Ontario's Cattle Kingdom Margaret Elsinor Derry,2001-01-01 The story of the purebred cattle breeders world includes nineteenth century medical opinions and strategies for disease control the evolution of cattle associations and the development of state regulation

Art and Science in Breeding Margaret Derry,2012-01-21 Chickens are now the most scientifically engineered of livestock How have the methods used by geneticists differed from those employed by domestic breeders over time Art and Science in Breeding details the relationship between farm practices and agricultural genetics in poultry breeding from 1850 to 1960 Margaret E Derry traces the history and organization of chicken breeding in North America from craft approaches and breeding as an art to the conflicts that had emerged between traditional and scientific methods by the 1940s Derry assesses links between the scientific revolution of chicken farming and the development of corporate breeding as a modern international industry Using poultry as a case study for the wider narrative of agricultural genetics Art and Science in Breeding adds considerable knowledge to a rapidly growing field of inquiry

Ontario Since Confederation Edgar-Andre Montigny,Lori Chambers,2000-12-15 Ontario Since Confederation contains some of the most recent scholarship in the field of post Confederation Ontario history This comprehensive collection the first of its kind to be published in almost a decade is intended primarily to introduce students to new areas of debate and new methodologies in Ontario history The articles range widely over the political economic and social history of the province encompassing both traditional and newly emerging topics They focus on the theme of state and society describing and articulating the interactions between social values and ideals political action and government bureaucracies from diverse perspectives The collection raises fundamental questions about the role nature and development of the modern bureaucratic state How pervasive was the influence of the state Does the state determine or reflect social values To what degree and in what manner could the powers of the state successfully be resisted Focusing specifically on Ontario history contributors address the paradoxical relationship between provincial and national history Some essays explore the influence of the federal government on the province in areas such as pollution management native rights and welfare Other chapters discuss issues of interracial relationships the family and unwed motherhood The variety of topics and approaches represented in this collection attests to the diversity of Ontario and the rich social fabric of its history

Horse Breeds and Human Society Kristen Guest,Monica Mattfeld,2019-11-26 This book demonstrates how horse breeding is entwined with human societies and identities It explores issues of lineage purity and status by exploring interconnections between animals and humans The quest for purity in equine breed reflects and evolves alongside human subjectivity shaped by categories of race gender class region and nation Focusing on various horse breeds from the Chincoteague Pony to Brazilian Crioulo and the Arabian horse each chapter in this collection considers how human and animal identities are shaped by practices of breeding and categorizing domesticated animals Bringing together different historical geographical and disciplinary perspectives this book will appeal to academics as well as undergraduate and postgraduate students in the fields of human animal studies sociology environmental studies cultural studies history and literature

Bred for Perfection Margaret E. Derry, 2003-11-11 How did animal breeding emerge as a movement Who took part and for what reasons How do the pedigree and market systems work What light might the movement shed on the assumptions behind human eugenics In Bred for Perfection Margaret Derry provides the most comprehensive and accessible book yet published on the human quest to improve and develop livestock Derry herself a breeder and trained historian of science explores the triangle of genetics eugenics and practical breeding focusing on Shorthorn cattle show dogs and working dogs and one type of purebred horse the Arabian By examining specific breeders and the animals they produced she illuminates the role of technology genetics culture and economics in the system of purebred breeding Bred for Perfection also provides the historical context in which this system arose adding to our understanding of how domestication works and how our welfare since the dawn of time has been intertwined with the lives of animals

Cultivating Community Jodey Nurse, 2022-02-22 For close to two hundred years families and individuals across Ontario have travelled down country roads and gathered to enjoy seasonal agricultural fairs Though some features of township and county fairs have endured for generations these community events have also undergone significant transformations since 1850 especially in terms of women s participation Cultivating Community tells the story of how women s involvement became critical to agricultural fairs growth and prosperity By examining women s diverse roles as agricultural society members fair exhibitors performers volunteers and fairgoers Jodey Nurse shows that women used fairs manifold nature to present different versions of rural womanhood Although traditional domestic skills and handicrafts such as baking needlework and flower arrangement remained the domain of women throughout this period women steadily enlarged their sphere of influence on the fairgrounds By the mid twentieth century they had staked out a place in venues previously closed to them including the livestock show ring the athletic field and the boardroom Through a wealth of fascinating stories and colourful detail Cultivating Communities adds a new dimension to the social and cultural history of rural women placing their activities at the centre of the agricultural fair

Masterminding Nature Margaret Derry, 2015-03-27 In Masterminding Nature Margaret Derry examines the evolution of modern animal breeding from the invention of improved breeding methodologies in eighteenth century England to the application of molecular genetics in the 1980s and 1990s A clear and concise introduction to the science and practice of artificial selection Derry s book puts the history of breeding in its scientific commercial and social context Masterminding Nature explains why animal breeders continued to use eighteenth century techniques well into the twentieth century why the chicken industry was the first to use genetics in its breeding programs and why it was the dairy cattle industry that embraced quantitative genetics and artificial insemination in the 1970s as well as answering many other questions Following the story right up to the present the book concludes with an insightful analysis of today s complex relationships between biology industry and ethics

Intellectual Property and the Design of Nature Jose Bellido, Brad Sherman, 2023-08-24 Intellectual property law has been interacting with nature for over two centuries. Despite this long history, this relationship has largely been ignored. Intellectual Property and the Design of Nature fills this gap by bringing together scholars from different disciplines to examine the important role that nature plays in intellectual property law. Based on the idea that many contemporary issues require a better understanding of these historical interactions, the book reflects on the ways intellectual property law has engaged with and understood nature in the past. The varied contributions show how the relationship between nature and intellectual property law is often more complex, permeable, and porous than is commonly recognized. Intellectual Property and the Design of Nature demonstrates the complex and changing role that nature has played in the history of intellectual property law. Each of the chapters casts a new light on these connections. A compelling read for everyone interested in exploring new perspectives in the field of intellectual property.

Educating the Neglected Majority Richard A. Jarrell, 2016-05-01 Educating the Neglected Majority is Richard Jarrell's pioneering survey of the attempt to develop and diffuse agricultural and technical education in nineteenth-century Canada's most populous regions. It explores the efforts and achievements of educators, legislators, and manufacturers as they responded to the rapid changes resulting from the Industrial Revolution. Identifying the resources that the state, philanthropic organizations, private schools, moral reform societies, and churches harnessed to implement technical education for the rural and industrial working classes, Jarrell illuminates the formal and informal learning networks of Upper Canada, Ontario, and Lower Canada, Quebec, at this time. As these colonial societies moved towards mechanization, industrialization, and nationhood, their educational leaders looked to US and British developments in pedagogy and technology to create academic journals, evening classes, libraries, mechanics institutes, museums, specialist societies, and women's institutes. Supervising these varied activities were legislatures and provincial boards, where key figures such as E. A. Barnard, J. B. Meilleur, and Egerton Ryerson played dominant roles. Portraying the powerful hopes and sometimes unrealistic dreams that motivated energetic and determined reformers, Educating the Neglected Majority presents Ontario and Quebec's response to the powerful industrial and demographic forces that were reshaping the North Atlantic world.

Improving Upper Canada Ross Fair, 2024-06-03 Agricultural societies founded in the colony of Upper Canada were the institutional embodiment of the ideology of improvement modelled on contemporary societies in Britain and the United States. In Improving Upper Canada, Ross Fair explores how the agricultural improvers who established and led these organizations were important agents of state formation. The book investigates the initial failed attempts to create a single agricultural society for Upper Canada. It examines the 1830 legislation that publicly funded the creation of agricultural societies across the colony to be semi-public agents of agricultural improvement and analyses societies established in the Niagara Home and Midland Districts to understand how each attempted to introduce specific improvements to local farming practices. The book reveals how Upper Canada's agricultural improvers formed a provincial association in the 1840s to ensure that the colonial government assumed a greater leadership role in agricultural improvement resulting in the Bureau of Agriculture forerunner of federal and provincial departments of agriculture in the post Confederation era In analysing an early example of state formation Improving Upper Canada provides a comprehensive history of the foundations of Ontario's agricultural societies today which continue to promote agricultural improvement across the province Pathway Margaret Elsinor Derry, 2005 This odyssey of discovery is full of joys insights and revelations for the mind and spirit Margaret Derry reveals the art in science and the science in art through a journey to knowledge learning and spirit In Pathway we see history as cohesive force binding childhood to the mature full flourish of intellectual achievement Three Plays of Maureen Hunter Hunter, Maureen, 2003 Book is clean and tight No writing in text Like New The Herds Shot Round the World Rebecca J. H. Woods, 2017-10-10 As Britain industrialized in the early nineteenth century animal breeders faced the need to convert livestock into products while maintaining the distinctive character of their breeds Thus they transformed cattle and sheep adapted to regional environments into bulky quick fattening beasts Exploring the environmental and economic ramifications of imperial expansion on colonial environments and production practices Rebecca J H Woods traces how global physiological and ecological diversity eroded under the technological economic and cultural system that grew up around the production of livestock by the British Empire Attending to the relationship between type and place and what it means to call a particular breed of livestock native Woods highlights the inherent tension between consumer expectations in the metropole and the ecological reality at the periphery Based on extensive archival work in the United Kingdom New Zealand and Australia this study illuminates the connections between the biological consequences and the politics of imperialism In tracing both the national origins and imperial expansion of British breeds Woods uncovers the processes that laid the foundation for our livestock industry today Food and Agriculture Security Justin J. Kastner, 2010-11-02 This work is a historical multidisciplinary explanation of the complexities of the food system in the United States and around the world spanning the beginning of the modern era to today's globalized interconnected market A revolution in food supply and trade has been ongoing for decades although most American consumers have been unaware of these changes after all to the end buyer the food seems the same at the supermarket But today a large percentage of our food and agricultural products are imported to our country and the U S Department of Homeland Security has designated Food and Agriculture as a Critical Infrastructure and Key Resources Sector Cross border cooperation is essential given the volume of trade the nature of testing required and the importance of ensuring the safety of these products This book examines our food system in its entirety discusses threats to food and agriculture security in America and abroad and covers trade policy issues and U S specific regulations affecting the food supply chain security Emerging models of cross border cooperation in Food and Agriculture Security are also described Making Catfish Bait Out of Government Boys Claire Strom, 2009 This first full length study of the cattle tick eradication program in the United States offers a new perspective on the fate of the yeomanry in the twentieth century South during a period when state and federal governments were both increasing and centralizing their authority As Claire Strom relates the power struggles that complicated efforts to wipe out the Boophilus tick she explains the motivations and concerns of each group involved including large and small scale cattle farmers scientists and officials at all levels of government In the remote rural South such as the piney woods of south Georgia and north Florida resistance to mandatory treatment of cattle was unusually strong and sometimes violent Cattle often ranged free and their owners raised them mostly for local use rather than faraway markets Cattle farmers in such areas shows Strom perceived a double threat in tick eradication mandates In addition to their added costs eradication schemes with their top down imposition of government expertise were anathema to the yeomanry's notions of liberty Strom contextualizes her southern focus within the national scale of the cattle industry discussing for instance the contentious place of cattle drives in American agricultural history Because Mexico was the primary source of potential tick reinfestation Strom examines the political and environmental history of the Rio Grande giving the book a transnational perspective Debates about the political and economic culture of small farmers have tended to focus on earlier periods in American history Here Strom shows that pockets of yeoman culture survived into the twentieth century and that these communities had the power to block if only temporarily the expansion of the American state

Rodeo Susan Nance, 2020-04-23 What would rodeo look like if we took it as a record not of human triumph and resilience but of human imperfection and stubbornness asks animal historian Susan Nance Against the backdrop of the larger histories of ranching cattle horses and the environment in the West this book explores how the evolution of rodeo has reflected rural western beliefs and assumptions about the natural world that have led to environmental crises and served the beef empire By unearthing behind the scenes stories of rodeo animals as diverse individuals this book lays bare contradictions within rodeo and the rural West For almost 150 years westerners have used rodeo to symbolically reenact their struggles with animals and the land as uniformly progressive and triumphant Nance upends that view with accounts of individual animals that reveal how diligently rodeo people have worked to make livestock into surrogates for the trials of rural life in the West and the violence in its history Western horses and cattle were more than just props Rodeo reclaims their lived history through compelling stories of anonymous roping steers and calves who inspired reform of the sport such as the famed but abused buckner Steamboat and the many broncs and bulls famous or not who unknowingly built an industry Rodeo is a dangerous sport that reveals many westerners as people proudly tolerant of risk and violence and ready to impose these values on livestock In Rodeo: An Animal History Nance pushes past standard histories and the sport's publicity to show how rodeo was shot through with stubbornness and human failing as much as fortitude and community spirit Britain and the Americas

Will Kaufman, Heidi Slettedahl Macpherson, 2005-03-01 A comprehensive encyclopedia covering the close ties between Britain and the whole of the Americas examining Britain's cultural and political legacy to the nations of the New World From Vikings to redcoats from the Beatles to the war in Iraq Britain and the Americas examines Britain's cultural and political legacy to the nations of the Americas This comprehensive survey also traces how the Americas have in turn influenced contemporary Britain from the Americanization of language and politics to the impact of music and migration from the West Indies Complete with an extensive introduction and a chronology of key events this three volume encyclopedia contains introductory essays focusing on the four prime areas of British Atlantic engagement Canada the Caribbean the United States and Latin America Students of a wide range of disciplines as well as the lay reader will appreciate this exhaustive survey which traces the common themes of British policy and influence throughout the Americas and highlights how Britain has in turn benefited from the influence of American democracy technology culture and politics Made to Order Margaret E. Derry, 2022-03-01 Animal breeding has been complicated by persisting factors across species cultures geography and time In Made to Order Margaret E Derry explains these factors and other breeding concerns in relation to both animals and society in North America and Europe over the past three centuries Made to Order addresses how breeding methodology evolved what characterized the aims of breeding and the way structures were put in place to regulate the occupation Illustrated by case studies on important farm animals and companion species the book presents a synthetic overview of livestock breeding as a whole It gives considerable emphasis to genetics and animal breeding in the post 1960 period the relationship between environmental and improvement breeding and regulation of breeding as seen through pedigrees In doing so Made to Order shows how studying the ancient human practice of animal breeding can illuminate the ways in which human thinking theorizing and evolving characterize our interactions with all natural processes New Perspectives on the History of Life Sciences and Agriculture Denise Phillips, Sharon Kingsland, 2015-02-12 This volume explores problems in the history of science at the intersection of life sciences and agriculture from the mid eighteenth to the mid twentieth century Taking a comparative national perspective the book examines agricultural practices in a broad sense including the practices and disciplines devoted to land management forestry soil science and the improvement and management of crops and livestock The life sciences considered include genetics microbiology ecology entomology forestry and deal with US European Russian Japanese Indonesian Chinese contexts The book shows that the investigation of the border zone of life sciences and agriculture raises many interesting questions about how science develops In particular it challenges one to re examine and take seriously the intimate connection between scientific development and the practical goals of managing and improving perhaps even recreating the living world to serve human ends Without close attention to this zone it is not possible to understand the emergence of new disciplines and transformation of old disciplines to evaluate the role and impact of such major figures of science as Humboldt and Mendel or to appreciate how much of the history of modern biology has been driven by national ambitions and imperialist expansion in competition with rival nations The Heartland Kristin L. Hoganson, 2019 In The Heartland Kristin L Hoganson drills deep into the centre of the country only to find a global story in the resulting core sample Deftly navigating the disconnect between history and myth she tracks both the backstory of this region and the evolution of the idea of an unalloyed heart at the centre of the land A provocative and highly original work of historical scholarship The Heartland speaks volumes about pressing preoccupations among them identity and community immigration and trade and security and global power
