The Red-figured Vases of Paestum Arthur Dale Trendall, 1987      Patterns in the Production of Paestan Red-Figure Pottery Edward Herring, 2022-05-10 Most of the previous scholarship on Paestan red figure pottery has focused on the cataloguing of collections the attribution of vases to painters and workshops iconographic and stylistic matters and individual vessels and vase forms This partly reflects the history of vase painting scholarship which grew out of antiquarian collecting during 18th and 19th centuries and partly the fact that a full archaeological provenance is not preserved for the majority of vessels This book uses a database containing in excess of 1 800 vessels and fragments to identify patterns in the production and decoration of Paestan vases that cast light on the choices made by vase producers and the preferences of their customers It considers the popularity of different vessel shapes over time the use of highly generic decorative scenes which are characteristic of Paestan red figure as well as the popularity of scenes of myth images of the gods and scenes of nude and half draped women Paestan red figure is compared with the vessels decorated in Applied Red produced at the same site A comparison is also made between the output of the Paestan red figure industry and that of Apulia As the majority of the vases in the sample derive from tombs the patterns identified provide insights into the ways in which the ancient populations of Paestum and South West Italy commemorated the dead      Patterns in the Production of Apulian Red-Figure Pottery Edward Herring, 2018-10-01 Most of the previous scholarship on Apulian red figure pottery has focused on the cataloguing of collections the attribution of vases to painters and workshops iconographic and stylistic matters and individual vessels and vase forms This partly reflects the history of vase painting scholarship which grew out of antiquarian collecting during the eighteenth and nineteenth centuries and the fact that a full archaeological provenance is not preserved for the overwhelming majority of vessels This book takes a different approach by using a database containing in excess of 13 500 vessels and fragments to identify patterns in the production and decoration of Apulian vases that cast light on the choices made by vase producers and the preferences of their customers Individual chapters consider the popularity of different vessel shapes over time the use of highly generic decorative scenes which are characteristic of Apulian red figure as well as the popularity of scenes of myth images of the gods scenes of the life of the non Greek population of ancient Puglia and those showing funerary monuments As virtually all of the vases in the sample derive from tombs the patterns identified provide insights into the ways in which the ancient populations of South East Italy both Greek and indigenous honoured their dead      The Regional Production of Red Figure Pottery Stine Schierup, Victoria Sabetai, 2014-10-27 In the latter part of the fifth century BC regional red figure productions were established outside Attica in regional Greece and in the western Mediterranean propelled by the impact of the art of Attic vase painting This collection of papers addresses key issues posed by these production centres Why did they emerge To what degree was their inception prompted by the emigration of Attic craftsmen in the context of the weakened Attic pottery market at the onset of the Peloponnesian War How did Attic vase painting influence already existing traditions and what was selected adopted or adapted at the receiving end Who was using red figure in mainland Greece and Italy and what were its particular functions in the local cultures These and more questions are addressed here with the presentation not only of syntheses but also primary publication of much newly discovered material Regional production centres covered include those of Euboea Boeotia Corinth Laconia Macedonia Ambracia Lucania Apulia Sicily Locri and Etruria

Red-figure Pottery in its Ancient Setting Bodil Bundsgaard Rasmussen, Stine Schierup, 2012-05-22 What happened when Athenian pottery reached other cultural contexts and was absorbed into indigenous communities around or outside Greece How did the various contexts influence the adaption of Athenian iconography and does the setting add to an understanding of how Athenian iconographic themes were altered or absorbed as they entered into new cultural contexts To highlight these interpretative challenges the National Museum of Denmark in 2009 stages the colloquium Red figure Pottery in its Ancient Setting and invited a group of specialists to present cases from within their areas of research which would serve to enhance our understanding of the great range of the character and value of red figure pottery and its imagery whether in local Greek a colonial Greek or Etruscan or any other indigenous community The various cases presented in these proceedings of the colloquium clearly demonstrate that this approach to the study of Greek pottery and its imagery has much to offer
