

A high-angle, top-down photograph of a person sitting on a light-colored wooden floor. The person is wearing a light blue long-sleeved shirt and dark blue jeans. Their hands are resting on their knees. In front of them lies an open Bible, its pages filled with text. Sunlight streams in from the right, casting long, warm shadows across the floor and the person's legs. A semi-transparent dark grey rectangular box is positioned in the lower half of the image, containing white text.

Religious Talk Online Stephen Pihlaja,2018-03-01 In the online world people argue about anything and everything religion is no exception Stephen Pihlaja investigates how several prominent social media figures present views about religion in an environment where their positions are challenged The analysis shows how conflict creates a space for users to share explain and develop their opinions and beliefs by making appeals to both a core audience of like minded viewers and a broader audience of viewers who are potentially interested in the claims ambivalent or openly hostile The book argues that in the back and forth of these arguments the positions that users take in response to the arguments of others have consequences for how religious talk develops and potentially for how people understand and practice their beliefs in the twenty first century Based on original empirical research it addresses long debated questions in sociolinguistics and discourse analysis regarding the role of language in building solidarity defining identity and establishing genres and registers of interaction
