River Road Gerald Friesen, 1996-12-03 The prairies are a focal point for momentous events in Canadian history a place where two visions of Canada have often clashed Louis Riel the Manitoba School Question French language rights the 1919 Winnipeg General Strike and the dramatic collapse of the Meech Lake Accord when MLA Elijah Harper voted No Gerald Friesen believes that it is the responsibility of the historian to tell local stories in terms and concepts that make plain their intrinsic value and worth that explain the relationship between the past and the present For local experiences to have any relevant meaning they must be put into the context of the wider world These essays were written for the general reader and the academic historian They include previously published works many of them revised and updated from a wide variety of sources and new pieces written specifically for River Road examining aspects of prairie and Manitoba history from many different perspectives They offer portraits of representatives from different sides of the prairie experience such as Bob Russell radical socialist and leader of the 1919 General Strike and J H Riddell conservative Methodist minister who represented sane and safe stewardship in the 1920s and 1930s They explore the changing relationship between Aboriginal peoples and the dominant society from the prosperous Metis community that flourished along the Red River in the 19th century and produced Manitoba's first Metis premier to the events that led to the Manitoba Aboriginal Justice Inquiry in the 1980s Other essays consider new viewpoints of the prairie past using the perspectives of ethnic and cultural history women's history regional history and labour history to raise questions of interpretation and context The time frame considered is equally wide ranging from the Aboriginal and Red River society to the political arena of current constitutional debates

Reflections on Canada's Past, Present and Future in International Law/Réflexions sur le passé, le présent et l'avenir du Canada en droit international Oonagh E. Fitzgerald, Valerie Hughes, Mark Jewett, 2018-06-30 Marking 150 years since Confederation provides an opportunity for Canadian international law practitioners and scholars to reflect on Canada's rich history in international law and governance where we find ourselves today in the community of nations and how we might help shape a future in which Canada's rules based and progressive approach to international law gains ascendancy This collection of essays each written in the official language chosen by the authors provides a thoughtful perspective on Canada's past and present in international law surveys the challenges that lie before us and offers renewed focus for Canada's pursuit of global justice and the rule of law Part I explores the history and practice of international law including sources of international law Indigenous treaties international treaty diplomacy domestic reception of international law and Parliament's role in international law Part II explores Canada's role in international law governance and innovation in the broad fields of economic environmental and intellectual property law Part III explores Canadian perspectives on developments in international human rights and humanitarian law including judicial implementation of these obligations international labour law business and human rights international criminal law war crimes child soldiers and gender Reflections on Canada's Past

Present and Future in International Law R flexions sur le pass le pr sent et l avenir du Canada en droit international demonstrates the pivotal role that Canada has played in the development of international law and signals the essential contributions the country is poised to make in the future Local Content and Sustainable Development in Global Energy Markets Damilola S. Olawuyi, 2021-03-04 Local Content and Sustainable Development in Global Energy Markets analyses the topical and contentious issue of the critical intersections between local content requirements LCRs and the implementation of sustainable development treaties in global energy markets including Africa Asia Europe North America Latin America South America Australasia and the Middle East While LCRs generally aim to boost domestic value creation and economic growth inappropriately designed LCRs could produce negative social human rights and environmental outcomes and a misalignment of a country s fiscal policies and global sustainable development goals These unintended outcomes may ultimately serve as disincentive to foreign participation in a country s energy market This book outlines the guiding principles of a sustainable and rights based approach focusing on transparency accountability gender justice and other human rights issues to the design application and implementation of LCRs in global energy markets to avoid misalignments

Aboriginal Peoples in Canadian Cities Heather A. Howard, Craig Proulx, 2011-04-12 Since the 1970s Aboriginal people have been more likely to live in Canadian cities than on reserves or in rural areas Aboriginal rural to urban migration and the development of urban Aboriginal communities represent one of the most significant shifts in the histories and cultures of Aboriginal peoples in Canada The essays in Aboriginal Peoples in Canadian Cities Transformations and Continuities are from contributors directly engaged in urban Aboriginal communities they draw on extensive ethnographic research on and by Aboriginal people and their own lived experiences The interdisciplinary studies of urban Aboriginal community and identity collected in this volume offer narratives of unique experiences and aspects of urban Aboriginal life They provide innovative perspectives on cultural transformation and continuity and demonstrate how comparative examinations of the diversity within and across urban Aboriginal experiences contribute to broader understandings of the relationship between Aboriginal peoples and the Canadian state and to theoretical debates about power dynamics in the production of community and in processes of identity formation

Disability Politics in a Global Economy Ravi Malhotra, 2016-07-15 While the visibility of disability studies has increased in recent years few have thoroughly examined the marginalization of people with disabilities through the lens of political economy This was the great contribution of Marta Russell 1951 2013 an activist and prominent scholar in the United States and best known for her analyses of the issues faced by people with disabilities This book examines the legacy of Marta Russell bringing together distinguished scholars and activists such as Anne Finger Nirmala Erevelles and Mark Weber to explicate current issues relevant to the empowerment of people with disabilities Drawing from various fields including Law Political Economy Education and History the book takes a truly interdisciplinary approach offering a body of work that develops a dextrous understanding of the marginalization of people with disabilities The book

Land and the Liberal Project Éléna Choquette, 2024-05-15 Canada was a small country in 1867 but within twenty years its claims to sovereignty spanned the continent With Confederation came the vaunting ambition to create an empire from sea to sea How did Canada lay claim to so much land so quickly Land and the Liberal Project examines the tactics deployed by Canadian officialdom from the first articulation of expansionism in 1857 to the consolidation of authority following the 1885 North West Resistance Ina Choquette contends that although the dominion purported to absorb Indigenous lands through constitutionalism administration and law it often resorted to force in the face of Indigenous resistance She investigates the liberal concept that underpinned land appropriation and legitimized violence Indigenous territory and people were to be improved the former by agrarian capitalism the latter by enforced schooling By rethinking this tainted approach to nation making Choquette's clear eyed expos of the Canadian expansionist project offers new ways to understand colonization

Justice, Indigenous Peoples, and Canada Kathryn M. Campbell, Stephanie

Wellman, 2023-12-19 Justice Indigenous Peoples and Canada A History of Courage and Resilience brings together the work of a number of leading researchers to provide a broad overview of criminal justice issues that Indigenous people in Canada have faced historically and continue to face today Both Indigenous and Canadian scholars situate current issues of justice for Indigenous peoples broadly defined within the context of historical realities and ongoing developments By examining how justice is defined both from within Indigenous communities and outside of them this volume examines the force of Constitutional reform and subsequent case law on Indigenous rights historically and in contemporary contexts It then expands the discussion to include theoretical considerations particularly settler colonialism that help explain how ongoing oppressive and assimilationist agendas continue to affect how so called justice is administered From a critical perspective the book examines the operation of the criminal justice system through bail specialized courts policing sentencing incarceration and release It explores legal frameworks as well as current issues that have significantly affected Indigenous peoples such as the Truth and Reconciliation Commission the Inquiry into Missing and Murdered Indigenous Women and Girls human rights resurgence and identity This unique collection of perspectives exposes the disconcerting agenda of historical and modern day Canadian federal government policy and the continued denial of Indigenous rights to self determination It is essential reading for those interested in the struggles of the Indigenous peoples in Canada as well as anyone studying race crime and justice

Contemporary Issues in Global Criminal Justice Ed Johnston, Sophie Marsh, 2022-08-22 Contemporary Issues in Global Criminal Justice provides a holistic analysis of modern criminal justice issues encompassing the pre trial investigative and post conviction stages of criminal justice in legal settings across the world The contributors acknowledge and examine the vast array of challenges in global criminal justice from the role of the International Criminal Court to policing the integration of technology and how marginalized groups such as sex workers and those with addictions are treated in the courts With contributions from scholars in England and Wales New Zealand Croatia Spain the Netherlands Canada and The Republic of North Macedonia this book is not limited to one jurisdiction and highlights that criminal justice is very much a global issue in a state of crisis From policing to the courts it is in urgent need of reform Without a competent criminal justice system justice does not exist This book would be of interest to scholars in the legal criminal justice and criminology fields

The Responsive Judge Tania Sourdin, Archie Zariski, 2018-07-06 This book focuses on the changing role of judges in courts tribunals and other forums across a variety of jurisdictions With contributions by international experts in judicial administration and senior judicial figures it provides a unique comparative perspective on the role of modern judges in a rapidly evolving environment and the pressures of effective judicial administration The chapters are sourced from a Collaborative Research Network focused on innovations in judging and sponsored by the international Law and Society Association The book provides essential insights and perspectives for judges judicial officers and administrators allowing them to respond to the challenges of the twenty first century It is also a valuable resource for legal practitioners and judicial experts shedding light on the role of the modern judge and the strategies they employ
