Children's Defense Fund and author of The Measure of Our Success presents prayers and meditations to inspire all those such as parents, teachers and ministers who work on the behalf of children. Marian Wright Edelman, founder and president of the Children's Defense Fund, is one of the most important moral leaders in America. Her first book The Measure of Our Success was a #1 New York Times bestseller, spending 16 weeks on the list, selling more than 450,000 copies and garnering spectacular praise from Hillary Clinton, Maya Angelou and Oprah Winfrey. Guide My Feet continues her crusade for the well-being of America's children by providing a counterweight to the lesson society is teaching this generation of children to be soulless takers instead of empowered givers. Guide My Feet is a collection of prayers and meditations gathered from Edelman's own holiday rituals and experiences and the writings of such inspiring leaders as Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., Gandhi and Frederick Douglass. It urges readers to commit to and pray for strength and patience and offers solace and direction for parents troubled by the commercialism and violence running rampant in today's society. Filled with wisdom, compassion and understanding, it provides an important spiritual and moral resource all caregivers can turn to as they strive to instill values, integrity, self-discipline and faith in children.

Dead on My Feet Lynn R. Wingert, 1998 When a well-known Wesley banker is killed on her doorstep, Claire Maxwell's day goes downhill fast, especially when she's considered a prime suspect. Although it's unlikely that Claire's brother, Chief Jack Maxwell, really believes she had anything to do with it, she doesn't like any possible connection between her and a dead man. Besides being perpetually dateless, everyone in Wesley already knows that lately most of her dates have been more dead than alive. In an effort to clear her name, Claire is soon on the hunt for the real killer. She quickly finds all kinds of other possible suspects, all in her humble opinion with way better reasons than she has to kill Mr. Berger. The suspects are plenty, and Claire begins to hear things about the victim that she wishes she had never heard. In the spirit of Agatha Christie and Sir Arthur Conan Doyle, this humorous murder mystery is full of twists and turns that will keep the reader guessing the killer's identity until the very last page.

Beneath My Feet Phil Jenkins, 2009-01-13 George Mercer Dawson is a towering figure in Canadian history and science as the man who led the Geological Survey during its exploration of the Canadian West, mostly from horseback or from a canoe. A tough job for anyone, it was an extraordinary achievement for Dawson. Born in 1849, Dawson was crippled by a childhood illness that left him hunchbacked and in constant pain. He never grew taller than a young boy, and he never let his disabilities stop him. An avid photographer, amateur painter, professional geologist and botanist, and by necessity an ethnographer, Dawson wrote constantly: poetry, journals, reports, notes, and more than five thousand letters, his first at the age of six and his last just two days before he died in 1901. But Dawson never wrote his memoirs. So a century after his death, Phil Jenkins has lent him a hand. Using Dawson's own words and filling in the gaps in Dawson's voice, Jenkins presents the man who left his heart in western Canada. Their countless stories, from witnessing the last great buffalo stampede to encountering the timeless customs of the Haida, evoke the real excitement of the age of exploration. Dawson knew the pain of unrequited love, suffered the bite of a million mosquitoes, and yet he travelled on over mountainous physical odds to become one of the most respected and enjoyed of Victorian Canadians in the thought provoking times of Dickens and Darwin Fear Drive My Feet Peter Ryan, 2015-06-24 Fear Drive My Feet is Peter Ryan's enduring account of his time patrolling isolated regions of New Guinea during World War II. Far from his fellow Australians and with Japanese forces closing in around him, the eighteen-year-old Ryan endures the hardships of the jungle, overcoming loneliness, fatigue, and fear with quiet courage. He finds beauty in the rugged mountain landscapes of New Guinea and admires the charm and resourcefulness of its people. Rarely out of print in the past four decades, Fear Drive My Feet is a classic memoir of the war in the Pacific, a major work of Australian war literature. For the work he describes in this book, Peter Ryan was awarded the Military Medal and mentioned in dispatches. Peter Ryan has been a newspaper columnist, the director of Melbourne University Press, and an officer of the Victorian Supreme Court. He was an intelligence operative behind enemy lines in New Guinea in World War II. He lives in Melbourne. Outstanding Peter Pierce: A moving account of a young man's lonely heroism. Edward Weary Dunlop.
