Geographically, Tibet is divided into three main regions which comprise U-Tsang, Do-Töd and Do-Möd. Not one place can be found in these three regions to which the Buddhadharma has not spread, so that we say this Dharma shines giving light like the sun over all the land of Tibet.

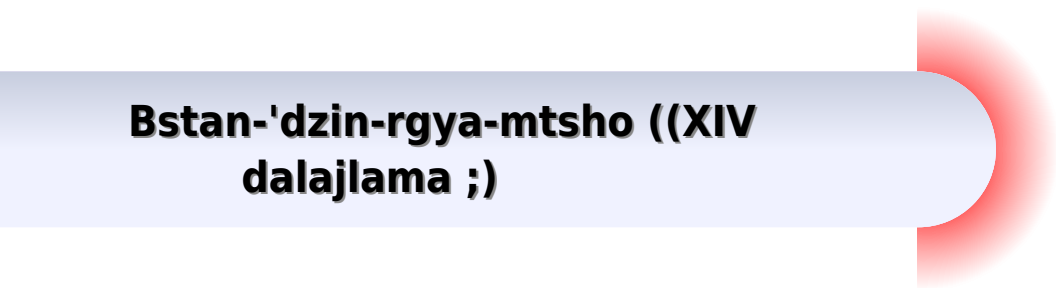

From the point of view of time, the history of Tibet falls into two parts: the ancient advancement of the Sāsana (teaching), and then the later advancement.

THE ANCIENT ADVANCEMENT

The thirty-second king of Tibet was Srong-tsen-Ganpo (d. 650 c.E.), ascending the throne at the age of thirteen a boyhood in Lhasa his training under the most revered Tibetan lamas his life as a monk official in the Dalai Lama's government and his sorrowful departure from his native land I mounted my favorite gelding which had been saddled with its finest saddle cover As I bent down to tuck the folds of my clothes under one leg my round fur and brocade trimmed hat slipped off my head and fell to the ground I remember feeling instant apprehension Was this a sign that I would never see Lhasa again As the technological age threatens to swallow one by one the unique civilizations of the world the lessons to be learned from the age old traditions of Tibet become all the more valuable Tibet's past illuminated here by glimpses of special vision offers profound spiritual insight and a majestic feast for the eye The photographs are introduced by a preface by his Holiness the Dalai Lama Whatever the fate of Tibet the spiritual essence of the Sacred Realm remains in the hearts of the Tibetan people Our cultural heritage lives too in the handful of photographs taken in our country before 1950 all the more precious because they preserve a sense of time and place that now exists only in our memories Lobsang P Lhalungpa from the Chronicle Library of Congress Catalogs Library of Congress, 1976
