brings together scholarship from Japanese studies heritage studies and the anthropology of tourism to highlight the interplay between the romantic desire for heritage tourism and the emphasis on personal experience taken in the visitor industry today Experience has long been an integral part of tourism even as what counts as experience has shifted across time and place from taking a photo to staying with locals to trying one's hand at a traditional craft yet these touristic desires take on a new tinge in the experience economy Kyoto Revisited demonstrates not only how the past has been used to construct the city's identity and shape understandings of Japan for travelers but also how these speak to broader trends in our contemporary moment
