Cowie, Michael Kirby (MRCP.), Mike Kirby, 2003-12-31 Heart failure accounts for between 1% and 2% of health care expenditure in developed countries and up to 5% of admissions to general medical and geriatric wards With a growing ageing population and increased survival rates to myocardial infarction these statistics are likely to increase dramatically This increasing workload falls to the hospital specialist and the general practitioner as once diagnosis has been confirmed the patient requires careful monitoring and management for the duration of their life Managing Heart Failure in Primary Care Martin R. Cowie, Mike Kirby, 2006-06 Heart failure accounts for between 1 per cent and 2 per cent of health care expenditure in developed countries and up to 5 per cent of admissions to general medical and geriatric wards This practical guide is useful to the hospital specialist and the general practitioner Management of Cardiac Problems in Primary Care Clive Handler, Gerry Coghlan, 2018-04-19 Clive Handler and Gerry Coghlan have written a book that will become essential reading for the primary care physician managing cardiac problems in the new age of medical practice In it they give clear concise and readable information on diagnosis management and treatment priorities in this most important field of medicine The book uses current evidence and follows current guidelines to direct the clinician in treating conditions seen every day in general practice It builds confidence in understanding the role and responsibility in commissioning cardiology specialist care The narrative is peppered with real patient problems and sections giving advice to patients in layman s language This book will not only promote the primary care physician s ability to manage problems in house but also guide the commissioning clinician on putting in place appropriate and efficient specialist services An excellent text that will be a valuable addition to the libraries of all general practices Buy more than one copy clinicians from practice nurses students and registrars to the most senior doctors will all find it essential reading Surgical Remodeling in

Heart Failure W. Brett, A. Todorov, M. Pfisterer, H.-R. Zerkowski, 2012-12-06 Despite all efforts and success in medical treatment the incidence of end stage chronic heart failure is increasing Cardiac transplantation remains the only definite option however due to the shortage of donor organs very few people benefit Therefore surgery of end stage heart failure using conventional techniques has gained new interest after the introduction of the Batista operation However a clear surgical identification of the patients to be included in this group is lacking Left ventricular reduction surgery as well as reduction of the base of the heart using mitral annuloplasty or mitral valve replacement sparing both papillary muscles is used in selected patients with satisfying results and good survival Long term mechanical support with subsequent surgical remodeling or supporting myoplasty may result in a beneficial alternative to heart transplantation Index Medicus ,2004 Vols for 1963 include as pt 2 of the Jan issue Medical subject headings
