Premature Adolescent Pregnancy and Parenthood Elizabeth R. McAnarney, 1983 Premature Adolescent Pregnancy and Parenthood Elizabeth R. McAnarney, 1983 Adolescent Pregnancy and Parenthood Ann Creighton Zollar, 1990 School-age Pregnancy and Parenthood Jane Beckman Lancaster, Beatrix A. Hamburg, This important work examines in detail and depth how as a consequence of changing technologies diet patterns of reproduction and work relations between children and parents have altered The editors and contributors hold that biosocial science is particularly relevant to research on human family systems and parenting behavior The family is the universal social institution in which the care of children is based and the turf where cultural tradition beliefs and values are transmitted to the young as they fulfill their biological potential for growth development and reproduction The biosocial perspective takes into account the biological substratum and the social environment as critical co determinants of behavior and pinpoints areas in which contemporary human parental behavior exhibits continuities with and departures from patterns evident throughout history This work crosses disciplinary lines without ignoring their relevance to the broader themes of the book School age pregnancy and parenthood is a powerful anchor for the dissection of large scale issues The contributors deal in turn with ethnic and historical experience examine normative and ethical issues and cast new light on methodological concerns What the editors call culturally defined responses to basic needs helps explain both dramatic improvements in this area and how they expand the challenge of teen reproduction Contributors emphasize new demands for training and education to research this growing phenomenon The book contributes to humane concerns as well as the scientific imagination Jane B Lancaster is professor of anthropology at the University of New Mexico She serves as editor of a major journal in the field Human Nature An Interdisciplinary Biosocial Perspective She also edited two related volumes Child Abuse and Neglect 1987 Parenting across Life Span 1987 Beatrix A Hamburg is at the Mount Sinai School of Medicine in New York in the field of Child and Adolescent Psychiatry She is recipient of the Gallagher Award for Outstanding Achievement in Adolescent Medicine and the Distinguished Service Award from the Alcohol Drug Abuse and Mental Health Administration and edits Behavioral and Psychosocial Issues in Diabetes The Pregnant Adolescent Frank G. Bolton, Jr, 1980-03 Synthesizes available research into an exhaustive review of all aspects of premature pregnancy The author demonstrates the need for social service support for premature parents and presents empirical evidence to support his suggestions for improved services The book is one of the first to explore the high levels of correlation between early parenthood and child abuse It also provides hard information on the outcomes of the decision to abort or of young marriages resulting from pregnancy and describes the demographic characteristics and psychological dynamics of the problem This reviewer has spent several years working with adolescents both pregnant and parents and found Bolton s presentation timely accurate and even Teen Pregnancy and Parenting Annette U.
