Literary Praxis Piet-Hein van de Ven, Brenton Doecke, 2011-11-16 Literary Praxis A Conversational Inquiry into the Teaching of Literature explores the teaching of literature in secondary schools It does this from the vantage point of educators in a range of settings around the world as they engage in dialogue with one another in order to capture the nature of their professional commitment the knowledge they bring to their work as literature teachers and the challenges of their professional practice as they interact with their students The core of the book comprises accounts of their day to day teaching by Dutch and Australian educators

These teachers do more than capture the immediacy of the here and now of their classrooms they attempt to understand those classrooms relationally exploring the ways in which their professional practice is mediated by government policies national literary traditions and existing traditions of curriculum and pedagogy They thereby enact a form of literary praxis that grapples with major ideological issues most notably the impact of standards based reforms on their work Educators from other countries then comment on the cases written by the Dutch and Australian teachers thus taking the concept of praxis to a new level as part of a comparative inquiry that acknowledges the richly specific character of the cases and resists viewing teaching around the world as though it lends itself unproblematically to the same standards of measurement as in the fetish made of PISA They step back from a judgmental stance and try to understand what it means to teach literature in other educational settings than their own The essays in this collection show the complexities of literature teaching as a form of professional praxis exploring the intensely reflexive learning in which teachers engage as they induct their students into reading literary texts and reflect on the socio cultural contexts of their work

Reading Process and Practice Constance Weaver, 2002 Weaver incorporates especially timely information accurate data informed critique and results of often ignored research to help teachers counteract government and corporate intrusion into classrooms
