Health Insurance Reforms in Asia Sabrina Luk,2014-03-26 This book empirically examines health care financing reforms and popular responses in three major cities in East Asia Shanghai Singapore and Hong Kong It adopts a new revised version of the theory of historical institutionalism to compare and explain the divergent reform paths in these three places over the past three decades It also examines forces that propel institutional change The book provides three detailed case studies on the development of health care financing reforms and the politics of implementing them It shows that health care systems in Shanghai Singapore and Hong Kong were the products of Western presence in the nineteenth century It illustrates how greater attention is paid to the roles played by ideas actors and environmental triggers without abandoning the core assumptions that political institutions and policy feedback remain central to impact health care financing reforms It shows that health care financing reform is shaped by a complex interplay of forces over time It also provides the most updated material about health care financing reforms in Shanghai Singapore and Hong Kong The central argument of this book is that health care financing reform is both an evolving process responding to changing circumstances and a political process revealing an intricate interplay of power relationships and diverse interests It shows that institutional changes in health care financing system can be incremental but transformative in nature It argues that social policies will continue to develop and welfare states will continue to adapt and evolve in order to cope with new risks and needs This book sheds new lights on understanding the politics of health care financing reform and sources and modes of institutional change Six Countries, Six Reform Models: The Healthcare Reform Experience Of Israel, The Netherlands, New Zealand, Singapore, Switzerland And Taiwan - Healthcare Reforms "Under The Radar Screen" Kieke G Okma,Iva Bolgiani,Tim Tenbensel,Toni Ashton,Hans Maarse,Meng-kin Lim,Luca Crivelli,David Chinitz,Tsung-mei Cheng,Rachel Meislin,2009-12-23 This book presents the healthcare reform experiences of six small to mid sized but dynamic economies spanning the Asia Pacific the Middle East and Europe Usually not given serious consideration in major international comparisons because of their small size each in fact provides a fascinating case study that illuminates the understanding of the dynamics of healthcare reform Although dissimilar in historical and cultural backgrounds they share some important features all faced very similar pressures for change in the 1970s and 1980s all considered a very similar range of policy options and all did not only discuss but actually implemented fundamental changes in their healthcare funding organization contracting and governance structures with strikingly different outcomes All of the authors have lived and worked in one or more of the countries studied in this volume. The analytic frameworks they use reflect their broad range of professional and disciplinary backgrounds in health economics and political science. Beyond mere descriptions of reform processes and superficial analyses based on aggregate data from the usual OECD or WHO sources, they seek to understand and explain the variations in country experiences by examining the politico socio economic factors driving health reform as seen through the respective country lenses. In coming together in this unique international collaboration, they make an important contribution to the growing field of international comparative health policy studies.

America's Children: Institute of Medicine and National Research Council, Committee on Children, Health Insurance, and Access to Care, 1998-10-27. America's Children is a comprehensive, easy-to-read analysis of the relationship between health insurance and access to care. The book addresses three broad questions: How is children's health care currently financed? Does insurance equal access to care? How should the nation address the health needs of this vulnerable population? America's Children explores the changing role of Medicaid under managed care, state-initiated and private sector children's insurance programs, specific effects of insurance status on the care children receive, and the impact of chronic medical conditions and special health care needs. It also examines the status of safety-net health providers, including community health centers, children's hospitals, school-based health centers, and others, and reviews the changing patterns of coverage and tax policy options to increase coverage of private sector employer-based health insurance. In response to growing public concerns about uninsured children, last year Congress voted to provide $24 billion over five years for new state insurance initiatives. This volume will serve as a primer for concerned federal policymakers and regulators, state agency officials, health plan decisionmakers, health care providers, children's health advocates, and researchers.
