Diaries Real and Fictional in Twentieth-Century French Writing Sam Ferguson, 2018-03-16 This volume is the first study of the diary in French writing across the twentieth century as a genre which includes both fictional and non-fictional works From the 1880s it became apparent to writers in France that their diaries a supposedly private form of writing would probably come to be published strongly affecting the way their readers viewed their other published works and their very persona as an author More than any other André Gide embraced the literary potential of the diary the first part of this book follows his experimentation with the diary in the fictional works Les Cahiers d'André Walter 1891 and Paludes 1895 in his diary of the composition of his great novel Le Journal des faux monnayeurs 1926 and in his monumental Journal 1889 1939 1939 The second part follows developments in diary writing after the Second World War inflected by radical changes in attitudes towards the writing subject Raymond Queneau's works published under the pseudonym of Sally Mara 1947 1962 used the diary playfully at a time when the writing subject was condemned by the literary avant-garde Roland Barthes's experiments with the diary 1977 1979 took it to the extremes of its formal possibilities at the point of a return of the writing subject Annie Ernaux's published diaries 1993 2011 demonstrate the role of the diary in the modern field of life writing Throughout the century the diary has repeatedly been used to construct an oeuvre and author but also to call these fundamental literary concepts into question French Readings from Roman History Charles Colbeck, 1886

Discourses of Mourning in Dante, Petrarch, and Proust Jennifer Rushworth, 2016 This book brings together in a novel and exciting combination three authors who have written movingly about mourning two medieval Italian poets Dante Alighieri and Francesco Petrarca and one early twentieth century French novelist Marcel Proust Each of these authors through their respective narratives of bereavement grapples with the challenge of how to write adequately about the deeply personal and painful experience of grief In Jennifer Rushworth s analysis discourses of mourning emerge as caught between the twin conflicting demands of a comforting readable shared generality and a silent solitary respect for the uniqueness of any and every experience of loss Rushworth explores a variety of major questions in the book including what type of language is appropriate to mourning What effect does mourning have on language Why and how has the Orpheus myth been so influential on discourses of mourning across different time periods and languages Might the form of mourning described in a text and the form of closure achieved by that same text be mutually formative and sustaining In this way discussion of the literary representation of mourning extends to embrace topics such as the medieval sin of acedia the proper name memory literary epiphanies the image of the book and the concept of writing as promise In addition to the three primary authors Rushworth draws extensively on the writings of Sigmund Freud Julia Kristeva Jacques Derrida and Roland Barthes These rich and diverse psychoanalytical and French theoretical traditions provide terminological nuance and frameworks for comparison particularly in relation to the complex term melancholia Frontiers in the Roman World Impact of Empire (Organization). Michael Greenhalgh,2014-05-08 The French invaded Algeria in 1830 and found a landscape rich in Roman remains which they proceeded to re use to support the constructions such as fortresses barracks and hospitals needed to fight the natives who continued to object to their presence and to house the various colonisation projects with which they intended to solidify their hold on the country and to make it both modern and profitable Arabs and Berbers had occasionally made use of the ruins but it was still a Roman and Early Christian landscape when the French arrived In the space of two generations this was destroyed just as were many ancient remains in France in part because real architecture was Greek not Roman
