What We Are: The Evolutionary Roots of Our Future

Lonnie Aarssen,2022-07-05 Other animals are driven to spend essentially their whole lives just trying to get fed stay alive and get laid That s about it The same was true for our proto human ancestors And modern humans of course also require a Survival Drive and a Sex Drive in order to leave descendants But today we spend most of our lives mainly just trying to convince ourselves that our existence is not absurd In What We Are Queen s University biologist Lonnie Aarssen traces how our biocultural evolution has shaped Homo sapiens into the only creature that refuses to be what it is the only creature preoccupied with a deeply ingrained and absurd sentiment I have a distinct mental life an inner self that exists separately and apart from material life and so unlike the latter need not come to an end This delusion conceivably gave our distant ancestors some wishful thinking for finding some measure of relief from the terrifying uniquely human knowledge of the eventual loss of corporeal survival But this came with an impulsive nagging doubt an obsessive underlying uncertainty self impermanence anxiety Biocultural evolution however was not finished It also gave us two additional uniquely human primal drives both serving to help quell the burden of this anxiety Legacy Drive generates delusional cultural domains for extension of self and Leisure Drive generates pleasurable cultural domains for distraction escape from self Legacy Drive and Leisure Drive Aarssen argues represent two of the most profound consequences of human cognitive and cultural evolution What We Are advances propositions regarding how a visceral susceptibility to self impermanence anxiety has paradoxically played a pivotal role in rewarding the reproductive success of our ancestors and has thus been a driving force in shaping fundamental motivations and cultural norms of modern humans More than any other milestone in the evolution of human minds self impermanence anxiety and its mitigating Drives for Legacy and Leisure account for not just the advance of civilization over the past many thousands of years but also now its impending collapse Effective management of this crisis Aarssen insists will require a deeper and more broadly public understanding of its Darwinian evolutionary roots as laid out in What We Are

Sexual Selection and the Descent of Man Bernard Campbell,2017-07-12 Just over one hundred and thirty years ago Charles Darwin in The Descent of Man and Selection in Relation to Sex 1871 developed remarkably accurate conclusions about man s ancestry based on a review of general comparative anatomy and psychology in which he regarded sexual selection as a necessary part of the evolutionary process But the attention of biologists turned to the more general concept of natural selection in which sexual selection plays a complex role that has been little understood This volume significantly broadens the scope of modern evolutionary biology by looking at this important and long neglected concept of great importance In this book which is the first full discussion of sexual selection since 1871 leading biologists bring modern genetic theory and behavior observation to bear on the subject The distinguished authors consider many aspects of sexual selection in many species including man within the context of contemporary evolutionary theory and research The result is a remarkably original and well rounded view of the whole concept that will be invaluable especially to students of evolution and human sexual behavior The lucid authority of the contributors and the importance of the topic will interest all who share in man s perennial fascination with his own history The book will be of central importance to a wide variety of professionals including biologists anthropologists and geneticists It will be an invaluable supplementary text for courses in vertebrate biology theory of evolution genetics and physical anthropology It is especially important with the emergence of alternative explanations of human development under the rubric of creationism and doctrines of intelligent design Mankind

Space Travelers and the Genesis of the Human Form Joan D'Arc,2000 Can Darwinian evolution actually prove that we are alone in the Universe This book illustrates that Darwinian evolution is not an empirically predictable or testable scientific paradigm Also shows that ancient artifacts on Mars and the Moon are evidence of Game Wardens in our own solar system Could the Earth be a controlled DNA repository for the ongoing creation and dissemination of life forms including humans The author puts forth compelling evidence in this well researched work Early Humans and Their World Bo
