Safety Planning With Battered Women:

Safety Planning with Battered Women Jill M. Davies, Eleanor Lyon, Diane Monti-Catania, 1998 Safety Planning with Battered Women introduces a new model of woman defined advocacy that is designed to bridge the gap that sometimes occurs between a battered woman's perspective and a victim advocate's perception. Created to improve service delivery to women who are victims of domestic violence, this new model emphasizes placing attention on the victim's assessment of the risk in a violent relationship and in her decision making. Authors Jill Davies, Eleanor Lyon, and Diane Monti-Catania strive to help advocates better understand battered women's decisions, including the decision to remain in an abusive relationship, to improve advocacy for victims with varying cultural backgrounds and experiences, and to provide advocates with assistance in redesigning their services so they may better meet the needs of battered women. Since there are no quick fixes to the problems encountered in cases of domestic violence, it is vital that victims be provided with a real understanding of their options and the opportunity to implement those safety plans they deem most feasible. Safety Planning with Battered Women helps advocates tailor alternatives that will enhance the safety of battered women based on the individual realities of battered women. This book is both enlightening and highly practical and is a must read for anyone working with domestic violence victims. By introducing a woman defined model and offering a new approach to advocacy, Safety Planning with Battered Women will compel readers to reexamine current approaches and examine the future provision of services to domestic violence victims, making it a valuable resource for students, researchers, academics, professionals, and practitioners.

Safety Planning with Battered Women Jill M. Davies, 1998 This book draws attention to the complexity of helping battered women and their children. The authors introduce a new model of woman defined advocacy that emphasizes several topics, including understanding a battered woman's perspective.

Safety Planning with Battered Women Jill Davies, Eleanor Lyon, Diane Monti-Catania, 1998-02-12 Drawing attention to the complexity of helping battered women and their children, this volume introduces a new model of woman defined advocacy. The model emphasizes understanding a battered woman's perspective, including her risk analysis and safety plan building, partnerships with battered women, and systems advocacy. It seeks to craft courses of action that will enhance women's safety given their individual realities, which might include, for example, a woman deciding to remain temporarily in an abusive relationship.
