volume complements Anna Muthesius two earlier ground breaking volumes in the field of silk as material culture Studies in Byzantine and Islamic Silk Weaving and Studies in Silk in Byzantium The publication highlights the fact that similar patterns of selection were at work in the acquisition of silks by secular and ecclesiastical bodies These patterns of selection were governed not only by fashions of the time but by access to international trade routes leading to the Great Silk Road linking the Near East to the Mediterranean The surviving silks prove that Mediterranean Near Eastern silk trade flourished continuously and for centuries prior to the thirteenth century contrary to what has previously widely been assumed It also highlights the crucial role of the Caucasian silk routes in accessing the Great Silk Road in the early period and the contribution of Georgian and Armenian silk weaving after the thirteenth century Above all the book demonstrates how important it is to assess the impact of Near Eastern silk manufacture and distribution in relation to Byzantine and Islamic Mediterranean silk production and trade Cultural Heritage Care and Management Cecilia Lizama

Gifts of Clothing in Late Antique Literature Nikki Rollason, 2016-07-15 Both clothing and gifts in the ancient world have separately been the subject of much scholarly discussion because they were an integral part of Greek and Roman society and identity creating and reinforcing the relationships which kept a community together as well as delineating status and even symbolising society as a whole They have however rarely been studied together despite the prevalence of clothing gifts in many ancient texts This book addresses a gap in scholarship by focusing on gifts of elite male clothing in late antique literature in order to show that when they appeared in texts these items were not only functioning in an historical or real life sphere but also as a literary space within which authors could discuss ideas of social relationships and authority This book suggests that authors used items which usually formed part of the costume of authority of the period the trabea of the consul the chlamys of the imperial court and the emperor and the pallium of the Christian bishops to over write wearers and donors as confident figures of official authority when this may have been open to doubt

Isabelle Dolezalek wurde für Ihre Arbeit mit dem 2018 ICMA Annual Book Prize des International Center of Medieval Art ausgezeichnet. Auf zahlreichen mittelalterlichen Objekten finden sich arabische Inschriften. Nur wenige davon wurden jedoch für lateinisch-christliche Auftraggeber produziert. Die normannischen und staufischen Königsgelehrten aus Sizilien bildeten eine bemerkenswerte Ausnahme. Welche Assoziationen sollte der Gebrauch arabischer Textilschriften bei den zeitgenössischen Betrachtern im 12. und 13. Jahrhundert hervorrufen? Wie wurden die Inschriften in späteren Zeiten rezipiert? Die transkulturell und interdisziplinär ausgerichtete Studie beleuchtet praktische und politische Entscheidungen, die der Produktion der sizilischen Textilschriften zugrunde liegen und lenkt so das Augenmerk auf ein Ornament, das konventionelle kulturelle Grenzen nicht nur überschreitet, sondern grundlegend in Frage stellt. Karaite Marriage Contracts from the Cairo Geniza Judith Olszowy-Schlanger, 2021-10-11. This book is the first comprehensive study of legal, historical and economic aspects of marriage as practised during the Middle Ages in Egypt and Palestine by members of distinct Jewish movement known as Karaism. This study is based on original mediaeval manuscripts written in Hebrew and recovered from the famous Cairo Geniza. Sixty-five manuscripts, most of them previously unpublished, are edited and translated in the second part of the book. The detailed and accessible analysis of their contents, language formulation and palaeography sheds a new light on Karaite legal and linguistic tradition and provides a unique source for our understanding of early Karaism and of Mediaeval Jewish History in general. Religion in Roman Egypt David Frankfurter, 2020-06-30. This exploration of cultural resilience examines the complex fate of classical Egyptian religion during the centuries from the period when Christianity first made its appearance in Egypt to when it became the region's dominant religion, roughly 100 to 600 C.E. Taking into account the full range of witnesses to continuing native piety, from papyri and saints' lives to archaeology and terracotta figurines, and drawing on anthropological studies of folk religion, David Frankfurter argues that the religion of Pharaonic Egypt did not die out as early as has been supposed, but was instead relegated from political centers to village and home, where it continued a vigorous existence for centuries. In analyzing the fate of the Egyptian oracle and of the priesthoods, the function of magical texts and the dynamics of domestic cults, Frankfurter describes how an ancient culture maintained itself while also being transformed through influences such as Hellenism, Roman government and Christian dominance. Recognizing the special characteristics of Egypt, which differentiated it from the other Mediterranean cultures that were undergoing simultaneous social and political changes, he departs from the traditional decline of paganism/triumph of Christianity model most often used to describe the Roman period. By revealing late Egyptian religion in its Egyptian historical context, he moves us away from scenarios of Christian triumph and shows us how long and how energetically pagan worship survived. Textile Messages Cécilia Fluck, Gisela Helmecke, 2006-05-01. The practice to supply textiles with inscriptions is well known in Egypt from Pharaonic times onwards. Nevertheless, systematic studies on inscribed fabrics have been neglected until the middle of the 1990s, when they almost simultaneously caught the interest of various scholars. This richly illustrated volume is a first compilation of what is known on the subject so far It concentrates on textiles of the first millennium AD a period of changing cultures religions and languages in Egypt mirrored by the Greek Coptic and Arabic inscriptions on the fabrics The emphasis lies on the historical linguistic sociological and artistic aspects of these textiles Numerous fabrics from international collections are introduced Further articles deal with the radiocarbon dating and technical aspects
