public transportation systems in an effort to mitigate CO2 emissions and provide nature friendly transportation systems in cities and ultimately to increase citizens wellbeing Furthermore the cities are expected to transform their traditional transportation systems to cutting edge high technology green transportation systems in the near future due to regulations applied by the related authorities such as the EU and UN At the same time cities are undergoing a transformation from traditional to smart cities which is an inevitable process due to swift developments in technologies and smart systems Sustainable public transportation systems must be developed and adjusted to be applicable in future smart cities The Handbook of Research on Promoting Sustainable Public Transportation Strategies in Urban Environments considers the challenges and advantages of sustainable public transportation systems in urban areas and provides relevant theoretical frameworks the latest empirical research findings and an overview of the latest technological developments on the subject Covering key topics such as green vehicles sustainability and walkable cities this major reference work is ideal for policymakers government officials industry professionals researchers scholars practitioners academicians instructors and The Evaluation of Transportation Investment Projects Joseph Berechman, 2010-05-26 Throughout the world the students use of some kind of a formal transportation project evaluation procedure is a requirement Yet by and large these are partial in fact much weight is often placed on the initial pre engineering phases of the planning process when vital information such as accurate costs and demand projections is largely missing Moreover many of these procedures neglect to consider key issues such as project s risks capital costs financing latent demand market imperfections labor force availability and various incompatibilities between trip rates travel times and activity location As a result projects which are judged as viable under such deficient evaluation schemes may have had a significantly different projection of capital costs and demand should a well founded thorough and efficient evaluation process be used Against this background this book s main objective is to construct a comprehensive and methodical economic planning and decision making framework for the evaluation of proposed transportation infrastructure investment projects Such a framework is founded on four key principles It is based on well established economic transportation and policy analysis theoretical principles it is comprehensive enough to encompass all relevant evaluation issues it is applicable to a wide range of transportation investment projects and it is amenable to empirical application including a sensitivity analysis and alternative scenarios regarding urban regional and national Megacity Mobility Zongzhi Li, Adrian T. Moore, Samuel R. Staley, 2021-12-14 World population growth and developments economic prosperity have given rise to ever increasing demands on cities transportation planning and goods movement This growth coupled with a slower pace of transportation capacity expansion and deteriorated facility restoration has led to rapid changes in the transportation planning and policy environment These stresses are particularly acute for megacities where degradation of mobility and facility performance have reached alarming rates Addressing these transportation challenges requires innovative solutions Megacity Mobility grapples with these challenges by addressing transportation policy planning and facilities in a multimodal context It discusses innovative short and long term solutions for meeting current and future mobility needs for the world's most dynamic cities by addressing the influence of urban land use on mobility 3D spiderweb transportation planning travel demand management multimodal transportation with flexible capacity efficient capacity utilization driven by new technologies innovative transportation funding and financing and performance based budget allocation using asset management principles It discusses emerging issues highlights potential challenges affecting proposed solutions and provides policymakers planners and transportation professionals a road map to achieving sustainable mobility in the 21st century Zongzhi Li is a professor and the director of the Sustainable Transportation and Infrastructure Research STAIR Center at Illinois Institute of Technology IIT Adrian T Moore is vice president of policy at Reason Foundation in Washington D C with focuses on privatization transportation and urban growth and more Samuel R Staley is the director of the DeVoe L Moore Center in the College of Social Sciences and Public Policy at Florida State University Advancements in Smart City and Intelligent Building Qiansheng Fang, Quanmin Zhu, Feng Qiao, 2019-04-03 The book entitled Advancements in Smart City and Intelligent Building is the Proceedings of the International Conference on Smart City and Intelligent Building ICSCIB 2018 held in Hefei China September 15 16 2018 It contains 58 papers in total categorized into 8 different tracks on Building Energy Efficiency Construction Robot and Automation Intelligent Community and Urban Safety Intelligentialization of Heating Ventilation Air Conditioning System Information Technology and Intelligent Transportation Systems New Generation Intelligent Building Platform Techniques Smart Home and Utility and Smart Underground Space which cover a wide range areas of smart cities and intelligent buildings ICSCIB2018 provided an international forum for professionals academics and researchers to present the latest developments from interdisciplinary theoretical studies computational algorithm developments and engineering applications in smart cities and smart buildings This academic event featured many opportunities to network with colleagues from around the world in a wonderful environment Its program covered invitation and presentations from scientists researchers and practitioners who have been working in the related areas to establish platforms for collaborative research projects in these fields The conference invited leaders from industry and academia to exchange and share their experiences present research results explore collaborations and to spark new ideas with the aim of developing new projects and exploiting new technology in these fields and bridge theoretical studies and emerging applications in various science and engineering branches This book addresses the recent development and achievement in the field of smart city and intelligent building It is primarily intended for researchers and students for undergraduate and postgraduate programs in the background of multiple disciplines including computer science information systems information technology automatic control and automation electrical and electronic engineering and telecommunications who wish to develop and share their ideas knowledge and new findings in smart city and intelligent building Urban Transportation Abstracts ,1987 RAILWAY SAFETY Dr. Ir. Hermanto Dwiatmoko, MSTr, IPU,

ASEAN Eng, ACPE, 2025-05-08 This book is expected to serve as a valuable reference for various stakeholders in the railway sector including regulators operators academics and researchers With its systematic and data driven presentation the book can serve as a solid foundation for policy formulation the development of operational procedures and strengthening a sustainable safety culture in the railway industry Alternate Route Clifford Winston, Chad Shirley, 2010-12-01 Urban transportation problems abound across America including jammed highways during rush hours deteriorating bus service and strong pressures to build new rail systems Most solutions attempt either to increase transportation capacity by building more roads and expanding mass transit or to manage existing capacity through HOV restrictions exclusive bus lanes and employer based policies such as flexible work hours This book develops an alternative solution to urban transportation problems based on economic analysis but well aware of the political constraints on policymakers. The authors estimate that efficient pricing and service policies could save more than 10 billion in annual net benefits over current practices but argue that powerful entrenched political and institutional forces will continue to thwart efficient economic solutions to improve urban transportation They believe however that some form of privatization would likely improve social welfare more than an efficient public sector system Facing fewer operating restrictions greater economic incentives and stronger competitive pressures private suppliers could substantially improve the efficiency of urban operations and offer services that are more responsive to the needs of all types of travelers. The authors conclude that policymakers have bestowed huge benefits on the public by allowing the private sector to play a leading and unencumbered role in the provision of intercity transportation Public officials should take the next step and allow the private sector to play a leading role in the provision of urban transportation Shared-ride Paratransit Performance Evaluation Guide James Howard Miller, 1989 Iournal of Public Transportation, 1996 Evaluation Guidelines for the Advanced Public Transportation Systems Operational Tests
