The Legacy of St. George Tucker Chad Vanderford, 2024-01-12 In The Legacy of St George Tucker Chad Vanderford provides a cogent longitudinal explication of how Virginia intellectuals constructed and defined proslavery ideology and state rights He reminds twenty first century readers that in order to judge late eighteenth and early nineteenth century thinkers fairly they must position basic political ideas within the context of their day not ours Vanderford's book will prove valuable not only for students and researchers of political theory but also of southern intellectual life and the political worlds of the Colonial Early National and Old South John David Smith Charles H Stone Distinguished Professor of American History University of North Carolina at Charlotte Historians born during and after the Civil Rights movement have struggled to take the proslavery and pro secession arguments of the eighteenth and nineteenth century South seriously They generally tend to lump the two theories together as components of one ideology and then attempt to write it out of the political norms of American life In this groundbreaking study Vanderford isolates the different ideological strands in southern political thought of this era and works to understand these ideas in the context of their time St George Tucker 1752-1827 Founding Father professor and political theorist saw clearly that slavery runs against the grain of the values articulated in the Declaration of Independence Under certain narrowly construed circumstances however he thought it necessary to tolerate slavery He viewed secession as an extreme step but one that the Declaration of Independence left open as a possibility for all free states St George Tucker's arguments hinged on a modern view of natural right that builds on the premise that political power can only be legitimate if it rests on the consent of the governed He believed that equally free and independent individuals constructed a voluntary union of equally free and independent states His son Henry Tucker 1780 1848 and grandson John Randolph Tucker 1823 1897 sought to defend this ideology of modern natural right against fellow professors North and South who tended to replace it with the ancient ideology of natural right the view that wisdom gives one the title to command Many southern intellectuals came to believe that individuals are not equally free and independent by nature many northerners came to argue that the states had never been equally free and independent These disagreements contributed to the outbreak of the Civil War At once a work of intellectual history that shows the key role played by professors in helping to formulate southern ideology as well as a recovery of rarely explored arguments this work wrestles with one of the greatest challenges of intellectual history the effort to understand the most controversial ideas of the past on their own terms while searching for the genealogy that connects the past to the present CHAD VANDERFORD is an associate professor of history at the University of Texas of the Permian Basin His articles and reviews have appeared in publications including Civil War History the Journal of Southern History and the Virginia Magazine of History and Biography
