Opening Accounts And Closing Memories Thirty Years With Thames And Hudson:

Opening Accounts and Closing Memories Trevor Craker, 1985 David Hockney Christopher Simon Sykes, 2014-11-11 In this fascinating and entertaining second volume Christopher Simon Sykes explores the life and work of Britain's most popular living artist David Hockney is one of the most influential and best loved artists of the twentieth century His career has spanned and epitomized the art movements of the past five decades Picking up Hockney's story in 1975 this book finds him flitting between Notting Hill and California where he took inspiration for the swimming pool series of paintings creating acclaimed set designs for operas around the world and embracing emerging technologies the Polaroid camera and fax machine in the seventies and eighties and most recently the iPad Hockney's boundless energy extends to his personal life too and this volume illuminates the glamorous circles he moves in as well as his sometimes turbulent relationships Christopher Simon Sykes has been granted exclusive and unprecedented access to Hockney's paintings notebooks and diaries and a great number of them are reproduced here Featuring interviews with family friends and Hockney himself this is a lively and revelatory account of an acclaimed artist and an extraordinary man A Bibliography of British History, 1914-1989 Keith Robbins, American Historical Association, Royal Historical Society (Great Britain), 1996 Containing over 25 000 entries this unique volume will be absolutely indispensable for all those with an interest in Britain in the twentieth century Accessibly arranged by theme with helpful introductions to each chapter a huge range of topics is covered There is a comprehensive index Neurath Reconsidered Jordi Cat, Adam Tamas Tuboly, 2019-02-12 This highly readable book is a collection of critical papers on Otto Neurath 1882-1945 It comprehensively re-examines Neurath's scientific philosophical and educational contributions from a range of standpoints including historical sociological and problem-oriented perspectives Leading Neurath scholars disentangle and connect Neurath's works ideas and ideals and evaluate them both in their original socio-historical context and in contemporary philosophical debates Readers will discover a new critical understanding Drawing on archive materials essays discuss not only Neurath's better known works from lesser known perspectives but also his lesser known works from the better known perspective of their place in his overall philosophical oeuvre Reflecting the full range of Neurath's work this volume has a broad appeal Besides scholars and researchers interested in Neurath Carnap the Vienna Circle work on logical empiricism and the history and philosophy of science this book will also appeal to graduate students in philosophy sociology history and education Readers will find Neurath's thoughts described and evaluated in an accessible manner making it a good read for those beyond the academic world such as social leaders and activists The book includes the edited 1940-45 Neurath Carnap correspondence and the English translation of Neurath's logic papers The British Library General Catalogue of Printed Books, 1986 to 1987 British Library, 1988 Second Chance Werner Eugen Mosse, Julius Carlebach, 1991 Antiquarian Book Monthly Review , 1993 Antiquarian Book Monthly , 1993 Portrait of David Hockney Peter Webb, 1988 Peter Webb examines the life and work of this 20th century English artist from his childhood in Bradford through his time as a student at London's Royal College of Art and his years in California up to his designs for the production of Tristan and Isolde. Whilst researching this book Webb talked to both Hockney and his family and has included many previously unpublished photographs. By relating the events of Hockney's life to his pictures Peter Webb attempts to put a new perspective on Hockney's work. Boekblad, 1986 The Indexer, 1986 The British National Bibliography Arthur James Wells, 1968 After the Victorians Peter Mandler, Susan Pedersen, 2005-08-16 Written by a team of eminent historians these essays explore how ten twentieth century intellectuals and social reformers sought to adapt such familiar Victorian values as civilisation domesticity conscience and improvement to modern conditions of democracy feminism and mass culture. Covering such figures as J M Keynes E M Forster and Lord Reith of the BBC these interdisciplinary studies scrutinize the children of the Victorians at a time when their private assumptions and public positions were under increasing strain in a rapidly changing world. After the Victorians is written in honour of the late Professor John Clive of Harvard and uses as he did the method of biography to connect the public and private lives of the generations who came after the Victorians. The Aesthetics of Boredom Agnė Narušytė, 2010 This book discusses boredom as an aesthetic category that helps to explain a tendency in late 20th c art to focus on everyday things avoid definite meaning or create nothing. The aesthetics of boredom result from a paradoxical situation when aesthetic experiences are created from banality the very phenomenon that artists try to escape from. Such an attitude of indifferent detachment from Soviet reality formed into a strong artistic statement in Lithuanian photography of the 1980s when photographers not only represented the boring existence in the USSR but also emphasised the banality of environment and emptiness of space through visual monotony. They replaced the decisive moment with chance and tried to slow the time of the photograph thus focusing on the value of the eventless present moment. Picasso and Apollinaire Peter Read, 2008-04-02 Monografie over de vriendschap en creatieve interactie tussen de Spaans Franse kunstenaar 1881 1973 en de Franse dichter 1880 1918 Men Among the Mammoths A. Bowdoin Van Riper, 1993-11 Van Riper recreates scientists first arguments for human antiquity placing these debates within the context of Victorian science. Using field notes scientific reports and previously unpublished letters he shows also how the study of human prehistory brought together geologists archeologists and anthropologists in their first interdisciplinary scientific effort. A vivid account of how the discovery of human antiquity forced Victorians to redefine their assumptions about human evolution and the relationship of science to Christianity. Space and Time in Mediterranean Prehistory Stella Souvatzi, Athena Hadji, 2013-10-15 Space and Time in Mediterranean Prehistory addresses these two concepts as interrelated rather than as separate categories and as a means for understanding past social relations at different scales. The need for this volume was realised through four main observations the ever growing interest in space and spatiality across the social sciences the comparative theoretical and methodological neglect of time and temporality the lack in the existing literature of an explicit and balanced focus on both space and time and the large amount of new information coming from prehistoric Mediterranean It focuses on the active and interactive role of space and time in the production of any social environment drawing equally on contemporary theory and on case studies from Mediterranean prehistory Space and Time in Mediterranean Prehistory seeks to break down the space time continuum often assumed rather than inferred into space time units and to uncover the varying and variable interrelations of space and time in prehistoric societies across the Mediterranean The volume is a response to the dissatisfaction with traditional views of space and time in prehistory and revisits these concepts to develop a timely integrative conceptual and analytical framework for the study of space and time in archaeology
