International Labour Migration in the Middle East and Asia Kwen Fee Lian, Naomi Hosoda, Masako Ishii, 2019-08-22 The discourse on migration outcomes in the West has largely been dominated by issues of integration but it is more relevant to view immigration in non Western societies in relation to practices of exclusion and inclusion Exclusion refers to a situation in which individuals and groups are usually denied access to the goods services activities and resources associated with citizenship However this approach has been criticised in relation to gender issues which are very relevant to the situation of migrants The authors in this volume address this criticism Furthermore when framed within a North South discourse it may be potentially ethnocentric to assume that the experience of exclusion is cross culturally uniform Indeed work on migration issues has invariably been conducted within such a discourse The contributors go beyond this binary discourse of exclusion versus inclusion which has dominated migration research They examine the situation of migrants in the Middle East and Asia as one that encompasses both exclusion and inclusion addressing related concepts of empowerment ethnocracy the feminisation of migration and gendered geographies of power liberal constraint and multiculturalism individual agency migrant friendly discourses spaces of emancipation and spaces of insecurity The book highlights current research in the Arab Gulf states and examines multiculturalism in Asia more broadly It will be of particular interest to students and researchers in international labour migration studies in the Middle East and Asia

Change and Development in the Gulf A. Abdelkarim, 1999-01-29 Processes of change stagnation and development in the countries of the Gulf Co operation Council are analyzed in this book The contributors show impact of oil revenues on population change and social development and on redefining the socio economic role of the state Oil could open venues for industrialization and development However lack of population policies problems of human resources development the rather slow change in gender relations and in political systems and heavy spending on militarization it is argued could impede development endeavour

Oil and the political economy in the Middle East Martin Beck, Thomas Richter, 2021-08-17 The downhill slide in the global price of crude oil which started mid 2014 had major repercussions across the Middle East for net oil exporters as well as importers closely connected to the oil producing countries from the Gulf Following the Arab uprisings of 2010 and 2011 the oil price decline represented a second major shock for the region in the early twenty first century one that has continued to impose constraints but also provided opportunities Offering the first comprehensive analysis of the Middle Eastern political economy in response to the 2014 oil price decline this book connects oil market dynamics with an understanding of socio political changes Inspired by rentierism the contributors present original studies on Bahrain Egypt Jordan Kuwait Lebanon Oman Qatar Saudi Arabia and the United Arab Emirates The studies reveal a large diversity of country specific policy adjustment strategies from the migrant workers in the Arab Gulf who lost out in the post 2014 period but were incapable of repelling burdensome adjustment policies to Egypt Jordan and Lebanon who have never been able to fulfil the expectation that they could benefit from the 2014 oil price decline With timely contributions on the COVID 19 induced oil price crash in 2020 this collection signifies that rentierism still prevails with regard to both empirical dynamics in the Middle East and academic discussions on its political economy

Koreans in the Persian Gulf Shirzad Azad, 2015-11-19 Analyzing the Korean Peninsula s contemporary engagement with the Persian Gulf region from the 1950s to the present day the book begins by asking the following question What drew Koreans to the region in the first place and under what circumstances were they drawn there While taking into account a combination of both external and internal factors shaping the dynamics of the Korean Peninsula s interactions with the Persian Gulf region this book largely concentrates on the agency factor to analyze the nature and scope of a rather multifaceted relationship between the two areas The Republic of Korea has in fact maintained diverse connections to every single country in the Persian Gulf over the past several decades and its rather considerable activities and accomplishments in the region all justify such an overwhelming focus The Democratic People s Republic of Korea s record in the Persian Gulf however is mostly limited to its relationship with Iran though Pyongyang has pursued relationships with some other states in the region This book studies the elements of Pyongyang s actions in the region as an appendage to South Korea s various political and economic achievements Employing a process tracing approach this book will be of interest to policymakers as well as to students and scholars of

The Global Competitiveness of Regions Robert Huggins, Hiro Izushi, Daniel Prokop, Piers Thompson, 2014-06-27 The aim of this book is to consider theoretically the notion of the global competitiveness of regions as well as giving attention as to how such competitiveness may be empirically measured With this in mind the book has three specific objectives first to place the concept of regional competitiveness within the context of regional economic development theory second to present a rationale and method for quantifying the global competitiveness of regions and third to undertake the most geographically widespread analysis of regional competitiveness differences across the globe With regard to the third goal the analysis incorporates more than 500 regions across Europe North and South America Asia Pacific the Middle East and the so called BRIC economies of Brazil Russia India and China The importance of the concept of competitiveness has increased rapidly in recent years with the issues surrounding it becoming at the same time more empirically refined and theoretically complex The focus on regions reflects the growing consensus that they are the primary spatial units that compete to attract investment and it is at the regional level that knowledge is circulated and transferred resulting in agglomerations or clusters of industrial and service sector enterprises This growing acknowledgement of the region s role as a key spatial unit of organisation has led to attention turning to competitiveness at a more regional level The book explores the results of the World Competitiveness Index of Regions WCIR covering the rankings and results of the 2014 edition The WCIR provides a tool for analysing the development of a range of regional economies across the globe It enables an illustration of the changing patterns of regional competitiveness on the international stage to be generated In fundamental terms the WCIR aims to produce an integrated and overall benchmark of the knowledge capacity capability and sustainability of each region and the extent to which this knowledge is translated into economic value and transferred into the wealth of the citizens of each region
