2005 The school library has changed dramatically Today it is a portal to a world of learning that includes traditional books digital resources and online environments As the importance of information and communication technologies grows teachers and teacher librarians hold the key to creating powerful learning opportunities that help students function more effectively This comprehensive guide discusses the changing responsibilities of classroom teachers and teacher librarians in helping students become better readers writers and researchers It offers suggestions for re inventing the school library by offering a better and more current selection of resources instilling students with the reading habit and supporting them in these key areas promoting reading for learning and pleasure improving critical literacy skills when using information from many sources encouraging research methods that respect copyright and lead to original work designing information tasks to help students work effectively with data developing better informational text structures that increase comprehension encouraging the
