Shattered Lives Finding Hope In The Midst Of Alzheimers And Other Related Dementia:

Shattered Lives Ellen Childress, Paulette Erkenbrack, 2001 The Spectrum of Hope Gayatri Devi, 2017-10-31 Imagine finding a glimmer of good news in a diagnosis of Alzheimer's. And imagine how that would change the outlook of the 5 million Americans who suffer from Alzheimer's disease and other dementias not to mention their families loved ones and caretakers. A neurologist who's been specializing in dementia and memory loss for more than 20 years Dr Gayatri Devi rewrites the story of Alzheimer's by defining it as a spectrum disorder like autism. Alzheimer's is a disease that affects different people differently. She encourages people who are worried about memory impairment to seek a diagnosis because early treatment will enable doctors and caregivers to manage the disease more effectively through drugs and other therapies. Told through the stories of Dr Devi's patients The Spectrum of Hope humanizes the science and offers equal parts practical advice and wisdom with skillful ease along with real hope. Here are chapters on how to maintain independence and dignity how to fight depression anxiety and apathy how to communicate effectively with a person suffering from dementia. Plus chapters on sexuality genetics going public with the diagnosis even putting together a bucket list because through her practice Dr Devi knows that the majority of Alzheimer's patients continue to live and work in their communities. They babysit their grandkids drive to the store or own the store serve their clients or otherwise live fulfilling lives. That's news that 5 million people are waiting to hear. Broken Beauty Sarah B. Smith, 2019-01-15 In the world of Early onset Alzheimer's here is a book all about life love and hope. Broken Beauty is the story of Sarah Smith's mother known as Beauty to her family and her family's journey through the devastating world of Early onset Alzheimer's. Smith was a young mother in her thirties when her own mother's illness struck so the family's shock and pain at the disease's manifestations is nearly unbearable. Not only is Beauty still young and fit she is also Sarah's best friend. This powerful and personal story about a daughter facing the unthinkable and the love she found to carry her through will touch the hearts of everyone who reads it. Sarah Bearden Smith is a housewife mother of three and a woman of deep faith who has lived in Texas all her life. Sarah was born and raised in the Houston area and remained there until her departure for the University of Texas at Austin where she was a speech communications major varsity cheerleader and a member of Tri Delta sorority. After her marriage to Thad Smith in 2002 the couple moved to Dallas Texas. During their years in Dallas Sarah and her husband have served on various boards and committees including the Greer Garson Gala Presbyterian Hospital Healthcare Foundation East West Ministries AWARE Dallas and Providence Christian School of Texas. They actively serve with their children in assisted living and memory care facilities and support organizations such as Council for Life Alzheimer's Association Women's Alzheimer's Movement and Community Bible Study. Sarah and her family are members of Watermark Community Church. Love in the Land of Dementia Deborah Shouse, 2013-11-19 Caregiver Shouse celebrates spiritual and practical lessons learned on her unscripted yet rewarding journey with her mother through Alzheimer's disease. Where Two Worlds Touch Jade C. Fade to Gray (PB) Richard Masinton,2018-09-02 Fade to Gray PB By Richard Masinton My wife Dana was stricken with early onset Alzheimer s disease at the horrifyingly young age of 55 Fade to Gray is our story about dealing with the only disease for which modern medicine has no means to prevent cure or slow its progression Shock disbelief and overwhelming emotions followed her diagnosis with a disease we thought only happened to the very elderly Furthermore I was appalled to discover that the business of Alzheimer s care is broken Caring and competent caregivers are hard to find and assisted care facilities and other health care institutions that pride themselves on caring and competence are often anything but caring and competent I refused to accept business as usual in confronting and dealing with this terrible illness so Fade to Gray was written to share my challenging experiences and offer hard earned lessons learned during Dana s struggle With no chance to alter the outcome my purpose is to offer practical help comforting wisdom and enduring hope to those whose lives are ruined by Alzheimer s hoping to alter what may otherwise seem a hopeless experience This is not a story about how to COPE with Alzheimer s Fade to Gray was written to help others DEAL with and MANAGE a disease that is becoming a public health epidemic and an ineffective support infrastructure that annually costs families more than sending a child to Harvard

Carnarius,2015-02-23 Soul searing life testing situations have what some call fall out blessings The book is about understanding some of the deeper lessons we are exposed to through caring for individuals with Alzheimer s and other types of dementia We all want a cure But in the meantime while this illness is still with us how can we create a quality of life for each person in each stage of the disease How can we look deeper into situations that at first glance look hopeless and destructive in order to find opportunities for insight inspiration and great understanding of ourselves and those we love How can we allow the full measure of the experience to unfold and be felt with as much of ourselves as we can bring to bear This book will help people caring for those going through the difficult dementia journey find a way through the tumultuous waves to remain awake and open to the blessing of a journey that opens the heart nurtures compassion and ultimately enables each of us to be better human beings It is also for those brave individuals living with memory loss illnesses so that they be supported and allowed to live their experience fully in their own unique way to express themselves to love and be loved and to be sheltered from harm that with each stage of the progression those around the person with dementia find ways to emphasize the loved one's remaining strengths rather than spotlight their weaknesses. A person with dementia has a whole and well spirit and in the broadest sense their brain is a vehicle of self-expression; it does not define their essence. Finally, this book addresses head-on the final stage of the disease when the brain has exhausted all its compensatory ability and the individual is no longer able to take part in regular day-to-day life. At this advanced stage of the disease process, people with dementia are in a deep internal state that caregivers generally cannot access and share. It can be a very disheartening time. This internal state separates the person with dementia from those around them; however, rather than thinking of it as a prison wall separating the person with dementia from the caregiver, it may be more helpful to think of the person having retreated into a cloistered existence for a while, affording them the time needed by the soul to attend to deeper aspects of the self on a spiritual level. This phase also allows those around the person to honor the vessel or body that has housed the loved one in this life and prepare to let them go. When ready, the individual will know the time to leave and, if allowed, will let go. Coming from a rich professional background in caring, Megan Carnarius clearly outlines the different stages of dementia and highlights many practical aspects of dementia care, suggesting accessible tools for family and professionals alike. She also addresses the more subtle spiritual dimensions of this illness with much compassion and understanding, offering new insights into areas that have not been explored in other books on the disease.
