Keith, 1974-12-15 There is probably no single quality or characteristic besides love of the countryside that must inevitably distinguish a rural writer notes W J Keith However what distinguishes rural writing that belongs to literature from that belonging to natural history agricultural history etc is as Richard E Haymaker has observed the writer's means of revealing Nature as well as describing her In the final analysis the rural essayist paints neither landscapes nor self portraits instead he communicates the subtle relationship between himself and his environment offering for our inspection his own attitudes and his own vision We may be asked to look or to agree but more than anything else we are invited to share Ultimately then the best rural writing may be said to provide us in a phrase adapted from Robert Langbaum with a prose of experience Keith argues that non fiction rural prose should be recognized as a distinct literary tradition that merits serious critical attention In this book he tests the cogency of thinking in terms of a rural tradition examines the critical problems inherent in such writing and traces significant continuities between rural writers Eleven of the more important and influential writers from the seventeenth century to modern times come under individual scrutiny Izaak Walton Gilbert White William Cobbett Mary Russell Mitford George Borrow Richard Jefferies George Sturt George Bourne W H Hudson Edward Thomas Williamson and H J Massingham In examining these writers within the context of the rural tradition Keith rescues their works from the literary attic where they have too often been relegated as awkward misfits When studied together each throws fascinating light on the others and is seen to fit into a loose but nonetheless discernible line
