Coping with Postmodernity Martin Villwock, 2011-06-08 Examination Thesis from the year 2008 in the subject Didactics for the subject English Pedagogy Literature Studies grade 1-3 University of Cologne Englisch Seminar language English abstract In the following chapter of this paper an outline of the present ontological crisis in terms of Lyotard's postmodern condition will be given Throughout the discussion of Coupland's fiction this concept will be relevant for its influence on the characters' thoughts and emotions Furthermore the chapter will analyze the importance and self-referentiality of narrative structures in Coupland's work The characters in Coupland's novels often come up with a plentitude of more or less successful strategies in order to deal with the semantic void they experience For this chapter material will be presented predominantly from the novels All Families are Psychotic, Generation X and Microserfs The third chapter will focus on the presentation of working life in Coupland's prose His novels reveal that work today has lost its former function as a source of orientation In this analysis the concept of alienation as introduced by Karl Marx will be used in order to grasp the nature of the conflict that the characters experience in their working lives in Coupland's novels The chapter will focus on the presentation of working life in

Generation X Microserfs and Shampoo Planet A fourth chapter will introduce yet a further source of disorientation the hyperreality constituted by the media Here Baudrillard's observations 1983 and 1994 will serve as a starting point in a discussion of the experience of the hyperreal and the possibility of contact with the real in Coupland's work Again material will be presented from the novels Generation X Microserfs and Shampoo Planet The subsequent chapter will consider the important role that irony plays in several of the analyzed novels Douglas Coupland particularly in his first novels impresses his readers with a smart and thoroughly ironic tone In his later novels however he is deliberately trying to establish a more sincere language mirrored by his characters desire to embark on a sincere quest for meaning The functions of the presentation of the different forms of disorientation and re orientation will be at the center of my discussion of Coupland's fiction

Thoreauvian Modernities François Specq, Laura Dassow Walls, Michel Granger, 2013-02-01 Does Thoreau belong to the past or to the future Instead of canonizing him as a celebrant of pure nature apart from the corruption of civilization the essays in Thoreauvian Modernities reveal edgier facets of his work how Thoreau is able to unsettle as well as inspire and how he is able to focus on both the timeless and the timely Contributors from the United States and Europe explore Thoreau's modernity and give a much needed reassessment of his work in a global context The first of three sections Thoreau and Non Modernity views Thoreau as a social thinker who set himself against the modern currents of his day even while contributing to the emergence of a new era By questioning the place of humans in the social economic natural and metaphysical order he ushered in a rethinking of humanity's role in the natural world that nurtured the environmental movement The second section Thoreau and Philosophy examines Thoreau's writings in light of the philosophy of his time as well as current philosophical debates Section three Thoreau Language and the Wild centers on his relationship to wild nature in its philosophical scientific linguistic and literary dimensions Together these sixteen essays reveal Thoreau's relevance to a number of fields including science philosophy aesthetics environmental ethics political science and animal studies Thoreauvian Modernities posits that it is the germinating power of Thoreau's thought the challenge it poses to our own thinking and its capacity to address pressing issues in a new way that defines his enduring relevance and his modernity Contributors Kristen Case Randall Conrad David Dowling Michel Granger Michel Imbert Michael Jonik Christian Maul Bruno Monfort Henrik Otterberg Tom Pughe David M Robinson William Rossi Dieter Schulz François Specq Joseph Urbas Laura Dassow Walls

The Rhizomatic West Neil Campbell, 2008-12-01 Is the American West in Sergio Leone's spaghetti westerns the same American West we find in Douglas Coupland's Generation X In Jim Jarmusch's movies In Calexico's music Or is the American West as this book tells us a constantly moving mutating idea within a complex global culture And what precisely or better yet imprecisely does it mean Using Gilles Deleuze and Félix Guattari's concept of the rhizome Neil Campbell shows how the West or west-ness continually breaks away from a mainstream notion of American rootedness and renews and transforms itself in various cultural forms A region long traversed by various transient peoples from tribes and conquerors to immigrants traders and trappers the West reflects a mythic quest for settlement permanence and synthesis even notions of a national or global identity at odds with its rootless history culture and nature Crossing the concept of roots with routes this book shows how notions of the West in representations ranging from literature and film to photography music and architectural theory give expression to ideas about identity nationhood and belonging in a world increasingly defined by movement across time and borders The Rhizomatic West offers a new vision of the American West as a hybrid performative space a staging place for myriad intersecting and constantly changing identities Bloomsbury Good
