Garwin,Georges Charpak,2002-12-15 In Megawatts and Megatons world renowned physicists Richard L Garwin and Georges Charpak offer an accessible eminently well informed primer on two of the most important issues of our time nuclear weapons and nuclear power They begin by explaining clearly and concisely how nuclear fission and fusion work in both warheads and reactors and how they can impact human health Making a strong and eloquent argument in favor of arms control Garwin and Charpak outline specific strategies for achieving this goal worldwide But they also demonstrate how nuclear power can provide an assured economically feasible and environmentally responsible source of energy in a way that avoids the hazards of weapons proliferation Numerous figures enliven the text including cartoons by Semp Annual Report South Africa. Lauber,2012-05-16 Renewable energy has enjoyed relatively good and sometimes extraordinary growth in recent years in particular photovoltaics and wind but it will be difficult to sustain such rates of diffusion on a global basis A more complete transition to renewable energy is required on a demanding timescale set by climate change and fossil fuel depletion This book analyses strategies for promoting renewable energy within the context of a rapid energy transition using case studies from different countries over the past 30 years Having described the global context in detail covering oil and gas depletion climate change third world development and the potential for renewable energy the authors evaluate support mechanisms at national and international levels offering readers a clear understanding of the regulatory framework and an opportunity to promote renewable energy effectively This book offers energy policy makers renewable energy professionals energy consultants and students a platform for development and an invaluable research text Contributing authors include Jorg Schindler and Werner Zittel Ludwig Bohlkow Systemtechnik Germany Ian Rowlands University of Waterloo Canada Giulio Volpi WWF Europe Kristian Hvitfelt Nielsen Aarhus University Denmark Staffan Jacobsson Chalmers University of Technology Sweden Peter Connor University of Warwick UK Ole Langniss Centre of Solar Energy and Hydrogen Research in Baden Wurttemberg Germany Ryan Wiser Lawrence Berkeley National Laboratory US David Elliott The Open University UK and Frede Hvelplund Aalborg University Denmark Green Industrial Policy in Emerging Countries Anna

Pegels,2014-03-05 For decades governments have tried to foster industrial competitiveness and economic growth Many instruments are known to work and many lessons have been learned However humanity is increasingly feeling the effects of natural resource depletion The rate of this depletion is deeply unsustainable and it is as of yet inextricably linked to economic growth and development To preserve acceptable living conditions for future generations while at the same time creating these conditions for millions of poor in the first place we must achieve a de linking of economic activity and resource depletion This book identifies the drivers and success factors of green industrial policy which seeks to reconcile the synergies and trade offs which exist between economic and environmental goals Greening the economy is a goal which will require enormous investment As markets are currently failing to provide the required incentives for environmental sustainability governments must intervene and provide policy rents for investments in sustainability while withdrawing rents from polluting investments In this they will face the risk of political capture by interest groups and difficult choices among technologies Rent management is therefore the heart of green industrial policy and the focus of this book On top of this the country examples provided in this volume focus on the emerging powers which will have an important influence the future of our planet However the lessons learned are valuable not only for countries introducing green industrial policies for the first time but also for those under pressure to reform existing policies This book will be of interest to students researchers and policymakers in the areas of energy policy sustainable development industrial economics and ecological economics
