Internal Security and Statebuilding B. K. Greener, W. J. Fish, 2014-11-27 This book examines international efforts to provide security in post conflict sites and explains why internal security should be given precedence in statebuilding endeavours The work begins by exploring the evolution of security sectors in mature liberal democratic states before examining the attempts of such states to accelerate that evolutionary process in post conflict sites through statebuilding and security sector reform These discussions suggest interestingly different answers to the question of who should provide for internal security in international operations When considering mature states there are both practical and normative reasons as to why internal security has become the sole domain of police with military forces being excluded from internal affairs In peace and stability operations on the other hand difficulties with utilising police personnel have led to military forces being required to play internal security roles This tension is investigated further through detailed case studies of three recent missions Afghanistan Timor Leste and Solomon Islands These case studies both reinforce and augment the practical and normative reasons for ensuring that internal security remains the domain of police This then impacts upon peace and stability operations in two important ways If we are to provide enduring security in post conflict sites we should both i prioritise internal security agencies in security sector reform efforts and ii prioritise ways of enabling police to play internal security roles in the contributing mission This book will be of much interest to students of statebuilding peace and conflict studies military studies police studies historical sociology security studies and IR in general Modern Genocide Paul R.

Bartrop, Steven Leonard Jacobs, 2014-12-17 This massive four volume work provides students with a close examination of 10 modern genocides enhanced by documents and introductions that provide additional historical and contemporary context for learning about and understanding these tragic events Modern Genocide The Definitive Resource and Document Collection spans nearly 1 700 pages presented in four volumes and includes more than 120 primary source documents making it ideal for high school and beginning college students studying modern genocide as part of a larger world history curriculum The coverage for each modern genocide from Herero to Darfur begins with an introductory essay that helps students conceptualize the conflict within an international context and enables them to better understand the complex role genocide has played in the modern world There are hundreds of entries on atrocities organizations individuals and other aspects of genocide each written to serve as a springboard to meaningful discussion and further research The coverage of each genocide includes an introductory overview an explanation of the causes consequences perpetrators victims and bystanders the international reaction a timeline of events an Analyze section that poses tough questions for readers to consider and provides scholarly pro and con responses to these historical conundrums and reference entries This integrated examination of genocides occurring in the modern era not only presents an unprecedented research tool on the subject but also challenges the readers to go back and examine other events historically and consequently consider important questions about human society in the present and the future
