Manners And Meaning In West Sumatra The Social Context Of Consciousness:

Manners and Meaning in West Sumatra Frederick Karl Errington, 1984 Manners and Meaning in West Sumatra Frederick K. Errington, 1997-05-01 The Minangkabau of West Sumatra have long been prominent in the political economic in so doing it addresses the question of how meaning is created expressed within a particular social context Meaning is for them conveyed through signs rather than through symbols Understanding Witchcraft and Sorcery in Southeast Asia C. W. Watson, R. F. Ellen, 1993-01-01 Witchcraft holds a perennial fascination for scholars and the public at large In Southeast Asia malign magic and sorcery are part of the routine experience of villagers and urban dwellers alike and stories appearing in the press from time to time bear witness to a persisting public concern The essays presented in this volume describe what people believe and what actions result from those beliefs Not surprisingly given the range and variety of cultures considerable differences exist in the region Among some cultures in Thailand and Indonesia for example sorcerers are said to possess spirits that empower them to cause illness and misfortune Elsewhere in Malaysia and Sumatra the power of the dukun derives from the accumulation of arcane knowledge and mystical practice Contributors describe the witches and sorcerers they have met and suggest both how their societies look upon them and how we in turn should regard them Understanding Witchcraft and Sorcery in Southeast Asia will appeal to scholars and students of social anthropology and comparative religion Its substantial contribution to theoretical and comparative issues in a Southeast Asian context provides a fresh perspective on a stimulating topic Reason and Passion Michael G. Peletz, 2022-07-15 This book provides a historical and ethnographic examination of gender relations in Malay society in particular in the well known state of Negeri Sembilan famous for its unusual mixture of Islam and matrilineal descent Peletz analyzes the diverse ways in which the evocative heavily gendered symbols of reason and passion are deployed by Malay Muslims Unlike many studies of gender this book elucidates the cultural and political processes implicated in the constitution of both feminine and masculine identity It also scrutinizes the relationship between gender and kinship and weighs the role of ideology in everyday life Peletz insists on the importance of examining gender systems not as social isolates but in relation to other patterns of hierarchy and social difference His study is historical and comparative it also explores the political economy of contested symbols and meanings More than a treatise on gender and social change in a Malay society this book presents a valuable and deeply interesting model for the analysis of gender and culture by addressing issues of hegemony and cultural domination at the heart of contemporary cultural studies This title is part of UC Press's Voices Revived program which commemorates University of California Press's mission to seek out and cultivate the brightest minds and give them voice reach and impact Drawing on a backlist dating to 1893 Voices Revived makes high quality peer reviewed scholarship accessible once again using print on demand technology This title was originally published in 1996 Theater and Martial Arts in West Sumatra Kirstin Pauka, 1998-12-01 Randai the popular folk theater tradition of the

Minangkabau ethnic group in West Sumatra has evolved to include influences of martial arts storytelling and folk songs Theater and Martial Arts in West Sumatra describes the origin development and cultural background of randai and highlights two recent developments the emergence of female performers and modern staging techniques This book also explores the indigenous martial arts form silek a vital part of randai today The strong presence of silek is illustrated in the martial focus of the stories that are told through randai in its movement repertoire and even in its costumes and musical accompaniment As Kirstin Pauka shows randai firmly rooted in silek and Minangkabau tradition is an intriguing mirror of the Minangkabau culture

Dance and the Body Politic in Northern Greece Jane K. Cowan, 2016-09-29 Valued for their sensual and social intensity Greek dance events are often also problematical for participants giving rise to struggles over position prestige and reputation Here Jane Cowan explores how the politics of gender is articulated through the body at these culturally central yet until now ethnographically neglected celebrations in a class divided northern Greek town Portraying the dance event as both a highly structured and dynamic social arena she approaches the human body not only as a sign to be deciphered but as a site of experience and an agent of practice In describing the multiple ideologies of person gender and community that townspeople embody and explore as they dance Cowan presents three different settings the traditional wedding procession the Europeanized formal evening dance of local civic associations and the private party She examines the practices of eating drinking talking gifting and dancing and the verbal discourse through which celebrants make sense of each other's actions Paying particular attention to points of tension and moments of misunderstanding she analyzes in what ways these social situations pose different problems for men and women

Maria Agnes R. Quisumbing, 2001-01-01 How do women s land rights change as customary tenure systems give way to individualized land tenure While the individualization of land rights creates incentives for poor farmers in marginal areas to adopt agroforestry not much is known about its impact on women s land rights Land Trees and Women examines the evolution of customary land tenure institutions in areas of Western Ghana and Western Sumatra where traditional matrilineal inheritance systems have been changing In these two areas the authors find that individualization of land tenure has contributed to both increased gender equity and greater efficiency in agroforestry management While property rights institutions are moving toward providing proper incentives for efficient natural resource management the authors conclude that any program or legal framework that assigns rights to resources must be evaluated for barriers to women s participation

Making History Robert Borofsky, 1987 Making History begins with a puzzle In 1976 the inhabitants of Pukapuka a Polynesian island in the South Pacific revived a traditional form of social organization that several authoritative Pukapukan informants claimed to have experienced previously in their youth Yet five professional anthropologists who conducted research on the island prior to 1976 do not mention it in any of their writings Had the Pukapukans invented a new tradition

Or had the anthropologists collectively erred in not recording an old one In unraveling this puzzle Robert Borofsky compares two different ways of making history two different ways of constructing knowledge about the past He examines the dynamic nature of Pukapukan knowledge focusing on how Pukapukans in the process of learning and validating their traditions continually change them He also shows how anthropologists in the process of writing about such traditions for Western audiences often overstructure them emphasizing uniformity at the expense of diversity stasis at the expense of change As well as being of interest for what it reveals about Pukapukan and more generally Polynesian culture Making History helps clarify important strengths and limitations of the anthropological approach It provides valuable insights into both the anthropological construction of knowledge and the nature of anthropological understanding

Constituting Unity and Difference M. Vellinga, 2021-10-25 The vernacular architecture of the Minangkabau in Sumatra constitutes one of the most popular and well known building traditions in contemporary Indonesia Yet despite its fame Minangkabau architecture has received remarkably little scholarly attention What is known about the building tradition does not go beyond the romanticized popular image of high rising roof spires floor elevations and colourful woodcarvings promoted by the government the tourist industry and the media This image leaves too many questions about the meaning of Minangkabau architecture unanswered Constituting Unity and difference refines supplements and revises the popular image Focusing on the construction design and spatial use of vernacular houses in one region of West Sumatra and taking into account historical developments and geographical variation the author explores how vernacular Minangkabau houses are instrumental in the constitution perpetuation and manipulation of socio political relationships and identities He concludes that the current popular image of Minangkabau architecture is seriously in need of revision Anthropologists architects and those interested in Indonesian cultural history or vernacular architecture studies will value this in depth analysis of one of the country s most striking and popular building traditions
