The Invention of the Self Andrew Spira,2020-06-25 This book is an examination of personal identity exploring both who we think we are and how we construct the sense of ourselves through art It proposes that the notion of personal identity is a psycho social construction that has evolved over many centuries While this idea has been widely discussed in recent years Andrew Spira approaches it from a completely new point of view Rather than relying on the thinking subject s attempts to identify itself consciously and verbally it focuses on the traces that the self sense has unconsciously left in the fabric of its environment in the form of non verbal cultural conventions Covering a millennium of western European cultural history it amounts to an anthropology of personal identity in the West Following a broadly chronological path Spira traces the self sense from its emergence from the collectivity of the medieval Church to its consummation in the individualistic concept of artistic genius in the nineteenth century In doing so it aims to bridge a gap that exists between cultural history and philosophy Regarding cultural history especially art history it elicits significances from its material that have been thoroughly overlooked Regarding philosophy it highlights the crucial role that material culture plays in the formation of philosophical ideas It argues that the sense of personal self is as much revealed by cultural conventions and as a cultural convention as it is observable to the mind as an object of philosophical enquiry Artistic Circulation between Early Modern Spain and Italy Kelley Helmstutler Di Dio,Tommaso Mozzati,2020-01-27 This collection of essays by major scholars in the field explores how the rich intersections between Italy and Spain during the early modern period resulted in a confluence of cultural ideals Various means of exchange and convergence are explored through two main catalysts humans their trips or resettlements and objects such as books paintings sculptures and prints The visual and textual evidence of the transmission of ideas iconographies and styles are examined such as triumphal ephemera treatises on painting the social status of the artist collections and their display church decoration and funerary monuments providing a more nuanced understanding of the exchanges of styles forms and ideals across southern Europe

Erasmus, Man of Letters Lisa Jardine, 2015-06-23 The name Erasmus of Rotterdam conjures up a golden age of scholarly integrity and the disinterested pursuit of knowledge when learning could command public admiration without the need for authorial self promotion Lisa Jardine however shows that Erasmus self consciously created his own reputation as the central figure of the European intellectual world Erasmus himself the historical as opposed to the figural individual was a brilliant maverick innovator who achieved little formal academic recognition in his own lifetime What Jardine offers here is not only a fascinating study of Erasmus but also a bold account of a key moment in Western history a time when it first became possible to believe in the existence of something that could be designated European thought

The Painter Angelos and Icon-Painting in Venetian Crete Maria Vassilaki, 2023-04-28 The sixteen studies in this book include six specially translated from Greek and another two published here for the first time They deal with the art of painting in Crete at a time when the island was under Venetian rule The main emphasis is on the 15th century and especially on the painter Angelos More than thirty icons with his signature survive and at least twenty more can be reliably attributed to him Angelos was the most significant artist of a particularly significant era It was at this time that the centre of artistic production migrated from Constantinople the capital of the Byzantine Empire to Candia the capital of Venetian occupied Crete These studies try to reconstruct the personality of this late Byzantine painter Angelos not only through his icons but also through his will 1436 now in the State Archives in Venice In this context they also explore the status of the Cretan painter in society The large number of extant Cretan icons clearly indicates the striking increase in production from the 15th century onwards Similarly archival documents are used to examine the trade of icons in Crete and the way Cretan artists had to organize their workshops in order to meet the requirements of the market
