milieu of art sales and collecting at this turning point In this collection of essays twenty two scholars employ methods ranging from traditional art historical and provenance studies to statistical and economic analysis they provide overviews case studies and empirical reevaluations of artists collectors patrons agents and dealers institutions sales and practices Drawing from pioneering digital resources notably the Getty Provenance Index as well as archival materials such as trade directories correspondence stock books and inventories auction catalogs and exhibition reviews these scholars identify broad trends reevaluate previous misunderstandings and consider overlooked commercial contexts From individual case studies to econometric overviews this volume is groundbreaking for its diverse methodological range that illuminates artistic taste and flourishing art commerce at the turn of the nineteenth century Survival of the fittest? Henri Zerner, The Brummer Galleries, Paris and New York, 2023-05-08 This is the first thorough investigation of the Brummer brothers remarkable career as dealers in antiques curiosities and modernism in Paris and New York over six decades 1906 1964 A dozen specialists aggregate their expertise to explore extant dealer records and museum archives parse the wide ranging Brummer stock and assess how objects were sourced marketed labelled restored and displayed The research provides insights into emerging collecting fields as they crystallised at the crossroads between market and museum It questions the trope of the tastemaker the translocation of material culture and the dealers prolific relationships with illustrious collectors curators scholars artists and fellow dealers The Manchester Art Treasures Exhibition of 1857 ElizabethA. unfairly characterized as staid self satisfied and stable The nineteenth century has been called the Age of the Museum and yet critics art theorists and poets during this period grappled with the question of whether the proliferation of museums might lead to the death of Art itself Did the assembly and display of works of art help the viewer to understand them or did it numb the senses How was the contemporary artist to respond to the vast storehouses of art from disparate nations and periods that came to proliferate in this era Siegel presents a lively discussion of the shock experienced by neoclassical artists troubled by remains of antiquity that were trivial or even obscene as well as the anxious aesthetic reveries of nineteenth century art lovers overwhelmed by the quantity of objects quickly crowding museums and exhibition halls In so doing he illuminates the fruitful crises provoked when the longing for admired art is suddenly satisfied Drawing upon neoclassical art and theory biographies of early nineteenth century writers including Keats and Scott and the writings of art critics such as Hazlitt Ruskin and Wilde this book reproduces a cultural matrix that brings to life the artistic passions and anxieties of an entire era

The Invention of Rare Books David McKitterick, 2018-07-12 When does a book that is merely old become a rarity and an object of desire David McKitterick examines for the first time the development of the idea of rare books and why they matter Studying examples from across Europe he explores how this idea took shape in the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries and how collectors the book trade and libraries gradually came together to identify canons that often remain the same today In a world that many people found to be over supplied with books the invention of rare books was a process of selection As books are one of the principal means of memory this process also created particular kinds of remembering Taking a European perspective McKitterick looks at these interests as they developed from being matters of largely private concern and curiosity to the larger public and national responsibilities of the first half of the nineteenth century

A Cultural History of the Violin in Nineteenth-Century London Tom Wilder, 2025-03-18 Examines the violin's evolution as not just instrument but valued objet d art through the eyes of musicians collectors makers dealers connoisseurs journalists auctioneers and traders The nineteenth century saw developments in the composition performance and reception of classical music that led to an unprecedented shift in how the violin was appreciated from humble craft object to one of art A utilitarian tool defined in 1800 by its tonal properties became by century's end an expensive objet d art classified almost exclusively in terms of physical visible properties In London's vibrant musical life Cremonese violins acquired special significance and in turn helped shape the beliefs knowledge and behaviour of the disparate actors connected to the instrument musicians collectors makers dealers connoisseurs journalists auctioneers and traders By 1880 London had supplanted Paris as the centre of the international violin trade One firm in particular W E Hill Sons emerged as a major presence in both the local musical community and the global violin market The Hills were makers restorers dealers and connoisseurs They were also writers collectors and melomaniacs deeply implicated in London's instrument auction and exhibition scene The mutually reinforcing nature of these activities which they consciously turned to account for commercial reasons bear witness to events and developments earlier in the century Their story illuminates this first study of the violin s nineteenth century journey from simple musical instrument to mystified work of art

British Romanticism and the Reception of Italian Old Master Art, 1793-1840 Maureen McCue, 2016-05-23 As a result of Napoleon s campaigns in Italy Old Master art flooded into Britain and its acquisition became an index of national prestige Maureen McCue argues that their responses to these works informed the writing of Romantic period authors enabling them to forge often surprising connections between Italian art the imagination and the period s political social and commercial realities Dr McCue examines poetry plays novels travel writing exhibition catalogues early guidebooks and private experiences recorded in letters and diaries by canonical and noncanonical authors including Felicia Hemans William Buchanan Henry Sass Pierce Egan William Hazlitt Percy Shelley Lord Byron Anna Jameson Maria Graham Callcott and Samuel Rogers Her exploration of the idea of connoisseurship shows the ways in which a knowledge of Italian art became a key marker of cultural standing that was no longer limited to artists and aristocrats while her chapter on the literary production of post Waterloo Britain traces the development of a critical vocabulary equally applicable to the visual arts and literature In offering cultural historical and literary readings of the responses to Italian art by early nineteenth century writers Dr McCue illuminates the important role they played in shaping the themes that are central to our understanding of Romanticism

The Aesthetic Relation Gérard Genette, 1999 One of the best known continental theorists writing today Gérard Genette here explores our aesthetic relation to works of art Through an analysis of the views of thinkers ranging from David Hume and Immanuel Kant to Monroe C Beardsley Arthur Danto and Nelson Goodman Genette seeks to identify the place of the aesthetic in a theory of artistic appreciation His discussion is rich in detailed examples drawn from all of the arts The Aesthetic Relation is a companion volume to The Work of Art Immanence and Transcendence published by Cornell in 1997 Taken together the two books offer a comprehensive theory of art which addresses the work of art as at once object and action Genette maintains that our aesthetic relation to all types of objects presupposes that special attention is paid to their outward aspect rather than to their usefulness when appraising them. Such appraisals while wholly subjective and temporary are expressed as objective and universal judgments about the items in question. Further he asserts that our aesthetic relation to works of art in particular is based on an awareness of an aesthetic intention that defines an object as a work of art as well as on an awareness of a work's position in its historical and generic field. Revolutionary Paris and the Market for Netherlandish Art Darius A.

Spieth, 2017-11-06 Seventeenth century Dutch and Flemish paintings were aesthetic intellectual and economic touchstones in the Parisian art world of the Revolutionary era but their importance within this framework while frequently acknowledged never attracted much subsequent attention. Darius A. Spieth's inquiry into Revolutionary Paris and the Market for Netherlandish Art reveals the dominance of Golden Age pictures in the artistic discourse and sales transactions before, during and after the French Revolution. A broadly based statistical investigation undertaken as part of this study shows that the upheaval reduced prices for Netherlandish paintings by about 55% compared to the Old Regime and that it took until after the July Revolution of 1830 for art prices to return where they stood before 1789. Poetic Exhibitions Eric Gidal, 2001

In the process of tracing poetic and critical responses to the museum and its collections, Poem Exhibitions simultaneously demonstrates the impact of nationalist ideologies and scientific discourse on formal and thematic developments in Romantic poetry and aesthetics. Painting the Cannon's Roar Thomas Tolley, 2017-07-05 From c 1750 to c 1810 the paths of music history and the history of painting converged with lasting consequences. The publication of Newton's Opticks at the start of the eighteenth century gave a scientific basis to the analogy between sight and sound, allowing music and the visual arts to be defined more closely in relation to one another. This was also a period which witnessed the emergence of a larger and increasingly receptive audience for both music and the visual arts, an audience which potentially included all social strata. The development of this growing public and the commercial potential that it signified meant that for the first time it became possible for a contemporary artist to enjoy an international reputation. Nowhere is this better illustrated than in the career of Joseph Haydn. Although this phenomenon defies conventional modes of study, the book shows how musical pictorialism became a major creative force in popular culture. Haydn, the most popular living cultural personality of the period, proved to be the key figure in advancing the new relationship. The connections between the composer and his audiences and leading contemporary artists including Tiepolo, Mengs, Kauffman, Goya, David, Messerschmidt, Louthenbourg, Canova, Copley, Fuseli, Reynolds, Gillray and West are examined here for the first time. By the early nineteenth century populism was beginning to be regarded with scepticism and disdain. Mozart was the modern Raphael, Beethoven the modern Michelangelo, Haydn however had no clear parallel in the accepted canon of Renaissance art. Yet his recognition that ordinary people had a desire to experience simultaneous aural and visual stimulation was not altogether lost, finding future exponents in Wagner and later still in the cinematic arts. A Companion to Islamic Art and Architecture Finbarr Barry Flood, Gulru Necipoglu, 2017-06-16

The two volume Companion to Islamic Art and Architecture bridges the gap between monograph and survey text by providing a new level of access and interpretation to Islamic art. The more than 50 newly commissioned essays revisit canonical topics and include original approaches and scholarship on neglected aspects of the field. This two volume Companion showcases more than 50 specially commissioned essays and an introduction that surveys Islamic art and architecture in all its traditional grandeur. Essays are organized according to a new chronological geographical paradigm that remaps the unprecedented expansion of the field and reflects the nuances of major artistic and political developments during the 1400 year span. The Companion represents recent developments in the field and encourages future horizons by commissioning innovative essays that provide fresh perspectives on canonical subjects such as early Islamic art, sacred spaces, palaces, urbanism, ornament, arts of the book and the portable arts, while introducing others that have been previously neglected, including unexplored geographies and periods, transregional connectivities, talismans and magic, consumption and networks of portability, museums and collecting, and contemporary art worlds. The essays entail strong comparative and historiographic dimensions. The volumes are accompanied by a map and each subsection is preceded by a brief outline of the main cultural and historical developments during the period in question. The volumes include periods and regions typically excluded from survey books, including modern and contemporary art, architecture, China, Indonesia, Sub-Saharan Africa, Sicily, the New World, Americas.

Female Portraiture and Patronage in Marie Antoinette's Court, Sarah Grant, 2018-09-03. This comprehensive book brings to light the portraits, private collections, and public patronage of the princesse de Lamballe, a pivotal member of Marie Antoinette's inner circle. Drawing extensively on unpublished archival sources, Sarah Grant examines the princess's many portrait commissions and the rich character of her private collections, which included works by some of the period's leading artists and artisans. The book sheds new light on the agency, sorority, and taste of Marie Antoinette and her friends, a group of female patrons and model of courtly collecting that would be extinguished by the coming revolution.

In the Mind's Eye, Alexandra Wettlaufer, 2003. This comparative interdisciplinary study investigates the relationship between literature and the visual arts in France and Britain from 1750-1900. Through a close examination of the prose writings of Diderot, Baudelaire, and Ruskin read against the background of contemporary philosophy, aesthetics, and theories of language, In the Mind's Eye proposes a new interpretation of the influence and rivalries underlying the development of art criticism as a genre during this period. The visual impulse, the desire to transcend the limitations of language and make the reader see, is located within the historical traditions of ekphrasis, enargeia, and the paragone, while in each chapter the individual author's theories of the mind, memory, and imagination provide a critical framework for his stylistic experiments. In the Mind's Eye presents an in-depth analysis of the cultural, theoretical, and aesthetic implications of artistic border crossings, and by contextualizing the movement toward visual-verbal hybridity in the fiction and criticism of Diderot, Baudelaire, and Ruskin, brings new perspectives to nineteenth-century studies in art and literature.
