Contemporary Political Sociology Kate Nash, 2009-12-15 This fully revised and updated introduction to political sociology incorporates the burgeoning literature on globalization and shows how contemporary politics is linked to cultural issues, social structure and democratizing social action. Religious Fundamentalism in the Contemporary World Santosh C. Saha, 2004-01-01 Today new and ever more pernicious forms of terrorist violence threaten the world. Because these new forms of violence are so often linked to religious radicalism, modern terrorism has challenged the secular ethics of contemporary civil society. There is a pressing need to understand modern religious movements that have added militancy and belligerence as fundamental elements of religious practice. Contributors to this volume painstakingly tackle the question of how to define the contours of current religious fundamentalism as they examine the private and public postures of fundamentalist rhetoric, the importance of its regional variants and the damage it can do to regional and national education systems. Their analysis tracks trends in religious movements that aspire to radicalize reform and violently topple governments and nations while highlighting the difference between fundamentalist interpretations and other longstanding juridical, political and intellectual traditions.

Gendered Agency in War and Peace Maria O'Reilly, 2017-11-03 This book examines how gendered agency emerges in peacebuilding contexts. It develops a feminist critique of the international peacebuilding interventions through a study of transitional justice policies and practices implemented in Bosnia Herzegovina and local activists' responses to official discourses surrounding them. Extending Nancy Fraser's tripartite model of justice to peacebuilding contexts, the book also advances notions of recognition, redistribution and representation as crucial components of gender justice. It argues that recognising women as victims and survivors of conflict, achieving a gender equitable distribution of material and symbolic resources and enabling women to participate as agents of transitional justice processes are all essential for transforming the structural inequalities that enable gender violence and discrimination to materialise before, during and after conflict. This study establishes a new avenue of analysis for understanding responses and resistances to international peacebuilding by offering a sustained engagement with feminist social and political theory.

Party Responses to Social Movements

Daniela R. Piccio,2019-03-11 Across the West the explosion of social movement activity since the late 1960s has constituted a participatory revolution that has posed profound challenges for formal political parties Through an analysis of new interviews institutional documents and a host of other largely unexploited sources Daniela R Piccio provides a rich and empirically grounded exploration of the wide ranging responses to these movements Focusing on Italy and the Netherlands since the 1970s Party Responses to Social Movements demonstrates how political parties have incorporated the demands of movements to a surprising extent even as both have grappled with fundamental and inevitable tensions between their respective roles and aims

Statism, Youth and Civic Imagination Ebenezer Obadare,2010-06-01 This study explores the service citizenship nexus in Nigeria using the National Youth Service Corps NYSC programme as an empirical backdrop It attempts to understand the relationship between civic service and citizenship on the one hand and it examines the question as to whether youth service promotes a sense of citizenship and patriotism on the other In the relevant studies on service and sociology the assumption that service is antecedent to and impacts positively on citizenship is taken for granted However conclusions from this study call for an urgent rethinking of this wisdom Using data from open ended interviews questionnaires and focus group discussions the study traces the ways in which political dynamics in Nigeria have affected the implementation of the NYSC programme The study articulates allegiance to national ideals as an essential foundation for creating and nurturing citizenship Although it upholds the potential of national service as a tool for national integration this research cautions against unalloyed faith in its presumed agency arguing that the limitations imposed by the prevailing socio political ecology should not be ignored policy legislation theory and research Negotiating Gendered Discourses Jane L. Christie, 2015-11-25 It has been argued that the first presidential campaign of Michelle Bachelet in Chile and Cristina Fernandez de Kirchner in Argentina used a rhetoric of newness. Some political observers have said that as the first women to successfully run for the highest office in these countries they were presented as the new faces of democracy. These observers argued that gender was not a determining factor in their electoral success but the focus on this first women frame did generate heavily gendered criticisms of these two candidates. Negotiating Gendered Discourses addresses these views by asking how the gender factor is negotiated when women from the Southern Cone of Latin America run for high political office. In particular Jane L. Christie examines how Bachelet and Fernandez positioned themselves in relation to the numerous women led social movements and in doing so reveals points of intersection between these contemporary political discourses and existing sources of female authority when negotiating complicated ideological debates about human rights, the economy and women's rights. The Tenants' Movement Quintin Bradley, 2014-05-09 The Tenants Movement is both a history of tenant organization and mobilization and a guide to understanding how the struggles of tenant organizers have come to shape housing policy today. Charting the history of tenant mobilization and the rise of consumer movements in housing, it is one of the first cross cultural historical analyses of tenants organizations roles in housing policy. The Tenants Movement shows both the past and future of tenant mobilization. The book's approach applies social movement theory to housing studies and bridges gaps between research in urban sociology, urban studies and the built environment and provides a challenging study of the ability of contemporary social movements, community campaigns and urban struggles to shape the debate around public services and engage with the unfinished project of welfare reform. Turkey-Syria Relations Özlem Tür, 2016-02-17 In 1997 Turkey and Syria were on the brink of war, engaged in a very real power struggle. Turkey was aligned with Syria's main enemy, Israel, and there were seemingly intractable differences on the issues of borders, the sharing of river waters and trans border communities. In less than a decade relations were transformed from enmity to amity. Border issues and water sharing quarrels were moving towards amicable settlement and the two states policies toward the Kurdish issue converging. Turkey undertook to mediate the Syrian-Israeli conflict and close political and economic relations were developing rapidly between the two states. Yet with the Syrian Uprising relations returned to enmity. What explains these remarkable changes? Given that Turkey and Syria are two pivotal states in the region, what are the implications of this changing relationship for the international politics of the Middle East, the balance of power and regional stability? In this internationally collaborative work co edited by Raymond Hinnebusch and Özlem Tür British, Syrian and Turkish scholars address these questions and examine the various domestic and international drivers in this key regional relationship. They discuss what theories best help us understand these seismic realignments and explore the impact of economic interdependence, identity changes and power balances on the evolving relationship between these two key regional powers. The Cultural Politics of Austerity R. Bramall, 2013-10-31

This timely book examines austerity's conflicted meanings from austerity chic and anti austerity protest to economic and eco austerity Bramall's compelling text explores the presence and persuasiveness of the past developing a new approach to the historical in contemporary cultural politics Identity, Culture and Globalization Eliézer Ben Rafael, Yitzhak Sternberg, 2002-01-01 This book is about the sociologists analyses of the newness of our time It discusses five conceptual perspectives 1 Multiple modernities 2 Globalization 3 Multiculturalism 4 The declining accountability of the State 5 Postmodernity The divergent propositions which surface give this discourse its basic coherence Understanding European Integration R.
