

Canada and Healthcare

Source: <http://www.fishbase.org>.

- Canada needs to review its drug programs. Drug Costs continue to rise – In 2011, 44.4% of pharmaceutical drug spending is expected to be financed by the public sector, while the remainder will be financed by private insurance and individuals paying out of pocket. Drug spending is just part of the expected $231.8 billion in total health spending in Canada this year.
- Hospitals (28.9%), drugs (13.1%) and physician services (15.1%) are expected to continue to account for the largest shares of health dollars (close to 60% of total health spending). The remaining 41% will be spent on other health care goods and services, including long-term care facilities and allied health professionals.
- Fraud or about $30 per year
<https://www.dailymedical.com/en/whats-new-blog/2013/march/11/fighting-fraud-waste-and-abuse-for-a-healthy-business/>
- Miss management and waste – Let's say about 5% to 10% is waste (est.) then the value could be $10 to 20 per year. Could you imagine how dollars could be stretched?
