Politics Of Islamic Finance:

Politics of Islamic Finance Clement Henry, 2019-07-30 Can the contemporary Islamic finance movement be shown to meet the requirements of modern commerce In the wake of the terrorist attacks on America the UN Security Council passed a resolution targeting transnational sources of terrorist funds The United States and the International Monetary Fund are encouraging the governments of the Middle East to adopt policies of economic liberalism and a new type of capitalism based on Islamic values and beliefs is emerging The aims of the book are to explore the political implications of the slow but steady accumulation of Islamic capital to analyse the connections between Islamic finance and Islamic political movements in Middle Eastern and North African countries to show that the commonly perceived connection between Islamic finance and money laundering and terrorism is by no means the complete picture Readers will learn to appreciate the various political contexts in which Islamic finance operates in the Middle East and North Africa and will acquire some understanding of its political as well as economic constraints Hopefully possible misunderstandings about Islamic banking and finance will be corrected The book is divided into two parts part one is thematic and lays the ground for the country specific case studies in part two covering the Sudan Kuwait Jordan Turkey Tunisia and Egypt The contributors include political scientists economists and historians Key Features A major topical issue Written by the world s leading experts on Islamic Political Economy Explores the connections between Islamic finance and Islamic political movements Includes country specific case studies The Politics of Islamic Finance Clement M. Henry, Rodney Wilson, 2005 Political scientists economists and historians explore the slow but steady accumulation of Islamic capital Case studies include Sudan Kuwait Jordan Turkey Tunisia and Egypt

Islamic Finance in Europe Valentino Cattelan, 2013-01-01 Highlighting the impact of current globalization on financial markets this topical book challenges the universality of Western property rights and interprets Islamic finance in Europe as part of a plural financial system where different conceptions of economic justice s co exist and influence each other The contributing authors analyse key economic development and social integration issues from an Islamic perspective and outline the European approach to accommodating Islamic finance with particular regard to the peculiarities of individual nation states Set in this context the book presents financial pluralism as a device to enhance a level playing field in the global marketplace as well as to foster a plural open society Providing a comprehensive and methodological guide to Islamic finance in Europe this book will prove an illuminating and informative read for academics students and policymakers with an interest in the impact on financial regulation of an increasingly globalized world Book Review Abdul Azim Islahi, 2018 The

Comparative Study of Islamic Finance in Australia and the UK Imran Lum, 2021-09-28 This book provides valuable insights into the practical challenges faced by the nascent Islamic finance industry and compares the Australian experience to developments in the UK It contributes to a greater understanding of how Muslims living as a minority in Australia and the UK negotiate Islamic doctrine in secular societies by focusing on one aspect of this negotiation namely the prohibition of rib There is little debate in the Islamic tradition on the prohibition of rib The differences however lie in the interpretation of rib and the question of how Muslims live in a society that is heavily reliant on interest and conventional banking yet at the same time adhere to Islamic guidelines Through the words of religious leaders Muslim professionals and university students Imran Lum provides real accounts of how Muslims in Australia and the UK practically deal with conventional banking and finance products such as home loans savings accounts and credit cards He also explores Muslim attitudes towards Islamic finance and queries whether religion is the sole determining factor when it comes to its uptake Drawing on his own unique experience as a practitioner responsible for growing an Islamic business in a conventional bank Lum provides a firsthand account of the complexities associated with structuring Islamic finance products that are not only sharia compliant but also competitive in a non Muslim jurisdiction Using uk k bonds as a case study he highlights the tangible and non tangible barriers to product development such as tax and regulatory requirements and the rise of Islamophobia Combining academic and industry experience Lum unpacks the relationship of Islamic finance with Muslim identity construction in the West and how certain modalities of religiosity can lead to an uptake of Islamic finance while others can lead to its rejection

The Everyday Political Economy of Southeast Asia Juanita Elias, Lena Rethel, 2016-08-18 In this empirically rich collection of essays a team of leading international scholars explore the way that economic transformation is sustained and challenged by everyday practices across Southeast Asia Drawing together a body of interdisciplinary scholarship the authors explore how the emergence of more marketized forms of economic policy making in Southeast Asia impacts everyday life The book's twelve chapters address topics such as domestic migration trade union politics in Myanmar mining in the Philippines halal food in Singapore Islamic finance in Malaysia education reform in Indonesia street vending in Malaysia regional migration between Malaysia Indonesia and Cambodia and Southeast Asian domestic workers in Hong Kong This collection not only enhances understandings of the everyday political economies at work in specific Southeast Asian sites but makes a major theoretical contribution to the development of an everyday political economy approach in which perspectives from developing economies and non Western actors are taken seriously

The Transnational and the Local in the Politics of Islam Delmus Puneri Salim, 2015-02-26 This book explores the relationship between transnational and local Islam as expressed in public discourse and policy making as represented in the local press It does so against the background of local governments in majority Muslim regions across Indonesia promoting and passing regulations that mandate forms of social or economic behaviour seen to be compatible with Islam The book situates the political construction of Islamic behaviour in West Sumatra and in Indonesia more generally within an historical context in which rulers have in some way engaged with aspects of Islamic practice since the Islamic kingdom era The book shows that while formal local Islamic regulations of this kind constitute a new development their introduction has been a product of the same kinds of interactions between international national and local elements that have characterised the relationship between Islam and politics through the course of Indonesian history The book challenges the scholarly tendency to over emphasise local political concerns when explaining this phenomenon arguing that it is necessary to forefront the complex relationship between local politics and developments in the wider Islamic world To illustrate the relationship between transnational and local Islam the book uses detailed case studies of four domains of regulation Islamic finance zakat education and behaviour and dress in a number of local government areas within the province

Religious Politics in Turkey Ceren Lord, 2018-11-08 Since the elections of 2002 Erdogan's AKP has dominated the political scene in Turkey This period has often been understood as a break from a secular pattern of state building But in this book Ceren Lord shows how Islamist mobilisation in Turkey has been facilitated from within the state by institutions established during early nation building Lord thus challenges the traditional account of Islamist AKP's rise that sees it either as a grassroots reaction to the authoritarian secularism of the state or as a function of the state's utilisation of religion Tracing struggles within the state Lord also shows how the state's principal religious authority the Presidency of Religious Affairs Diyanet competed with other state institutions to pursue Islamisation Through privileging Sunni Muslim access to state resources to the exclusion of others the Diyanet has been a key actor ensuring persistence and increasing salience of religious markers in political and economic competition creating an amenable environment for Islamist mobilisation

The Real Politics of the Horn of Africa Alex de Waal, 2015-10-19 The Real Politics of the Horn of Africa delves into the business of politics in the turbulent war torn countries of north east Africa It is a contemporary history of how politicians generals and insurgents bargain over money and power and use of war to achieve their goals Drawing on a thirty year career in Sudan Ethiopia Eritrea and Somalia including experience as a participant in high level peace talks Alex de Waal provides a unique and compelling account of how these countries leaders run their governments conduct their business fight their wars and occasionally make peace De Waal shows how leaders operate on a business model securing funds for their political budgets which they use to rent the provisional allegiances of army officers militia commanders tribal chiefs and party officials at the going rate This political marketplace is eroding the institutions of government and reversing statebuilding and it is fuelled in large part by oil exports aid funds and western military assistance for counter terrorism and peacekeeping The Real Politics of the Horn of
