Crip Authority Elizabeth Bearden, 2025-09-22 Crip Authority explores how Renaissance writers and artists with disabilities drew on consolatory literature to enhance their authority and create a sense of disability community across the centuries Elizabeth B Bearden considers how Renaissance writers and artists understood their lived experiences of disability by drawing on the ancient genre of consolation which aims to comfort people for a variety of hardships including mental and physical disability Renaissance writers used the art of consolation to resignify the mental and physical disabilities that their society frequently scorned into an expression of their military spiritual political and most importantly for this study writerly authority Bearden names this kind of defiant authorial self representation crip authority thereby transgressively crippling our society's ableist notions of who has the ability and authority to write Disabled authors include Francesco Petrarca Teresa de Cartagena Giovanni Paolo Lomazzo Miguel de Cervantes Saavedra Robert Burton and John Milton They all explore their experiences of disability but their work has rarely or never been considered from a disability studies perspective Bearden thus brings today's models of disability studies and crip theory together with early modern articulations of disability based on ancient and Renaissance models of military political biblical and literary authority In sum Crip Authority makes a significant contribution to the growing field of early modern disability studies and invites us to rethink the extent of crip history and the endurance of disability gain

Monteverdi and the End of the Renaissance Gary Tomlinson, 1990-07-09 Combining a close study of Monteverdi's secular works with recent research on late Renaissance history Gary Tomlinson places the composer's creative career in its broad cultural context and illuminates the state of Italian music poetry and ideology in the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries

Writing Borderless Histories of Art Claire Farago, 2025-06-30 Writing Borderless Histories of Art is an aspirational historical and critical project that offers a fundamental rethinking of the relationship of humans to the rest of nature Social justice Indigeneity abuses of power and the environmental crisis are the burning issues of today A transcultural approach calls for abandoning structures of domination that are built into the academic disciplines regardless of the scale or extent of interpretation Drawing upon writings from a wide range of fields Claire Farago argues that Art History can play a role in advancing the public's interconnectedness with the planetary life support system that so urgently needs to be restored Studying the discourse on art at the intersection of global capitalism environmental degradation and human subjection over four centuries Writing Borderless Histories of Art advocates ontologies that do not distinguish between the sentience of humans and other animals and go beyond the dualistic metaphysics of the nature culture divide While this book is addressed to a wide audience its multilayered approach also reaches out to art historians for whom chronology canons and style are structures fundamental to the organization and operation of the discipline The book is neither a history of ideas nor a search for the origins of art history but a recognition of the structures that drive its narratives

Severo Sarduy and the Neo-baroque Image of Thought in the Visual Arts Rolando Perez, 2012 Severo Sarduy never enjoyed the same level of notoriety as did other Latin American writers On the other hand he never lacked for excellent critical interpretations of his work from critics like Roberto González Echevarría René Prieto Gustavo Guerrero and other reputable scholars Missing however from what is otherwise an impressive body of critical commentary is a study of the importance of painting and architecture first to his theory and second to his creative work In order to fill this lacuna in Sarduy studies Rolando Pérez's book undertakes a critical approach to Sarduy's essays Barroco Escrito sobre un cuerpo Barroco y neobarroco and La simulación from the standpoint of art history In short no book on Sarduy until now has traced the multifaceted art historical background that informed the work of this challenging and exciting writer It will be a book that many a critic of Sarduy and the Latin American baroque will consult in years to come The Cumulative Book Index, 1965 A world list of books in the English language Framing Pictures Steven Jacobs, 2012-08-27 Steven Jacobs book provides a unique critical intervention into a relatively new area of scholarship the multidisciplinary topic of film and the visual arts Technology and Psychological Well-being Yair Amichai-Hamburger, 2009-09-10 This book considers the impact of technology on our lives and ways to ensure technology enhances rather than damages our psychological well being The Oxford Dictionary of Art and Artists Ian Chilvers, 2009 Atlantic Brief Lives, 1971 *Catalog of Copyright Entries.
