Alan Weltzien, 2017-11-01 In response to the growing scale and complexity of environmental threats this volume collects articles, essays, personal narratives and poems by more than forty authors in conversation about thinking continental connecting local and personal landscapes to universal systems and processes to articulate the concept of a global or planetary citizenship. The Classics in Modernist Translation Lynn Kozak, Miranda Hickman, 2019-02-07 This volume sheds new light on a wealth of early 20th century engagement with literature of Graeco-Roman antiquity that significantly shaped the work of Anglophone literary modernism. The essays spotlight translation, a concept the modernists themselves used to reckon with the Classics and to denote a range of different kinds of reception from more literal to more liberal translation work as well as forms of what contemporary reception studies would term adaptation, refiguration and intervention. As the volume's essays reveal, modernist translations of Classical texts crucially informed the innovations of many modernists and often themselves constituted modernist literary projects. Thus the volume responds to gaps in both Classical reception and Modernist studies. Essays treat a comparatively understudied area in Classical reception by reviving work in a subfield of Modernist studies relatively inactive in recent decades but enjoying renewed attention through the recent work of contributors to this volume. The volume's essays address work significantly informed by Classical materials including Homer, Sophocles, Euripides, Sappho, Ovid and Propertius and approach a range of modernist writers. Pound and H.D. among the modernists best known for work engaging the Classics as well as Cummings, Eliot, Joyce, Laura Riding and Yeats. The Strength of Poetry James

Fenton, 2003 A major account of modern poetry from one of its leading figures, James Fenton examines issues of creativity and the earning of success, of judgement, tutelage, rivalry and ambition. He considers the juvenilia of Wilfred Owen, the scarred lines of Philip Larkin, the inheritance of imperialism and issues of constituency in Seamus Heaney. The book contains insights into the work of Marianne Moore, Elizabeth Bishop, Sylvia Plath, D.H. Lawrence and W.H. Auden. Common: The Development of Literary Culture in Sixteenth-Century England Neil Rhodes, 2018-04-13 This volume explores the development of literary culture in sixteenth-century England as a whole and seeks to explain the relationship between the Reformation and the literary renaissance of the Elizabethan period. Its central theme is the common in its double sense of something shared and something base and it argues that making common the work of God is at the heart of the English Reformation just as making common the literature of antiquity and of early modern Europe is at the heart of the English

Renaissance Its central question is why was the Renaissance in England so late That question is addressed in terms of the relationship between Humanism and Protestantism and the tensions between democracy and the imagination which persist throughout the century Part One establishes a social dimension for literary culture in the period by exploring the associations of commonwealth and related terms It addresses the role of Greek in the period before and during the Reformation in disturbing the old binary of elite Latin and common English It also argues that the Reformation principle of making common is coupled with a hostility towards fiction which has the effect of closing down the humanist renaissance of the earlier decades Part Two presents translation as the link between Reformation and Renaissance and the final part discusses the Elizabethan literary renaissance and deals in turn with poetry short prose fiction and the drama written for the common stage
