Talking Policy Judith Bessant, 2020-08-04 When we catch a bus visit a doctor borrow a book from the library or enrol in a course we benefit from the social policies of government Talking Policy explains how the myriad programs and services we take for granted are developed and delivered and how this fits into the political process There is a human and political aspect to social policy making it's not all rational solutions to measurable problems The authors explain how issues come to be defined as social problems and offer an account of the historical development of social policy and the welfare state in Australia They also outline the competing political and philosophical ideas which influence the different ways in which governments respond to social inequality and needs in the community With detailed case studies from variety of areas of social policy making Talking Policy is a valuable introduction to this complex and important field Talking Policy is an informative insightful book that is also absorbing and challenging Lois Bryson Emeritus Professor University of Newcastle With a commitment to reinvigorate policy debate the authors make a convincing case that at its heart policy making is about competing ethical visions that ideas count and that words serve as tools in this political and contested activity Associate Professor Carol Bacchi University of Adelaide

Making Cultural Cities in Asia June Wang, Tim Oakes, Yang Yang, 2015-12-22 This book examines the vast and largely uncharted world of cultural creative city making in Asia It explores the establishment of policy models and practices against the backdrop of a globalizing world and considers the dynamic relationship between powerful actors and resources that impact Asian cities Making Cultural Cities in Asia approaches this dynamic process through the lens of assemblage how the policy models of cultural creative cities have been extracted from the flow of ideas and how re-invented versions have been assembled territorialized and exported This approach reveals a spectrum between globally circulating ideals on the one hand and the place based contexts and contingencies on the other At one end of the spectrum this book features chapters on policy mobility in particular the political construction of the web of communication and the restructuring or rescaling of the state At the other end chapters examine the increasingly fragmented social forces their changing roles in the process and their negotiations alignments and resistances This book will be of interest to researchers and policy makers concerned with cultural and urban studies creative industries and Asian studies Letters to the Editor Allison Cavanagh, John Steel, 2019-11-07 This book provides an account of current work on letters to the editor from a range of different national cultural conceptual and methodological perspectives Letters to the editor provide a window on the reflexive relationship between editorial and readership identities in historical and international contexts They are a forum through which the personal and the political intersect a space wherein the implications of contemporaneous events are worked out by citizens and public figures alike and in which the meaning and significance of unfolding media narratives and events are interpreted and contested They can also be used to understand the multiple and overlapping ways that particular issues recur over sometimes widely distinct periods This collection brings together scholars who have helped open up letters to the editor as a resource for scholarship and whose work in this book continues to provide new insights into the relationship between journalism and its publics Make / Believe John Hartley, 2025-01-23 This book illustrates that mediated popular culture and science based knowledge systems entangled and compromised as both have become are still a robust crucible for system change for the future when they combine forces Planetary crises require responses from everyone This means that collective action is not simply a scientific or political problem It is a problem of culture and media But modern politics journalism and science were not designed for global climate action They've divided humans into competitive and often hostile we and they groups Identity news and knowledge are all weaponized Culture makes groups groups make knowledge and knowledge makes enemies What can be done to prevent global conflict and the drift to war Make Believe turns to popular culture and social media to argue for an alternative storyline While the Great Powers are making new enemies emergent classes led by children are using planetary connectivity to make new worlds A digital planet generates new kinds of strategic stories for pan human action based on difference intersectionality and cooperation for a sustainable Earth system Make Believe shows how alternatives to the Great Game of global contestation are gathering strength in unlikely places among women children lifestyle and pop culture Popular digital media literacy is now a prerequisite for the remediation of the planet Information Subject Mark Poster, Stanley Aronowitz, 2013-10-23 First Published in 2001 In this collection of essays and interviews Mark Poster examines theoretical approaches and develops his own position on our information based society He contends that new communications media disrupt and transfigure the way identities are constituted in cultural exchanges He looks in detail at several aspects of what might be called internet culture including virtuality and democracy Poster advocates an awareness of the Internet and other new forms of communication calling for a mobilization to ensure accessibility to all and to configure technology into vehicles of open cultural creation For example nothing is pure about the Internet politically he points out and it remains an open question as to who will transform the potentiality of new communications media into determinate cultural configurations This book explores the rupture and potentiality between the electronic self and the face to face self inherent in
