Brem, Joe Tidd, Tugrul U Daim, 2019-03-22 Managing Innovation is a three part series covering contemporary technology and innovation management research areas Each volume comprises key articles from both the International Journal of Innovation Management and the International Journal of Innovation and Technology Management published by World Scientific and provides an international disciplinary approach across its broad coverage of topics Relevant for both academics and practitioners this volume focuses on key aspects of crowd innovation including motivations challenges and benefits of this approach Related Link s Managing Innovation and Operations in the 21st Century Jose Arturo Garza-Reyes, Vikas Kumar, Juan Luis Martinez-Covarrubias, Ming K Lim, 2017-08-07 This book is for directors consultants practitioners and professionals aspiring to effectively manage operations but is targeted at applying innovation to the management of operations including supply chains It is appropriate for those establishing a career in innovation and operations management This book will Equip readers with understanding of the nature of innovation operations management concepts business models methods and tools Explore best practices and most commonly used operations and innovation business models methods and tools used by successful organisations Consider particular operational issues directly impact the competitiveness of organisations Managing Innovation in the Arts Marian Fitzgibbon, 2001-09-30 A main justification for public funding of the arts is to protect the arts from the marketplace and to encourage experimentation and innovation But little is known about the actual innovation process Is funding the only issue Protecting the arts from the marketplace has up to now been the main item in any discussion of artistic creativity This publication of Fitzgibbons carefully researched investigation provides a privileged insight which both fills out and refocuses the picture She examines the operation of three performing arts companies from Ireland a country whose reputation for creativity bears little relation to its small size and population and finds that innovation in the arts requires uncommon dedication persistence and yes sacrifice qualities that have been blurred by the mythology of what makes for artistic innovation She studies the social and organizational context of most arts work today with emphasis on the effort that goes into the achievement of innovation and comes away with a new vocabulary and grammar for managing it Innovation in the arts is an arduous stressful process as it is in all areas of high achievement but the perception most people have of it is misinformed says Fitzgibbon Creativity management is confused with what is commonly known as creative management She shows it is possible to identify a number of factors that bear heavily on innovation in arts organizations So far the first study of the management of arts innovation specifically Fitzgibbon s work offers a privileged and pragmatic insight into the workings of highly innovative arts organizations The result is a graphic analysis that strips innovation down to its essentials and begins to answer vital questions This work is essential reading for arts policy makers managers administrators and those who would be donors and for serious students of arts and culture management in the academic community
