Manifesto For Literary Studies:

A Manifesto for Literary Studies Marjorie Garber, 2003 In these provocative essays Marjorie Garber addresses the significance of the study of literature as it pertains directly to the human experience and its capacity to address big public questions

A Taytsh Manifesto Saul Noam Zaritt, 2024-10-01 A Taytsh Manifesto calls for a translational paradigm for Yiddish studies and for the study of modern Jewish culture Saul Noam Zaritt calls for a shift in vocabulary from Yiddish to taytsh in order to promote reading strategies that account for the ways texts named as Jewish move between languages and cultures Yiddish a moniker that became dominant only in the early twentieth century means Jewish and thus marks the language with a single identity of and for a Jewish collective In contrast this book calls attention to an earlier and at one time more common name for the language taytsh which initially means German By using the term taytsh speakers indicated that they were indeed speaking a Germanic language a language that was not entirely their own In time when the word shifted to a verb taytshn it came to mean the act of translation To write or speak in Yiddish is thus to render into taytsh and inhabit the gap between languages A Taytsh Manifesto highlights the cultural porousness that inheres in taytsh and deploys the term as a paradigm that can be applied to a host of modern Jewish cultural formations The book reads three corpora in modern Yiddish culture through the lens of translation Yiddish pulp fiction also known as shund trash the genre of the Yiddish monologue as authored by Sholem Aleichem and other prominent Yiddish writers and the persistence of Yiddish as a language of vulgarity in contemporary U S culture Together these examples help revise current histories of Yiddish while demonstrating the need for new vocabularies to account for the multidirectionality of Jewish culture A Taytsh Manifesto develops a model for identifying in Yiddish and beyond how cultures intertwine how they become implicated in world systems and empire and how they might escape such limiting and oppressive structures

Manifestos for History Sue Morgan, Keith Jenkins, Alun Munslow, 2007-09-12 Written by some of the world's leading historians and theorists of history Manifestos for History draws together a series of manifestos that address the question of what kinds of histories we ought to be considering and making in and for the twenty first century With a foreword by Joanna Bourke and an afterword by Hayden White these manifestos critical innovative reflexive inspirational are absolutely essential reading not just for those embarking on the study of history but for all those who would think seriously about the nature of history in its present and possible future forms This collection establishes a benchmark for all future considerations upon the discourse of history

The European Avant-Garde - A Hundred Years Later, 2024-01-08 The title of this book The European Avant Garde A Hundred Years Later implies the European avant garde took place a century ago that it is a thing of the past However it does not aim to consolidate this position but to question it It addresses temporality as the central dimension related to the notion of the avant garde The book brings forth original revisions of the theories of the avant garde the works of the avant garde the idea of the avant garde as being the vanguard the leading force of change It addresses the returning of the avant garde during the twentieth century and today      The Language of Mass Shooter Manifestos Emily Powell, 2025-05-30 Bringing together scholarship from corpus linguistics forensic linguistics and criminology this book offers a nuanced exploration of moral agency in the pre crime narratives of offenders The volume seeks to complement existing literature in forensic linguistics which often explore criminal narratives elicited after the crime with the benefit of hindsight by examining texts written in the midst of events Analyses draw on a corpus of over 200 000 words of manifestos and diaries written by four lone attackers who perpetrated mass shootings and put together accounts of their lives and the preparation for their crimes Incorporating stylistic approaches to non fiction texts with those from corpus linguistics Powell explores the ways in which these texts influence perpetrators and future offenders and more broadly the role of narrative as it relates to harmful actions A closing section includes a taxonomy of moral agency which may serve as the foundation for future research on understanding agency responsibility and offending from a linguistic perspective This book will be of interest to scholars in forensic linguistics corpus linguistics stylistics and criminology      Caribbean Literature in Transition, 1920-1970: Volume 2 Raphael Dalleo, Curdella Forbes, 2021-01-14 The years between the 1920s and 1970s are key for the development of Caribbean literature producing the founding canonical literary texts of the Anglophone Caribbean This volume features essays by major scholars as well as emerging voices revisiting important moments from that era to open up new perspectives Caribbean contributions to the Harlem Renaissance to the Windrush generation publishing in England after World War II and to the regional reverberations of the Cuban Revolution all feature prominently in this story At the same time we uncover lesser known stories of writers publishing in regional newspapers and journals of pioneering women writers and of exchanges with Canada and the African continent From major writers like Derek Walcott V S Naipaul George Lamming and Jean Rhys to recently recuperated figures like Eric Walrond Una Marson Sylvia Wynter and Ismith Khan this volume sets a course for the future study of Caribbean literature      Poetry of the Revolution Martin Puchner, 2006 Martin Puchner tells the story of political and artistic upheavals through the political manifestos of the 19th and 20th centuries He argues that the manifesto was the genre through which modern culture articulated its revolutionary ambitions and desires      The Romantic Manifesto Larry H. Peer, 1988 The vexed question of what the Romantics themselves said about Romanticism has been approached in a number of different ways but their major public declarations have never been gathered together Indeed with the exception of a few of these such as Stendhal's Racine et Shakespeare this body of evidence has been unavailable to the English speaking audience Many of these manifestos are translated here for the first time the remaining are newly translated for this collection Taken together they show Romanticism as a coherent and unified movement appearing in pulses throughout Eastern and Western Europe in the early nineteenth century with a continual spiritual kinship to Schlegelian origins      Thinking with Literature Terence Cave, 2016-03-18 To speak of thinking with literature is to make the assumption that literature in the broadest sense is neither a side show nor a side issue in human cultures it belongs to the spectrum of imaginative modes that includes both philosophical and scientific thought Whether one regards it as a practice or as an archive literature is highly pervasive robust enduring and pregnant with values Thinking with Literature argues that what it affords above all is a way of thinking whether for writer reader or critic Literature constitutes one of the prime instruments of cultural improvisation it is the embodiment of a powerful inventive and ever changing cognitive agency As such it invites a cognitive mode of criticism one which asserts the priority of the individual literary work as a unique product of human cognition In this book discussions of topics arguments and hypotheses from the cognitive sciences philosophy and the theory of communication are woven into the fabric of a critical analysis which insists on the value of close reading a poem by Yeats a scene from Shakespeare novels by Mme de Lafayette Conrad Frantzen stories from Winnie the Pooh and many others appear here on their own terms with their own cognitive energies Written in an accessible style Thinking with Literature speaks both to mainstream readers of literature and to specialists in cognitive studies

SCM Core Text: The Bible and Literature Alison Jack, 2013-01-25 The first textbook to engage with the crossover between the Bible and literature covering all the key methods of literary criticism and presenting a truly inter disciplinary approach

Arab Film and Video Manifestos Kay Dickinson, 2018-11-30 Arab Film and Video Manifestos presents in their entirety five key documents that have fundamentally shaken up and helped change the face of image culture in the Middle East and beyond The book collects together for the first time these influential collectively written calls and directives that span a fifty year period and hail from a range of different countries Each urges a radical rethinking of film and video s role in culture its relation to politics and its potential to instigate profound change Kay Dickinson carefully positions the manifestos within their broader socio historical contexts and provides supplementary reading and viewing suggestions for readers who cannot access Arabic language sources

Ecopoetic Place-Making Judith Rauscher, 2023-08-04 American ecopoetries of migration explore the conflicted relationships of mobile subjects to the nonhuman world and thus offer valuable environmental insight for our current age of mass mobility and global ecological crisis In Ecopoetic Place Making Judith Rauscher analyzes the works of five contemporary American poets of migration drawing from ecocriticism and mobility studies The poets discussed in her study challenge exclusionary notions of place attachment and engage in ecopoetic place making from different perspectives of mobility testifying to the potential of poetry as a means of conceptualizing alternative environmental imaginaries for our contemporary world on the move      The Transformative Humanities Mikhail Epstein, 2012-10-11 Distinguished scholar Mikhail Epstein offers a re assessment of the role of the humanities and advocates their constructive potential for the society and intellectual culture of the future In his famous classification of the sciences Francis Bacon not only catalogued those branches of knowledge that already existed in his time but also anticipated the new disciplines he believed would emerge in the future the desirable sciences In this open access publication Mikhail Epstein echoes in part Bacon s vision and outlines the desirable disciplines and methodologies that may emerge in the humanities in response to the new realities of the twenty first century Are the humanities a purely scholarly field or should they have some active constructive supplement We know that technology serves as the practical extension of the natural sciences and politics as the extension of the social sciences Both technology and politics are designed to transform what their respective disciplines study objectively The Transformative Humanities A Manifesto addresses the question Is there any activity in the humanities that would correspond to the transformative status of technology and politics It argues that we need a practical branch of the humanities which functions similarly to technology and politics but is specific to the cultural domain The ebook editions of this book are available open access under a CC BY NC ND 4 0 license on bloomsburycollections.com      The Future of Postcolonial Studies Chantal Zabus, 2014-11-20 The Future of Postcolonial Studies celebrates the twenty fifth anniversary of the publication of The Empire Writes Back by the now famous troika Bill Ashcroft Gareth Griffiths and Helen Tiffin When The Empire Writes Back first appeared in 1989 it put postcolonial cultures and their post invasion narratives on the map This vibrant collection of fifteen chapters by both established and emerging scholars taps into this early mapping while merging these concerns with present trends which have been grouped as comparing converting greening post queering and utopia The postcolonial is a centrifugal force that continues to energize globalization transnational diaspora area and queer studies Spanning the colonial period from the 1860s to the present The Future of Postcolonial Studies ventures into other postcolonies outside of the Anglophone purview In reassessing the nation state language race religion sexuality the environment and the very idea of the future this volume reasserts the notion that postcolonial is an anticipatory discourse and bears testimony to the driving energy and thus the future of postcolonial studies      Modern Selfhood in Translation Limin Chi, 2018-09-03 This book examines the development of Chinese translation practice in relation to the rise of ideas of modern selfhood in China from the 1890s to the 1920s The key translations produced by late Qing and early Republican Chinese intellectuals over the three decades in question reflect a preoccupation with new personality ideals informed by foreign models and the healthy development of modern individuality in the face of crises compounded by feelings of cultural inadequacy The book clarifies how these translated works supplied the meanings for new terms and concepts that signify modern human experience and sheds light on the ways in which they taught readers to internalize the idea of the modern as personal experience Through their selection of source texts and their adoption of different translation strategies the translators chosen as case studies championed a progressive view of the world one that was open minded and humanistic The late Qing construction of modern Chinese identity instigated under the imperative of national salvation in the aftermath of the First Sino Japanese War wielded a far reaching influence on the New Culture discourse This book argues that the New Culture translations being largely explorations of modern self consciousness helped to produce an egalitarian cosmopolitan view of modern being This was a view favoured by the majority of mainland intellectuals in the post Maoist 1980s and which has since become an important topic in mainland scholarship

English Literature in Transition, 1880-1920, 2005 Virginia Woolf, Europe, and Peace Peter Adkins, Derek Ryan, 2020-07-09 This volume asks how Woolf conceptualized peace by exploring various experimental forms she created in response to violence and crisis Across fifteen chapters written by an international array of scholars this book draws out theoretical dimensions of Woolf's aesthetics and deepens our understanding of her writing about war ethics feminism and European culture

T&T Clark Handbook of Asian American Biblical Hermeneutics Uriah Y. Kim, Seung Ai Yang, 2019-05-30 The first reference resource on how Asian Americans are currently reading and interpreting the Bible this volume also serves a valuable role in both developing and disseminating what can be termed as Asian American biblical hermeneutics The volume works from the important background that Asian Americans are the fastest growing ethnic racial minority population in the USA and that 42% of this group identifies as Christian This provides a useful starting point from which to examine what may be distinctive about Asian American approaches to the Bible Part 1 of the Handbook describes six major ethnic groups that make up 85% of Asian population by country of origin China Philippines Indian Subcontinent Vietnam Korea Japan and outlines the specific concerns each group has when its members read the Bible Part 2 of the Handbook examines major critical methods in biblical interpretation and suggests adjustments that may be helpful for Asian Americans to make when they are interpreting the Bible Finally Part 3 provides 25 interpretations by Asian American biblical scholars on specific texts in the Bible using what they consider to be Asian American hermeneutics Taken together the Handbook interprets the Bible both with and for the Asian American communities

Narratives of the French Empire Kate Marsh, 2013-08-28 This study interrogates how the French empire was imagined in three literary representations of French colonialism the conquest of Tahiti and the established colonial systems in Martinique and in India The study is the first in either English or French to demonstrate that representations of power relations as well as the broader discourses with which they were linked were as closely concerned with probing the similarities and differences of rival European colonial systems as they were with reinforcing their imagined superiority over the colonized and that such power relations should not be conceptualized as a dualistic categorization of colonizer versus colonized In doing so it aims to go beyond examining the interaction between colonized and colonizer or between colonial centre and periphery and to interrogate instead the circulation of ideas and practices across different sites of European colonialism drawing attention to a historical complexity which has been neglected in the necessary race to recover voices previously occluded from academic analysis In exploring how the notion of the French empire overseas was construed and how it was infused with meaning at three different historical moments 1784 1835 and 1938 it demonstrates how precarious the French empire was perceived to be in terms of both European rivalry and resistance from the colonized and how the rhetoric of a French colonisation douce was pitted against the inscribed excesses of the more powerful British empire Rather than employing the sorts of recuperative agenda which focus on how the colonized were elided viz Subaltern Studies or on the writings of the formerly colonized viz Francophone Studies the study concerns itself specifically with how French colonialism and imperialism were perceived and thus offers a further corrective to any generalizations about European colonialism and imperialism More particularly by examining how the representational strategy of nostalgia is used in these texts the study demonstrates how perceived loss and nostalgia for an imperial past played a role in dynamically shaping the French colonial enterprise across its various manifestations
