Employee Voice and Participation Jeff Hyman, 2018-06-13 Employee participation and voice EPV concern power and influence Traditionally EPV has encompassed worker attempts to wrest control from employers through radical societal transformation or to share control through collective regulation by trade unions This book offers a controversial alternative arguing that in recent years participation has shifted direction In Employee Voice and Participation the author contends that participation has moved away from employee attempts to secure autonomy and influence over organisational affairs to one in which management ideas and initiatives have taken centre stage. This shift has been bolstered in the UK and USA by economic policies that treat regulation as an obstacle to competitive performance. Through an examination of the development of ideas and practice surrounding employee voice and participation, this volume tracks the story from the earliest attempts at securing worker control through to the rise of trade unions and today's managerial efforts to contain union influence. It also explores the negative consequences of these changes and though the outlook is pessimistic, considers possible approaches to address the growing power imbalance between employers and workers. Employee Voice and Participation will be an excellent supplementary text for advanced students of employment relations and Human Resource Management (HRM). It will also be a valuable read for researchers, policy makers, trade unions and HRM professionals.

People Resourcing Stephen Taylor, 2005. People Resourcing is the leading textbook for students taking the CIPD People Resourcing module. The text provides a highly practical and accessible text for students taking modules in this area. All the main elements of people resourcing are examined in detail. There is a particular focus on human resource planning, recruitment, advertising, performance management, dismissal and redundancy and retirement. A wide range of examples drawn from different sectors and occupational groups illustrate the core concepts. The author is one of the CIPD's national examiners for Leadership and Management and has a wide range of experience as an examiner and lecturer in the Human Resource Management area.
