

Managing scarce resources

- Since resources to produce goods and services are scarce a choice must be made to decide what to produce from them. For example, furniture and houses can be made from timber so a decision needs to be made whether to cultivate trees for furniture or houses.
- Similarly, if a government spends too much money on building skills then it will not be able to spend much on training extra doctors

Businesses must satisfy peoples' wants and needs.

People's needs are limited/finite – they include things that are needed to survive such as food, warmth, shelter and clothing. Others are psychological and emotional needs.

However wants are unlimited/infinite. People constantly aim for a better quality of life, which might include better housing, better health care, education, longer holidays etc.

The novel begins with Richard Papen, a bright but troubled young man, arriving at Hampden College. Richard is immediately drawn to the group of students who call themselves the Classics Club. The club is led by Henry Winter, a brilliant and charismatic young man. Henry is obsessed with Greek mythology and philosophy, and he quickly draws Richard into his world. The other members of the Classics Club are equally as fascinating. Bunny Corcoran is a wealthy and spoiled young man who is always looking for a good time. Charles Tavis is a quiet and reserved young man who is deeply in love with Henry. Camilla Macaulay is a beautiful and intelligent young woman who is drawn to the power and danger of the Classics Club. The students are all deeply in love with Morrow, and they are willing to do anything to please him. Morrow is a complex and mysterious figure, and he seems to be manipulating the students for his own purposes. As the students become more involved with Morrow, they begin to commit increasingly dangerous acts. The Secret History is a brilliant and thrilling novel that will keep you guessing until the very end. The novel is a warning tale about the dangers of obsession and the power of evil.
