Riding The Demon On The Road In West Africa:

Riding the Demon Peter Chilson, 2015-03-15 In Niger where access to rail and air travel requires overcoming many obstacles roads are the nation's lifeline For a year in the early 1990s Peter Chilson traveled this desert country by automobile to experience West African road culture He crisscrossed the same roads again and again with bush taxi driver Issoufou Garba in order to learn one driver's story inside and out He hitchhiked riding in cotton trucks and traveled with other bush taxi drivers truckers road engineers an anthropologist Niger's only licensed woman commercial driver and a customs officer The road in Africa says Chilson is more than a direction or a path to take Once you've booked passage and taken your seat the road becomes the center of your life Hurling along at eighty miles an hour in a bush taxi equipped with bald tires no windows and sometimes no doors travelers realize that they've surrendered everything Chilson uses the road not to reinforce Africa's worn image of decay and corruption but to reveal how people endure political and economic chaos poverty and disease The road has reflected the struggle for survival in Niger since the first automobile arrived there and it remains a useful metaphor for the fight for stability and prosperity across Africa

Riding the Demon Peter Chilson, 1999 On African roads car wrecks are as common as mile markers and the wreckage can stand in monument for months or years a minibus upended against a tree as if attempting escape a charred truck overturned in a ditch Chilson uses the road not to reinforce the worn image of Africa's decay but to reveal how people endure political and economic chaos poverty and disease

Postcolonial Automobility Lindsey B. Green-Simms, 2017-10-24 For more than a century cars have symbolized autonomous unfettered mobility and an increasingly global experience And yet they are often used differently outside the centers of global capitalism This pioneering book considers how through the lens of the automobile we can assess the pleasures dangers and limits of global modernity in West Africa Through new and provocative readings of famous plays novels and films as well as recent popular videos Postcolonial Automobility reveals the surprising ways in which automobility in the region is at once an everyday practice an ethos a fantasy of autonomy and an affective activity intimately tied to modern social life Lindsey B Green Simms begins with the history of motorization in West Africa from the colonial era to the decolonizing decades after World War II and addresses the tragedy of car accidents through a close reading of Wole Soyinka's 1965 postindependence play The Road Shifting to screen media she discusses Ousmane Sembene's Xala and Jean Pierre Bekolo's Quartier Mozart and reviews popular low budget Nollywood films Finally Green Simms considers how feminist texts rewrite and work in dialogue with the male centered films and novels where the car stands in for patriarchal power and capitalist achievement Providing a unique perspective on technology in Africa one refusing to be confined to narratives of either underdevelopment or inevitable progress and covering a broad range of interdisciplinary material Postcolonial Automobility will appeal not only to scholars and students of African literature and cinema but also to those in postcolonial and globalization studies
